

W. J. MULKEY IS HONORED

85th Birthday Anniversary Celebrated by Friends At Monmouth

MONMOUTH, July 1—W. J. Mulkey's 85th birthday anniversary was observed Sunday at the family home. He was born in Pike county, Mo., June 27, 1846, and has been a resident of Monmouth for 75 years.

While attending McMinnville college he joined Company B, Oregon volunteers, and unknown to his parents, entered the great Civil controversy. On his return from war, he was married March 16, 1868 to Miss Portia Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bradley Varum Butler, pioneers of 1843. The young couple settled on a Monmouth farm, where they spent many of their earlier married years. For a short time they lived near Arlington, where Mr. Mulkey was engaged in stock raising.

He was a member of the lower house of Oregon's legislature when the measure was validated that converted the old Christian college at Monmouth into Oregon's first state normal school in 1882.

Mr. Mulkey interspersed farming with merchandising, but for many years has been content to lead an active life. Children living are: C. C. Mulkey and Mrs. E. F. Butler of Monmouth, Mrs. Loretta Lucas and Mrs. Morris Booth of Portland and Mrs. Joe Gill, Washuena, Wash. All but one were able to attend the birthday party Sunday. There are also 10 grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren.

Birth Control Is Approved by Church Seminar

SEATTLE, July 1—(AP)—Birth control was approved today by a seminar on "The Family and Youth" of the national convention of the Congregational and Christian church, with only two dissenting votes from 110 members. A number did not vote.

The seminar, one of the six studying different social and religious questions, will complete their reports and submit them to the convention tomorrow. A vote on their reports will be taken Friday.

The seminar's action was taken in approving the recent report on birth control of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ of America.

"Make Believe"

"I've heard that often enough. Don't go into details. It makes my head ache. What I want to know is this: You know Mary Lou very well. You know Larry, to some extent. Tell me; if I were out of the picture, do you think he'd continue to love her, knowing who she was?" demanded Delight.

"This," thought Larry, a little bewildered, but sure of one thing. "This is a darned fine woman, somehow."

The trustees of the Oregon Institute, when they made their improvements on the Wallace prairie, contemplated laying off the land in 10 acre lots, to be sold to raise funds wherewith they might build up a first class college or university; and when they purchased the mission school at Chemeketa, the same object was kept in view.

"In March 1846, it was arranged by the board, in connection with the partnership, that Dr. W. H. Willson, one of the partners, should, as agent of the concern, take personal charge of the premises for safe-keeping. On the 26th day of May, Mr. Willson, by unanimous vote of the board, was confirmed in the agency, and commenced to transact the business of the Oregon Institute; and he was authorized to sell lots and receive pay for the same, and as a compensation for such services, he was to receive 7 per cent on the sales effected.

CORN TUMBLES TO 50-CENT MARK BERRIES' TONE SLIGHTLY BETTER

Prices Same but More Berries Acceptable On Wednesday

PORTLAND, July 1—(AP)—Trading was dull and featureless on the East Side Farmers' market today.

Berries had a little better tone. Prices were no higher, but buyers were accepting quantities at $1 that they would not have paid more than 90 cents for on Monday. Raspberries were 90c-$1.10 with the bulk of the movement halfway between the extremes.

The supply was relatively small. Many growers sent their berries to the canneries. Loganberries were around $1.10 for best stuff, and from there down depending upon variety.

One truck load of strawberries sold slowly at around $1.75.

WHEAT DAMAGED BY HAIL STORM

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 1—(AP)—Severe damage from hail during Monday's storm was reported today by farmers of the Big Horn and a few miles east of Great Falls.

Winter and spring wheat and flax on a 6,000-acre tract east of the city limits was wiped out. The tract was owned by the Beebe Realty company of Boston and rented to tillers.

ROAD IMPROVED

LYONS, July 1—The county road maintenance man has been working in this vicinity the past several days. He is stationed near the Jordan Valley Grange hall, but works on the county roads between Seio and Mill City. He mowed the grass along the side of the highway through this district.

GUEST AT LYONS

LYONS, July 1—Miss Winifred Martin, of near Cutler City, is spending her vacation with cousins and other relatives at Lyons. Winifred is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Martin, formerly of Lyons. The family moved to the coast about a year ago.

Stop-Loss Selling and Rains Aiding Crop Chief Factors

CHICAGO, July 1—(AP)—Stop loss selling broke out in the corn market late today, and tumbled prices to an even 50 cents a bushel. This was a drop of 5 7/8 cents from yesterday's top, and followed forecasts of showery weather dispelling anxiety over corn crop prospects.

An authoritative unofficial estimate indicated 1931 corn yield of 914,000,000 bushels more than last year's total.

Weakness of grains earlier was associated with a bearish construction which traders placed on announcement by the farm board that government financed old crop wheat holdings would not be withheld from the market, although sales would be limited to 5,000,000 bushels a month.

Corn closed semi-demoralized, 2 1/8-4 3/8 cents lower, wheat 1 1/4-2 1/2 down, oats 2 5/8-3 3/8 off.

WATER TOO SWIFT AT OLINGER POND

Swimmers at the Olinger field public playground find the current in the mill creek so swift this year they cannot carry on their usual aquatic sports.

As a result, City Engineer Rogers was called into conference yesterday to see if he could devise some means of diverting the current in the stream to permit easier swimming.

Rogers recommended that a portion of the bank on the park side be scooped away, to get rid of a turn in the stream which makes an eddy. Whether this improvement can be made depends upon the amount of funds left from the $1500 appropriation by the city council for playground work. Of this budget, $1050 is already pledged for salaries paid employed supervisors of the playgrounds.

Commissioner Given Five Years With No Parole

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1—(AP)—Arthur C. Flak, 33 year old former United States commissioner here, whose rulings have sent many law violators to prison, was himself sentenced to five years in a federal penitentiary Tuesday and fined $2,000 for embroilment of bail bond money.

Flak was sentenced by Federal Judge A. F. St. Sure who told the ex-official he was sorry he could not parole him. The date and the prison in which he will serve are to be determined later.

The commissioner was ousted last April after he had been charged with embroiling more than $6,000 in bail bond funds.

IN VANDERBILT-ARNO DUEL

PETER ARNO, MISS VANDERBILT, CORNELIUS VANDERBILT, JR.

VANDERBILT HOME OF RENO

Easy as it is with knot-unties, gambling and love-making, Reno still has time to enjoy a joke. When Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., recently chased Peter Arno, celebrated cartoonist of New York, with an unloaded pistol to show his resentment of the latter's attentions to Mrs. Vanderbilt, Reno laughed long and loud. But the principals can't see anything humorous in the affair, which has resulted in the institution of divorce proceedings in the Class Vanderbilts, and a threat of an alienation of affections suit against Arno by Cornelius.

If you Vanderbilt makes good his threat, Arno may find the divorce he is seeking from his own wife held up indefinitely. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., married his present wife in 1928 at Reno eight minutes after she had been granted a divorce from her former husband, Waldo Logan, Chicago broker.

noon 112 relatives sat down at the long, well laden table. A baseball game followed the dinner hour. Visiting was enjoyed as some of them had not met since the last reunion. Members of the family were present from Washington, Portland, Hood River, Salem and Silverton. Officers were reelected with Victor Brunner, president, Mrs. Martha Sampson, secretary.

BIRTHDAY PICNIC HAPPY OCCASION

G. W. Thurman Home at Forest Grove Scene of Meeting

WACONDA, July 1—In spite of intermittent showers which dampened the earth but not the spirits of the group a most enjoyable picnic was held Sunday at the G. W. Thurman home near Forest Grove.

The affair which had been most pleasantly looked forward to for weeks was planned by long-standing friends and former neighbors of the Thurman's, most of whom are residents of this community.

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Thurman was the inspiration for the picnic attended by 45 persons. Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Nelson and daughter, Beverly, were also hosts for the day. Because of conflicting plans several families from this vicinity were unable to attend. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Russell of Mission Bottom who were called to Portland sent their regrets.

Mrs. Thurman was the recipient of numerous gifts. Artistically arranged flowers and greenery added attractiveness to the spacious living rooms of the Thurman home. Two lovely birthday cakes centered the long table placed on the porch and a bountiful basket dinner was served at noon.

Besides those from this community enjoying the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Henry V. Remington and Melvin Remington and daughter, Beverly, also Irene and Earl Post all of McMinnville and Mr. and Mrs. Vern B. Walker and sons Gilbert and Delbert of Portland.

Following a pleasant afternoon of conversation, mostly in reminiscences the line of cars began their trek via caravan back to their respective homes.

BLACKBERRIES PLENTIFUL

LYONS, July 1—Mrs. Floyd Berry and Mrs. Marvyn Berry were among Lyons people going to the mountains for wild blackberries Monday. They reported a very good crop of berries this season, but they are not ripe enough to justify driving so far to pick them. Another week or ten days will be much better picking.
