

SPAULDING ASSISTS IN RESCUING YOUTH

Son of Local man Swims to Relief of Evans but His Hold Broken

Clifford Spaulding of Newberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Spaulding of Salem, risked his life to help save a young man in danger of drowning in the surf at Winema beach near Neeskowin. Darrell Evans and Ruth Stauley of Vancouver, were swimming in the breakers and got beyond their depth. The girl's brother went out and brought her in, but Evans was unable to make it through the back wash of receding breakers.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mills of Salem who are summering at Neeskowin and Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding were walking along the beach when they came upon the group watching the young man in the water. As none seemed able to do anything Clifford Spaulding, who was in his bathing suit and is a skilled swimmer, took hold of a rope, went out and caught Evans by the hand.

The people on the shore pulled so vigorously they broke the wristhold of Spaulding on Evans, but not knowing it pulled Spaulding on in through the water. The waves then caught Evans and washed him far out. He managed to keep afloat however, and the next wave washed him close in. By that time a group of men formed a chain and a man at the end caught hold of Evans and they drew him in. He collapsed when he reached the sand. Roy Mills, who came in Sunday night, said the rescue was managed by the group at Winema and that help summoned from Neeskowin did not arrive until after the man was saved. The affair lasted only about ten minutes but was quite exciting in that interval.

UNION SERVICES IN PARK ARE PLANNED

Rev. Birtchet to be First Speaker Next Sunday At 3:30 P. M.

Union services of the Protestant churches of Salem in Willson park each Sunday afternoon from 3:30 to 4:30 o'clock during the months of July and August were announced yesterday. The first service will be next Sunday and Rev. Grover C. Birtchet, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, will deliver the sermon. An orchestra from the Presbyterian church will furnish music and there will be special vocal numbers. The Salem Y. M. C. A. is cooperating with the churches in arranging the services.

Under the plan adopted this year, each denomination will be responsible for one of the services. Heretofore the various denominations have been represented on each program but grouping of the program by denominations has been decided upon as a means of simplifying arrangements.

Union services are not to take the place of the regular Sunday night church services, it was stated yesterday, except where churches wish to dispense with their customary evening services. Union Sunday afternoon services have been held here regularly since 1921 with the exception of last summer.

MONMOUTH, July 6.—Wilmer McEldowney, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. McEldowney of the Elkins section suffered a fractured left arm Saturday evening when his car went over a bank near the Sam Ray farm. Spectators who observed the accident said young McEldowney, on reaching the small bridge at this place, was unable to pass another car driven by a Mr. Winklebist of Lewisville because the latter occupied the middle of the road. McEldowney jumped as his car crashed down over a steep bank. His car was demolished. McEldowney was brought to Salem where his arm was cared for.
