One football coach who rare-ly spreads the old-fashioned gloom is Paul J. Schissler of Oregon State. Now comes word from Corvallis that the outlook for the coming season is "the best in years.'

Schiss could find plenty of onions to induce a good cry if he were so disposed. He lost McKalip, McGilvray and Lovejoy, ends; Sayes Young, Pete Miller and Frank Brost, tackles; Cecil Sherwood, "Rowdy" Kerr, Honolulu The Cardinals won the third Hughes and Tom Drynan, halfstraight from the Cincinnati Reds backs; Ralph Buerke, first string quarter: George Peterson, full-RHE back; Chief Thompson, guard and Cincinnati .... 600 000 100-1 7 0 kicker and Jimmy Newgard, cen-

> But the old boy seems to think he has replacements, which isn't hard to visualize if you saw that army of husky and speedy reserves he used to trot out last season.

Quarterback possibilities sound good; Tommy Ward, Johnny Biancone and Art Ramponi, all of whom have had their names in the papers heretofore. Reg Rust was a good left half but it's thought that Joslin from the rooks may beat him out. Bill Head is also on hand. Left half is Schissler's ball carrying position.

The mountain tragedy that took Bob Zinn's life weakened the list of right or blocking half prospects, but there is Hal Moe, regular from last year; Bill Leggett, a good kicker, and Clarence Disney, who may be shifted from guard.

The 200-pound Frank Little will probably be one of the best fullbacks on the coast this year. Defeats Dundee Snowy Gustafson, shifted from end, and Ted Hermann are capable alternates.

> Left end prospects are Floyd Root and Kelth Davis, letterand Herman, Leaf, a transfer from Los Angeles junfor college. Art Miller and Harry Kent lead the list of left tackles with Hilton, reserve last year, and Porfily from the freshmen crowding them. Bill Byington and Wayne Harn are right tackle lettermen with Schwammel looming up from the rooks.

And at guard—well, who saw the Staters play last year without getting an eyeful of Gil Bergerson, 220-pound six-foot-six giant with a lot of speed? Add Jack Cox, regular; Loren Tuttle and Ed Englestad, lettermen; Hugh Stanfield and Barner Carlson, reserves; Volz and Kenna, rooks. Buck Hammer will be back for his last year at center and will be eyed for all-Coast honors. He was mentioned for both conference and all-American last fall.

No lettermen appear for right end but Everett Davis, a transfer, the well known Fred Mac-Donald and Vic Curtin from the rooks are available.

Kicking and passing departments are weakened by loss of Hughes, Thompson and Buerke. Davis, Rust, Leggett, Ramponi, Ward and Biancone are all punting prospects but a passer will have to be developed from the raw material.

PRAGUE Czecho-Slovakia, July 0. - (AP) - England won the right to meet the United States team in the interzone finals of Davis cup play by defeating Czecho-Slovakia in the doubles match today after winning both singles yesterday.

England's surprising youngsters, George Hughes and Fred Perry, teamed to defeat the Czech doubles combination of Roderick Menzel and F. Marsalek, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2. "Bunny" Austin and Perry won their singles matches yesterday. Two singles will be played tomorrow but loss of both would only cut the British margin of victory to 3-2. The United States team, with MISSISSAUGA COUNTRY CLUB, Toronto, Ont., July 10 .-(AP) - The old master, Walter Hagen, toured around Mississau-ga's layout in 68 strokes in the second round of the Canadian open golf championship today to blast his way into the lead by a single stroke.

Of the two leaders, Farrell was possibly the more consistent. Hagen on the other hand, was in frequent trouble but saved himself by some magnificent recoveries and his fine work on the
