A. C. Muck was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of criminal assault after a hearing in justice court which extended over two days.

The charge grew out of an alleged attack on Mrs. Edna Needham which is said to have oc-curred in a local restaurant. Muck denied the charge and produced several witnesses to confirm his story that he did not go up the stairs to the women's rest room where the attack is said to have occurred.

In binding Muck over to the grand jury Justice of the Peace Miller B. Hayden said that there were circumstances in the case which might easily have resulted in mistaken identity but that was a matter for the grand jury to Muck was released on bond of Such an active demand was nade last week for preschool clinic services at the Salem health center, that an extra period has been added to the coming week's schedule. There will be daily clinics except Monday, with the doctors and nurses giving three preschool and one chest examinations and the regular Saturday morning toxoid and vaccination treatments.

Attending yesterday's immunization clinic were 38 children. mostly of preschool age, the largest number for many weeks.

Parents desiring to have their children examined at the health center, 434 North High street, must come by appointment only, it was emphasized by Dr. Vernon A. Douglas, county health officer, 525.00 yesterday. The department's calendar is already filled until August 20. This week's clinic schedule is as follows:

Tuesday afternoon, chest clinic, health center, Dr. Douglas.

Wednesday afternoon, preschool, health center, Dr. Dauer Thursday morning, preschool, ealth center, Dr. Backstrand. Friday afternoon, preschool, health center, Dr. Dauer. Saturday morning, 8:30 to 10 o'clock, toxoid and vaccination, health center, Dr. Dauer.
