McQuillan out-pitched Ray Keating, former Beaver now with the Indians, but allowed four hits in the second when Knothe doubled and Muller, Gaston and Ellsworth singled.

Portland scored two in the first and another in the third on four singles when a fast double play pulled Keating out of a bad hole.

MAC SMITH TAKES LONG ISLAND OPEN

DAYSTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 6.—(AP)—With a score that equalled the best 72-hole performance with the new ball, Macdonald Smith, famous Scottish-born pro from Great Neck, N. Y., captured his third successive Long Island open golf championship over the Southward Ho course today. Smith posted a 69 and a 72 for the final 36 holes for a 72 hole aggregate of 278, a score that duplicated the one he made in winning the Metropolitan open at Scarsdale 17 years ago, and that tied Horton Smith's recent achievement with the balloon ball in the St. Paul open.

"Iron Men" of Today

By HARDIN BURNLEY

CURRENT sport boasts several extraordinarily durable performers whose feats are worthy of history's most exacting endurance tests. Take Paulino, the pugilist, for example. The sturdy, golden-mouthed Senor Uzcudun, who began to toughen himself as a wood-chopper in his native Basque country, has fought practically all the world's leading heavyweights and has never been knocked out, or down for that matter. Max Schmeling and Primo Carnera gave the Basque dreadful beatings but both had to be contented with decision victories.

Last Fourth of July, Paulino, now in his 33rd year, went twenty rounds with the young, rugged and rough Max Baer, winning the nod from no less a famed referee than Jack Dempsey. "Everything went" in that Reno mill. The Basque's second complaint that Baer was butting. "But him back," suggested Dempsey and Paulino did, all but obliterating Maxie's once handsome beak before the final bell sounded. Fisticuffs never had a tougher or gamier opponent than this leather-absorbing Basque.

It's a long leap from the roughing to the more sedate and gentlemanly golf, but championship play in the latter game involves a physical and mental strain fully as stern as boxing's. George Von Elm is the outstanding specimen of the "iron man" golfer. He recently forced Billy Burke to 144 holes (twice the full official round) before losing the U. S. Open championship by a lone stroke. Last

Smith's play to that of any one else in the championship that he won by a margin of six strokes over Willy Cox of Brooklyn, and by nine from Willie Klein, Wheatley Hills pro, Long Island open champion in 1922 and 1923, first two years of the competition.

HOT GAME EXPECTED IN TWILIGHT MATCH

SILVERTON, Aug. 6.—McDonald's Wildcatters and George's Shineraters will meet Friday night on the Eureka avenue diamond in the third game of the Twilight league series here. In the first game the Wildcatters and Lumberjacks battled to an 8-8 tie. Wednesday night the Lumberjacks took the Shineraters into camp, 4 to 1. Interest in the league is expected to increase with the addition soon of another team from the Silver Falls mill here, making four in the organization altogether.

It looked like a pitchers' battle for awhile Wednesday night. The Lumberjacks scored first in their half of the second in the five-inning contest. A walk, with two out, started the trouble. Don Burch, millman pitcher, was passed to first and scores were tallied on errors. They tallied on Rosheim's fielders' choice and Anderson's timely bingle. Claus, Lumberjack receiver, scored in the third when he got on through an error. Schwab bobbled Johnson's grounder. Red batted the ball but overthrew third in an attempt to catch Claus.

St. Brideaux Is Saratoga Track Opening Winner

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The honor of winning the first stakes of the 27-day track meeting here today went to Mrs. Payne Whitney's St. Brideaux and James E. Gaffney's Irene's Bob.

St. Brideaux, a stablemate of Twenty Grand and an offspring of the same sire, St. German's, showed the way to seven high-class older horses to win the Saratoga handicap and $7700. Irene's Bob accounted for the 57th running of the Flash and its accompanying purse of $3050.

Fifteen thousand race fans were out to witness the opening card.

CURT COMMENTS

"Perrinny will pitch for Salem," the loud speaker announced before the game at Corvallis yesterday, much to the merriment of Marion county fans. It also mispronounced Keber's name.

Later on when it was announced that Secretary of War Huley would be in town for an hour, the announcer said: "All legionnaires are expected to be at the airport while the secretary of war is in town."

Two years ago when Portland and Silvertown teams played the junior finals here, the attendance was nothing to brag on. Yesterday there must have been 5000 in the stands at Corvallis, indicating how the junior ball program has taken the public fancy.

Not so hot as baseball but thrills—oh boy! Hits, runs and errors galore, and it was a battle up to the sixth and nobody's sure thing, for that matter, until the last man was out.

Jimmy Nicholson played a great game out there in the great open spaces of center field. Some of the game boomed him for not tearing in for a couple of low drives, but they guessed again when they saw what happened when the other boys took chances. Every time it meant extra bases. And they got none in Jimmy's territory.

The biggest thrill, if you like that kind, was when two Portland outfielders collided and knocked each other out. One of them caught the ball and hurled it in the general direction of the infield after failing, but everybody got excited and two wild throws were made while those two lay there in agony and two Marion Juniors came home. We don't know what actually happened, as we were trying to watch the runners, the fielders and those two luckless kids all at the same time.

That was the turning point of the game. When play was resumed Jack Todd, Portland hurler, seemed rather upset and fed a bump and the Peek a couple of grove balls with nothing but the horseshoe on them. Ramp smacked one for a single and Peek socked the other in the general direction of the new center fielder who had just taken the place of the one injured. This led to a misplayed ball and it went for four bases. We called it a home run, strictly in accordance with the scoring rules which say a slip-up in judgment cannot be called an error. In that decision we differed from the rest of the press who agreed with our contemporary of the Capital Journal.

The highly touted Mr. Todd didn't come up to expectations. He had a night fast ball but much of the time there wasn't a waver in it. On the other hand Perrine's slants twisted all over the place, but his control was not up to standard; he'd get in the hole and then have to groove one, and that's the explanation for a lot of East Side's hits. At that, he beat Todd for control.

Marion Juniors got some breaks, no question about it, but they outdid East Side a little and fielded much better. Crowd bright probably both sides both teams at first but the Marion boys got over it in a hurry. Take it all together, they deserved to win.

The boys from here fell a little behind Portland on earned runs, but on the other hand were cheated by fate in the last inning. They got three hits but failed to score; Vern Peek singled but was caught trying to stretch it. Perrine singled but was out when he was hit by Keber's drive between first and second which also was good for a single.

There'll be another battle today, with Susee and Long the opposing mound men. Long is a southpaw but that is something that so far hasn't bothered the Marion boys greatly.

ROCHESTER, Minn., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Heartily "Hunk" Anderson, Notre Dame football coach, was discharged today from the Mayo clinic. He planned to return to South Bend Friday. Anderson has put on 10 pounds in weight which he lost after being operated on for appendicitis and treated for meningitis.

TITLE GAME IS SLATED SUNDAY

Vancouver Merchants Meet Senators Here, With Much at Stake

Away back in the early days of this year's Portland Valley league race, the Vancouver Merchants showed the Salem Senators deep into the cellar by virtue of a narrow victory at Vancouver.

That was the second game of the season and the teams haven't met since, but they are now neck-and-neck leaders for the second half title and will meet Sunday afternoon on Olinger field to settle that dispute.

Vancouver has been the "dark horse" of the second half but its steady pace has undecieved those who thought it was a bubble that would soon burst.

Smith and Young have been doing the dependable chucking for the Merchants, with Smith usually starting. He held Hillsboro to six hits recently. Young usually starts in the outfield along with Belt and Hess.

Beall wears the mask and mitt, with Thompson, Downy, Bridges and Pfeiffer strung around the infield in that order.

Home's Turmoil Plaintiff Avers

The home of O. A. Knapp, Salem, has been "converted into a seething turmoil of domestic discontent." Such is his counsel's allegation in a suit for divorce filed yesterday by Knapp in circuit court here.

Knapp married August 24, 1927, in Albany to Grace Knapp. She has developed a "vile and vulgar temper," the complaint states. There are no children and there are no property rights to be adjusted.

COAST GOLFER LEADING FIELD

Ferrara, Steel Worker of San Francisco, has Best Match Score

By PAUL MICKELSON KELLER CLUB, St. Paul, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Golf as played over the public tee courses of the Pacific coast triumphed on the battle ground of the national public links championship today as the tournament medalist fell and eight shotmakers from as many different climes passed into the quarter finals.

Leading the brigade of sharp shooters from the far west was Charles Ferrara, a steel worker from San Francisco, who eliminated the medalist Dave Mitchell of Indianapolis, 4 and 3 with almost and then came back in the round and the came back in the afternoon to defeat Bob Gourlay of Seattle, 1 up in a stirring battle that ended when a birdie clattered off his war clubs on the final green.

Ferrara was joined by Hoo Nichols, 15-year-old high school sophomore from Long Beach, Cal., who had the easiest sailing of the day's struggles, and Ed Greenway of Seattle. The other five quarter-finalists represented St. Paul, New York, Philadelphia, Detroit and Little Rock, Ark.

The fall of Mitchell, who captured the medal with 148, removed the last favorite from the field as the defending champion, Bob Wingate of Jacksonville and the three-time tee courses of the Kaufman of Pittsburgh, failed to qualify. As a result the big fight for the championship, which ends Saturday night, was a greater free-for-all than ever.

Nichols, qualified with a 153 score, swept aside his opponents with ease today. He defeated Ed Isherwood of St. Louis, 4 and 2, on the first round and conquering Wesley Casper of Louisville in the afternoon by the same margin.

Greenway, rated from the start as a contender because of his form in practice and qualifying rounds, had a stirring fight in the morning before he disposed of Bill Heinlein, Indianapolis, one up, but breezed to a 3 to 1 triumph on his second round over Harry Ramsay of Pittsburgh.

The other quarter-finalists were Joe Merola, a house painter from New York, who defeated Johnny Banks, Chicago 2 up, and Spenter Overton, Baltimore, 3 and 2; Charles Albertus of Philadelphia, who dropped George Meade, Portland, Ore., 1 up, and Joe Farbrico, Brooklyn, laborer, 2 and 1 after an uphill fight in which he came from behind to win by taking three holes in succession; Joe Bommarito, a Detroit plumber, who eliminated Art Nutting, Louisville, 3 and 2, and Edgar Boley, Hope of Minneapolis, 2 and 1; and Horace Lacey, Little Rock, who tripped Ralph Sigler, after a nineteen hole struggle; and Al Pribe of St. Paul, who put out James Bushing of Portland one up and George Bradley of Philadelphia 3 and 1.

Allison and Van Ryn are Out of Race

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Three of the four seeded players in the Meadow club's annual invitational tournament survived the day's play here today, as the number 2 seeded combination and former international championship team of Whimser Allison, Austin, Texas, and John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, was eliminated in the quarter final round.

The unseeded pair of J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., and E. W. Pebleman, of New York, pushed through to the semi-finals by beating the Allison-Van Ryn combination in a stirring match by scores of 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

The national championship combination of John Hope Does, Newark, N. J., and George M. Lott, Jr., Philadelphia, put in a busy day winning two matches. In the morning they scored over Bruce Barnes, Austin, Texas, and Ted Burwell, Charlotte, N. C., 6-1, 6-8, 6-1, and then went on to beat Jack Tidball and Lester Stoefer, the Los Angeles pair, by scores of 5-7, 7-5, 6-4, in the quarter finals.

The other teams successful in gaining the semi
