

Schools and Colleges Prepare for Opening of Fall Term

22 MEN MAKE UP LAW GROUP

Northwestern College of Law To Start its 17th Year In Portland Soon

The seventeenth year for the Northwestern College of Law, Portland, Oregon will open next fall with work being offered in the first, second and third years. The college offers a four-year course leading to a bachelor of laws degree, classes being held three nights a week for three hours on each night.

There were 23 members of the 1931 graduating class which completed its work June 4, when commencement exercises were held at the studio theatre.

The Northwestern College of Law was organized in 1915 after the law department of the University of Oregon had been transferred to Eugene. The late Judge Calvin U. Gustafson directed the school up to the time of his death and was succeeded by Judge J. Hunt Hendrickson as dean. Charles R. Spackman, Jr., is registrar.

The faculty includes 22 Portland attorneys and judges, all actively engaged. Honorable James Alger Fee, Judge of the District Court for the United States, District of Oregon, under a recess appointment by President Hoover will teach the course in Federal Procedure.

This college is the outgrowth of the second college of law to be established west of the Rocky mountains. Dr. Richard Thornton established the first school here in 1854.

HILL ACADEMY HAS NEW PLANT

Hill Military Academy of Portland is now located in a new plant on Rocky Butte at the east edge of the city. On a tract of 220 acres, 13 buildings of masonry have been built, modern in design and harmonious in architecture. The site commands a wide view of the city and of the river valleys.

The new school is the realization of a dream of years, according to Pres. Joseph Hill. He and his brother, Benn, Hill, headmaster, pledged their father, who founded the school 20 years ago, to use their best efforts to perpetuate his ideals.

The fall term will begin in September. Boys are given military and academic training.

SINGLE SCHOOL TRAINS DENTISTS

The only school of dentistry in the state and one of the two schools of pharmacy are carried on as the North Pacific College of Dentistry and Pharmacy. This institution has trained hundreds of dentists who are now active in their profession throughout the Pacific coast. Many pharmacists have also had their training in this school.

The fall term begins on September 28. The school is located at E. Sixth and Oregon streets, Portland.

WILLAMETTE IS OLD COLLEGE

Prospects for Greatly Increased Enrollment of New Students

On September 16 Willamette university, the oldest degree-granting institution west of the Rockies, will welcome an unusually fine group of entering students. The 270 applications on hand at this time from candidates for entrance represents an increase of 38 per cent in excess of the number of applications the corresponding date a year ago. Of this increase 18 per cent more than last year have been accepted. The difference between the two percentages represents those applicants who have not been accepted because of not having met the scholarship standards to which Willamette holds.

BRUSH COLLEGE BACK FROM JUNKET

BRUSH COLLEGE, August 8.—Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Blodgett of Brush College returned Thursday from a four days' vacation at Taylor's camp, located 30 miles from Salem on the north fork of the Santiam river near Mehama.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Ewing and son Ralph and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ewing and daughter Margaret, made a trip to the Y.M.C.A. camp at Ocean side Thursday and returned Friday. Donald and Alvin Ewing, sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Ewing, Robert Ewing, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Ewing, and Corydon Blodgett, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Blodgett, who attended second camp at Ocean side, returned home with them.

Brush College folks were elated when they learned that Robert Ewing, Donald and Alvin Ewing and Corydon Blodgett, four Brush College lads who attended the second Y.M.C.A. camp at Ocean side, had been awarded first honors for best individual camp work. This is Corydon Blodgett's first year at the camp. The other three have attended before.

ACADEMY ONE OF PIONEER SCHOOLS

Sacred Heart Academy, one of Salem's old educational institutions is operated by the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary at 370 N. Cottage street. A spacious building of brick surrounded by plenty of playgrounds make the school well equipped for its work.

The course covers work in the elementary grades and high school. This year a commercial department has been added for the high school grades. Regular academic courses are given and there are special departments in music including piano, voice, harp and violin.

ACADEMY WILL START SEPT. 8

Portland's pioneer academy for girls, St. Mary's Academy, a boarding and day school, will begin its fall term on September 8. This school offers instruction in high school and grammar grades. It is under the auspices of the Catholic church but is open to all girls of proper ages. Music and art departments are carried on in the school.

38-Acre Hop Farm Bought By Montoga

WACONDA, August.—The former Harry Hing hop ranch near Waconda, has been purchased by Frank Montoga of Pratum from Guy H. Smith of Kaiser. The place contains 38 acres, all in hops.

The hops were contracted with T. A. Livesey of Salem. Smith will have entire charge during harvest. However, Montoga has taken possession and considerable has been accomplished by way of improvement near the house and barn. Preparations are being made to build a house for his family.

Allyn Nason, who had the yard rented from Guy Smith, had charge of the work there this season and there are fine prospects of an abundant crop to be harvested. Hop picking is expected to start about September 1.

PRIVATE COLLEGES ARE MAKING GAINS

Run Along Smoothly With Lack of Political Interference

With all the discord and contention reported in connection with the state schools, the private colleges and academies of the state are operating right along and are planning to care for increased enrollments.

These institutions do not depend on tax money for support and so are independent of political influences. They care for education of elementary, secondary, collegiate and specialized courses, and have high standing for schools of their class.

Students now are face to face with the final problem of selecting the institution which they will attend. Some will attend schools and colleges near their homes; others will go farther away. Oregon, long known as a home of schools, has many institutions which are fully equipped to train young people for the tasks of life.

Among the private colleges of the state are: Willamette University, Salem, Methodist Episcopal, Albany College, Albany, Presbyterian, McMinnville, Linfield College, McMinnville, Baptist, Maryhurst College, (girls), Oswego, Catholic, Mount Angel College, Mount Angel, Catholic, Pacific University, Forest Grove, Congregational, Pacific College, Newberg Friends, Reed College, Portland, School of academy grade are: Catlin School for Girls, Portland, Sacred Heart Academy, Salem, Catholic, St. Mary's Academy (girls).
