SHORT NAME

The smiling resident of Chicago pictured here is not scantily equipped when it comes to most things offered by this world, but with his name—well, that's something else again. He claims, and with good grounds, that he has the shortest name in the United States. The lists are now open. Can you beat Mr. A. A. That's his name, no kidding!

BABY-KILLING IN GANG BATTLE ENRAGES GOTHAM

The indignation of the entire nation has been aroused by the atrocious shooting of five children in New York's "Little Italy," when gangsters made an impromptu battlefield of 107th St., where hundreds of children were at play. The shooting was done from an automobile with automatic pistols and shotguns, and the actual object of the attack was an innocent child, Michael Vengalli, who bore the brunt of the bullet in his intestines; his brother Salvatore, rolling in agony with five wounds in his back; Michael Bevilacqua, three, shot twice in the back while in his baby carriage; Samuel Devino, five, gunshot in leg, and of the children are in a very serious condition. The ruthless crime has aroused the public to the necessity of a merciless war on the crime incubus that has woven its tentacles into the pattern of our national life. Governor Roosevelt of New York is taking a personal interest in the prosecution of the hunt for the miscreants responsible for the outrage, as is also President Hoover.

work at Pratum previous to coming to Bethel, and Hilda Bahnsen, who has been taking the work with Mrs. Weddle this vacation. The girls spent the evening playing games in the orchard, and at the close roasted wieners around the bonfire. Those present were Mary Hamrick, Luanda Froehlich, Inabelle Creech, Evelyn Boles, Lois Hamrick, Hilda Bahnsen, Zina Davis, Gertrude Froehlich and the teacher, Mrs. Corralie Weddle, Mrs. Harry Boles and Norma June Boles.

Eagle Eye of Watchman Averts Blaze

TURNER, Aug. 10.—A trio of half grown boys who dropped from a S. P. train one evening recently, undertook to camp in an old shed across the street from the Hogue garage, and were noticed to be carelessly smoking while sitting and reclining on bales of hay. The town watchman was notified, and by the time he reached their "camp" a bucket of water was needed to put out a carelessly started fire. They were invited to find a less dangerous camping place.

New Turner Mill Takes Grains Now

TURNER, Aug. 10.—Grain is being received at Turner's new feed and flour mill. The water was turned into the ditch last week and soon the machinery will be set in motion. R. Lee Thissen is the local manager. Also, Turner's new sawmill is well on the way, the big boiler having just been installed, according to W. A. Martin, proprietor, and the work will be rushed so that in a few weeks logs will be going in and lumber coming out.

MEN STILL FIGHTING FIRE NEAR VALSETZ

VALSETZ, August 10.—Chief Fire Warden Hugh Walker still has some 25 or 30 men fighting the Willamette Logging company fire. Nineteen men were sent from the mill in Dallas and a camp was made in old camp seven near the fire. This group of men was sent back to Dallas Thursday evening after three days' battle with fire, falling snags, and smoke. A new crew was sent also from Dallas Friday morning to continue the fight. Hugh Walker, chief fire warden, reported the fire well under control.

LADIES' AID PLANS ICE CREAM SOCIAL

West Salem Woman Called To Minnesota by Illness Of her Mother

WEST SALEM, August 10.—The Ladies' Aid society of Ford Memorial church will hold an ice cream social on the church lawn Thursday afternoon and evening as a means of partially defraying expenses of the new parsonage roof and other incidentals. An impromptu program will be given. Bernard and Virginia Kohler are spending a week at Mt. Angel as guests of their aunt, Miss Helen Franklin. Mrs. J. I. Miller who has been very seriously ill the past week is slowly improving. Miss Elsie Wilson is leaving today for her home in Portland after a week's visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. L. Miller. Mrs. Frank Einfield, having received news of the serious illness of her mother in Minnesota, has left for that state accompanied by her daughters, Eldoris and Etta May. They expect to be absent three months. A group of West Salem folk drove Sunday evening to West Stayton where they enjoyed an ice cream treat at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phillips. The guests, all of whom are relatives of the hosts, were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wurm and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Lathrop and two children, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Gorgo Miller and Lucille Ewing from Portland, the former a sister of Mrs. Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Brown and babies, Phyllis and Phoebe of Vancouver, Wash. Mrs. Edwin Brown is also a sister of Mrs. Waldo Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brown came from Corvallis where Mr. Brown has been attending summer school at Oregon State college, and Phyllis has been attending nursery school. They stayed over for the American Legion convention. While in Corvallis they visited Mrs. Emily Brown, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Stockton and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Vickerson, mother and sisters of Mr. Brown.

FIRE WIPES OUT WAGNER HOUSE

Newlyweds, Occupants, Lose all Effects; Suspect Incendiary

SALEM HEIGHTS, Aug. 10.—Sunday shortly after noon fire destroyed the Dan Wagner home, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hunt. The Hunts were out for the afternoon. The day being hot, neither wore wraps, and before they arrived home the place was in flames and all their clothing destroyed as well as many gifts received by the young couple since their recent marriage here. Early in the evening the Salem fire department was called a second time to save the home of John Kosberg, his barn and a children's play house having caught fire from a burning ember blown by the wind from the ruins of the Wagner home next door. Kosberg lost his home by fire about three years ago, and but for prompt action of nearby neighbors would have suffered a like loss Sunday. The circumstances surrounding the burning of the Wagner home have led the people of this district to attribute it to incendiaryism.

Mehama Guests Enroute South

MEHAMA, Aug. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Phillips, left here Saturday morning for Wendling after spending the week visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Phillips. Mrs. Harry Anderson and three children of Lebanon spent the week with the John Moe family.
