

Marion Juniors Wind Up Season by Beating Sunnyside 9-4

FIELD HELPLESS THREE INNINGS

Then Visiting Star Hurler Johnson Weakens and Big Rally is on

Winding up their highly successful season in characteristic fashion, the Marion County Juniors won the big northwest "runners-up" contest from the Sunnyside, Wash., Juniors here Wednesday afternoon 9-4.

Things didn't look a bit promising for the Marion Juniors up to the fourth inning, for Johnson, slender-armed Sunnyside hurler, poured his sharp breaking curves over the plate to retire the first nine batters in succession. Two each inning went down on strikes and spectacular fielding by Johnson's mates in the infield accounted for the others.

This was an especially disheartening situation for the reason that in the first inning the visitors got to Harvey Zimmerman for three hits which counted for three runs with the aid of some bad bounces and mistakes of judgment.

But in Marion's half of the fourth the law of compensation began to get in its work. Johnson evidently had been bearing down too hard, and when he weakened things happened with a vengeance.

Jimmy Nicholson started it off with a ringing single over second base; he stole second and Keber was safe on a terrible throw from shortstop while Nicholson scored.

Ramp popped out for the second out, but that was Johnson's expiring struggle. He walked Vic Peek, Mason doubled, scoring Keber and Vic Perrine was hit.

Vern Peek singled and Zimmerman was hit. Johnson retired to center field and Kohls came in "cold" from short to take his place. He wild pitched to let in one run while walking Nicholson, then wild pitched to DeJardin to let in another but finally got DeJardin out.

It was a more or less thrilling session while it lasted but it spoiled the remainder of the game for the fans as it was apparent that Sunnyside had based its hopes largely on Johnson's mound artistry.

Zimmerman got better as he went along, and only one more run was scored off him and that on a double steal coupled with two hits in the sixth. He struck out ten men in all and issued no free passes; and he was backed up by errorless fielding and some snappy fielding including a double play in the seventh.

The Marion Juniors scored one more on Keber's triple and Vic Peek's scratch single in the fifth and two on Vern Peek's single. Zimmerman's triple and an error throw in the sixth. They chalked up three hits including a double by Keber in the eighth but a double play intervened to prevent a score.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 26—(AP)—Heavy artillery work by Johnny Monroe, George Westling and big Ed Coleman gave Portland an 11 to 8 victory over San Francisco here tonight. Coleman put two home runs over the right field fence to account for four of the scores. The first came in the third with nobody on. But next inning Monroe and Westling scored ahead.

Monroe hit five in five times up and Westling four in four chances.

The Seals knocked Joe Bowman, Beaver starting pitcher, out of the box in the first inning. Ossie Orwell held them the rest of the way.

SENATORS FACE ALL-STAR NINE

Portland Luminaries to be Here Sunday for Game With Local Team

The Salem Senators have picked out some tough opposition for a game here Sunday afternoon at Olinger field; the Portland All-Stars who defeated the American-Canadian Clowns and the Colored Giants this season.

The All-Stars' lineup will include Ault, pitcher who has been with Oakland and Seattle in the Coast league and is regarded as the best semi-pro hurler in Portland, with Smith as the alternate pitcher. Gabriel, the catcher, is also one of the top pitchers of independent ball in the northwest.

Melcher, the second baseman, is the leading hitter in the Inter-city league and Stump, who plays left field for this outfit, is the best slugger in the City league. Garlick, who follows Stump in the City league ranking, will be in center field.

Other players who will be here Sunday are Geenan, first base; Sherritt, shortstop; Calkins, third base and Buono, right field. Most of these players have been here with semi-pro teams in past years.

CURT COMMENTS

Responding, we suppose, to our request that the public be let in on their plans, the flistic fraternity at McCarthy's hopyard south of town has let it be known that a real bang-up fight card is planned for September 4.

Tiny Hayes, Jackie Wattenberger and both of the Am-brose twins will participate, it is announced. There will be no charge at the gate but the fans will be expected to respond to the showing the boys make, with a shower expressing their appreciation.

Take it from us, they play some nifty junior baseball up in Washington. Those Sunnyside boys were good. Their pitcher blew up—he might have lasted if he had let the fielders take care of a few more of the putouts—but he was mighty good while he lasted. And those boys could field, and hit too, only Zimmerman when he got going was a little too much for them. The shortstop let go of the ball wrong once and it flew miles over the first baseman's head; the second baseman dropped an easy pop-fly. But for the rest of it, they played great ball, making some almost impossible stops.

It was a remarkable showing, especially after traveling 250 miles by auto the same day.

Of course our boys aren't so dusty either, but we've said our say about them before. The season wound up in characteristic fashion with Keber scooping up a hot grounder and rifling it across to first base. That little act has stopped a lot of threats this season.

LITTLE AUBREY Little Aubrey's father left for work as usual one morning. On the way he was run over by a truck and killed instantly, leaving Little Aubrey's mother with four small children to support. Little Aubrey just laughed and laughed. He knew his father had never believed in life insurance.—(Contributed by C. L.)

BIRD SEASON WILL START OCTOBER 1

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Oregon's open season on migratory game birds will coincide with that proclaimed yesterday by President Hoover—October 1 to 31.

Shortening, or even complete closing, of the season this year had been contemplated by the state game commission, but Hoover's action relieved it of that task. It had mailed questionnaires to sportsmen all over the state asking opinions regarding a season cut.

The order applies to ducks, geese, brant and coot.

Paul G. Redington, chief of the United States biological survey, here for tomorrow's conference of the senate wild life committee with the state game commission, said shortening of hunting seasons and cooperation of hunters in reducing kills would be the only means of saving some migratory waterfowl species from extinction.

Harried by long continued drouth and hunters' guns, the birds were not producing enough young to replace themselves, he said.

"Over-shooting has probably helped to make the situation acute," he said. "Unless waterfowl have proper food, water and sheltered places for nesting they will not raise any young. Our reports are almost uniform in showing that the nesting this year has been reduced to a point where extermination faces some species unless protection is afforded and conditions improve."

divisional shoots and turned in an excellent score of 196 out of a possible 200.

F. Halloran, Portland, broke 193 birds and a like number fell before T. H. Carpenter, Monroe, Ore.

By his performances here so far this week, Troeh has made himself one of the leading favorites in the Grand American opener Friday.

Steve M. Crothers, Chestnut Hills, Pa., today was crowned champion of champions in the feature shoot.

Crothers won the title of perfect marksmanship by shattering 200 consecutive targets, duplicating his recent feat in winning the Pennsylvania crown. He replaces E. F. Woodward of Houston, Texas as champion of champions. Titleholders from 41 states, the Canal Zone and Alberta, Canada, participated.

TROEH IS FAVORITE IN TRAPS CONTESTS

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Lacking a state champion to participate in the champion of champions event at the Grand American handicap tournament here, it was a quiet day for the far westerners. Frank Troeh, Portland, not being state champion, did not shoot in the feature event.
