MISSION BOTTOM'S SCHOOL ROW AHEAD

Petition for new Election Is Brought in but no Reasons are Cited

A school district squabble which has smoldered from time to time this summer, burst into blaze again yesterday when a representative of patrons in the Mission Bottom district, No. 26, presented a petition to Mrs. Mary Fulkerson, county school superintendent, asking her to call another election in the district. Mrs. Fulkerson took no cognizance of the petition because it stated no reasons and sent the bearer back asking him to have the petition made more definite.

In June when the election was held, a new clerk was chosen after Mrs. Fulkerson had thrown out one vote because it was cast by proxy by a woman for her husband. This decision created a feud in the election for director. Lots were drawn in the county superintendent's office as provided for by law and a new director was chosen.

Certain members of the district were dissatisfied. Investigation by a fraction revealed that the polls may not have been held open for an hour as required by law. This is the contention of the petitioners but inasmuch as it was not thus stated in the petition, Mrs. Fulkerson withheld any action.

She said yesterday that if the polls had not been open for an hour as required by law, she would ask the district attorney for instructions regarding the legal procedure she would take as county school superintendent.

HOLLYWOOD
Today—Ken Maynard in "Alias, The Bad Man."

ELSINORE
Today—Charles Ruggles in "The Girl Habit."

GRAND
Today—Buck Jones in "The Avenger."

Charlie Ruggles, who, in "Charlie's Aunt", as both the Charley and the aunt, became the favorite farceur of film fandom overnight, is now a star in his own right.

Ruggles' fine comedy work in such pictures as "Her Wedding Night", "Honor Among Lovers", "Young Man of Manhattan", "Roadhouse Nights", and others finally earned for him the distinction of stardom.

His first starring picture is "The Girl Habit", showing Saturday at the Elsinore theater. "The Girl Habit" is the product of the very capable typewriter of Owen Davis and Gertrude Purcell, and is based upon a stage success by A. E. Thomas and Clayton Hamilton. It is farce from start to finish and one laugh follows on the giggling trail of another with convulsing rapidity.

Charlie is seen as the wealthy young bachelor who is engaged to be married to a pretty society girl (Sue Conroy). But Charlie has long been a victim of the "girl habit". He is so kind to the females, so obliging, that they just will not let him alone. As a consequence, he has considerable difficulty in proving to his fiancée that he is really all hers.

Mrs. Knighton Is Injured in Auto Accident

Mrs. R. M. Knighton, 75 years of age, received a hard bump on her head in an auto accident reported yesterday to Sheriff Oscar Bower. She was riding with Mrs. Thomas H. Clark, 1025 Cross street, with whom she makes her home. Mrs. Clark was driving north on the Pacific highway. As she started to turn left, according to her report, G. E. Irwin, driving a car which prior to then had been behind a truck, also following Mrs. Clark's car, speeded up. His car hit the rear left wheel of the Clark car. Mrs. Clark reported no injuries to herself.

Charles Engel Denies Passing Fundless Check

Charged with passing a not sufficient funds check for $195 in payment for cattle purchased in the St. Paul, Minn., vicinity, Charles Engel pleaded not guilty before Justice of the Peace Hayden yesterday. Hayden set August 31 at 10 a. m., as a day for a preliminary hearing. Engel was unable to furnish $500 bail and had to go to jail.

CHEMAWA GRANGE HEARS VAN TRUMP

CHEMAWA, Aug. 28—Chemawa grange, busy infant among the grange organizations in the county, greatly enjoyed a talk made by S. H. Van Trump, who gave an informative, interesting address to the grange members in attendance. Mrs. Van Trump pleased her audience with two recitations in which she very effectively imitated the calls of birds. The grange has adopted a policy of inviting speakers who can instruct the membership in all phases of agriculture.

While the Chemawa grange has not yet been weaned it already has a membership of 60 and new applications are coming in. The presiding officer is that genial fisherman, Martin Koester, steward; Otto Beatty, assistant steward; Fred McCall, chaplain; Robert Henderson, treasurer; Ernest Savage, secretary; H. W. Bowden, gate keeper; Delphine Harris, Ceres; Mrs. John Zielinski, Pomona; Mrs. W. E. Savage, Flora; Mrs. R. Harrod, assistant steward, and Mrs. Fred Ham-mack, musician.

At a previous meeting the North Howell grange put on some good work when they came to Chemawa in force with their teams and gave the Chemawa initiates the work in the various degrees. At that time State Superintendent of Schools Howard gave an interesting talk.

The next meeting will be September 24.

BROWN TELLS OF EUROPEAN Y. M. C. A.

Some of the European Y. M. C. A.'s are the gathering places for young men of all nations. Dr. Frank E. Brown told members of the local Y. board of directors and their wives at a luncheon Thursday noon, in an address concerning his recent trip abroad.

Geneva, he found, is an inspiring city, with its atmosphere of a center for the settlement of international disputes, for which purpose it has served ever since the American civil war.

He described briefly the European Y. M. C. A. activities, his visit to the room in which the first young men's Christian association was formed, and finally his participation in the world conference for young men, held at Toronto, Ont., Canada.

This gathering of delegates from 47 nations, he believes, will have a strong influence toward the amicable relations of nations. Discussions were held and addresses heard in three languages. Great campfire meetings, with thousands of people in attendance in respective groups of nationalities. Their greatest interest seemed centered on the problem of world peace.

"I think those young men will carry back to their homes in all parts of the world a spirit of good will toward other nations," he concluded.

Poujade Among Guardsmen Who Are Sent East

Three members of the Oregon National guard, including Captain Vayton E. Van Vactor of Klamath Falls, Major Claude B. Washburn of Junction, City and Sergeant G. Poujade of Salem, left Saturday for Fort Monroe, Va., where they will attend a service school conducted by the federal government.

The courses will feature coast artillery firing. The federal government is paying all expenses attending the trip of the Oregon men.

Indications that the contention over the Gervais union high school district was not yet settled appeared in the county school superintendent's office yesterday when a representative of the anti-consolidated district appeared before County Superintendent Fulkerson and asked that she allow him to take names from the poll books showing voters at the election which was held last Friday.

Mrs. Fulkerson granted the request. The checker did not indicate whether he would use the names to ascertain whether the voters were or were not taxpayers but Mrs. Fulkerson assumed that was the purpose of his visit.

The dissolution of the union high school district lost by 29 votes last week. Proponents of the dissolution believe some of the voters were not taxpayers as required by law.

Olga Stolee To Sing Here

Miss Olga Stolee, popular young vocalist of Vancouver, Wash., will sing two vocal solos at the morning services of the American Lutheran church on Sunday.

For one so young Miss Stolee has unusual ability as a singer. It will be remembered that when the Portland Symphony chorus under the direction of Van Hoogstraaten, presented the Handel Messiah last winter, Miss Stolee was selected as contralto soloist.

Everyone is invited to attend.

FRANCES RUSS, 75, CALLED BY DEATH

NORTH HOWELL, Aug. 28—Mrs. Frances Russ, widow of the late Carl Russ and for 41 years a resident of this section, passed away Friday morning at the Silverton hospital at the age of 75 years and nine months.

Funeral services will be held Sunday morning at 11:15 o'clock in the Catholic church in Mt. Angel. Burial will be made there.

Mrs. Russ was born in Germany, where she lived until coming to this country about 48 years ago. She lived for seven years in Minnesota, and from there came direct to this section.

She has lived continuously since on the same farm on which they first settled.

Seven children survive Mrs. Russ, as follows: Joe, John and Andrew of North Howell; Peter of Lashby Center; Frank of Portland; Mary Russ Miller of Logansport, Ind., and Frances Russ Swartout of Portland. One son, Charlie, is deceased.

(Continued from page 1) And because there are no as assistant there had to be turned down. The $5 would at least help feed her eight children, the woman said in making the offer.

Men who eat at the soup kitchen are asked to split three sticks of wood for their meal; women who get free meals and clothes often aid the work by helping can fruit.

Already about 400 quarts of fruit have been put up, and more could be handled if more jars could be obtained. At least 250 more jars are needed right now, and anyone who can contribute a few will aid the work along.

Vegetables, too, are needed badly for without these, needy men and women cannot be fed. An effort is being made to confine the dispensing of meals to the hours between 11 o'clock in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon. However, no really hungry person will be turned away at any time when there is food available.
