CITY JAIL BREAKER IS STILL AT LARGE

The whereabouts of James Murphy, 17, who Friday night saved his way out of the city jail, yesterday remained a mystery to the Salem police. The local department has done all it could to further his being caught, Chief Minz said. The fact that the boy probably had at least an hour's freedom before it was learned he had fled from the jail in ample time to flee from the city.

WOODBURN SCHOOL WORK IS RESUMED

WOODBURN, Sept. 14.—Today saw the opening of another nine months of what some of the students think dreary and when the others consider pleasure when the Woodburn high school and grade school held their first classes.

The high school enrollment was slightly under that of last year with a total registration of 228, in expectation of about 75 more will enroll after the work in the hop yards and canneries has been completed. The number registered in each class was: Freshman, 61; sophomore, 68; junior, 69; senior, 48.

The grade school had a total enrollment of 224, about the same number as were enrolled last year. The bus routes for the high school are nearly the same as those last year, with four buses serving the high school students. One bus is run for the grade school.

Motorboat Trip To Coast Made

Mr. and Mrs. Axel Eoff and Mr. and Mrs. Breyman Boise returned this weekend from a pleasant week's vacation made on their jointly owned motor boat down the Willamette and then down the Columbia as far as Astoria and then back to Salem. They made the trip in leisurely fashion, stopped en route to camp or to stay at hotels. Their boat, a 16-foot one built in Portland, was equipped with a 32-horsepower outboard motor.

Well Tests Out Satisfactorily

The well dug on the C. R. McClelland farm south of Salem, which has been causing discussion and much interest was tested Monday by R. A. West.

International House Assured

An international house for Willamette university is assured for this year, President Carl G. Doney announced yesterday. About 15 students from foreign lands are to be housed there. The house will be established on South Winter street in the Albert property across from the Deaconess hospital. Mr. and Mrs. William Hall who are to manage the house were busy yesterday making arrangements for furniture and other equipment.

TEXTBOOKS ARE BEING DONATED

Response to Request Good Hug Reports, but Some Supplies are Short

Provided that donations of textbooks continue to come in this week as they have during the summer, virtually all the classes in both grade and junior high schools of Salem will be supplied with free textbooks, it was stated at the city school superintendent's office yesterday. Superintendent George Hug is seeking the cooperation of mothers of school children in making the needed donations of books this week. The texts may be taken to the official at the grade schools each morning except Saturday, from 9 until 12 o'clock.

The most marked shortage is in books for the seventh and eighth grades: Barber's junior high school mathematics, the junior high school geography, Brigham and McFarland, book two; and the two history books, Gordy's American beginnings in Europe and Growth of a Nation. First Six Grades Well Supplied.

A rental book plan in the public school are fairly well supplied with the text books, which include readers, arithmetics, spellers, health books, histories, English books, geographies, music readers and penmanship books.

All text books in usable condition will be covered with the new paper covers provided by the school district and will be distributed to the various schools in proportion to the need shown.

A rental book plan has been proposed for the high school, similar to that used in the high school English department last year, but will be up to the heads of the various departments. The high school has an excellent book exchange managed by the Girls' League, Superintendent Hug said, and students may secure their books there. The free text book law does not apply to ninth grade and senior high schools.

PHYSICIANS REPORT ON DISEASE CASES

Good Response is Made in This County to State Department Request

Almost all of the physicians in Marion county are responding to the request of the state department of health that they report weekly whether or not any of their patients have communicable diseases. In other counties physicians have been required to make the weekly report and the Marion county department of health is working to make this county 100 per cent in this respect.

Serious diseases, such as diphtheria, epidemic meningitis, infantile paralysis, scarlet fever, smallpox, typhoid and paratyphoid fever, septicaemia, measles, chickenpox and ophthalmia neonatorum, are required to be reported immediately, either by telephone or postcard. Other reportable diseases are dysentery, epidemic influenza, pneumonia, malaria, pellagra, all forms of tuberculosis, whooping cough, sleeping sickness, mumps, erysipelas, cholera, typhus, purpural septicemia, impetigo, scabies and Vincent's angina.

Including those at state institutions, there are 47 physicians listed in Marion county. According to Vernon A. Douglas, county health officer, the physicians are responding promptly with their reports.

DEAN HEWITT BACK FROM ORIENT TOUR

Following a summer of travel in the Orient with the Upton Class tour, Dean R. Hewitt of Willamette university law school, and Mrs. Hewitt, Miss Lella Johnson, Miss Lois Latimer and Mrs. G. H. Alden are again in Salem.

To them it is good to see the green prosperity of the Willamette valley after seeing the disasters of flood and the ensuing famine and death which surrounded them in China.

Important passengers were entertained by the party went through China and Japan; by-trips were taken which brought the party into direct contact with the pure native life of the Orient; and in the one-day stopover in Honolulu a delightful tour of the city, arranged by Elsie Hop Lee, now Mrs. Lam, and a former resident of Salem, added a delightful finishing touch to a tour of splendid experiences for the party.

Under the Occurrences and Gossip at the center of Oregon's state government

UNION shops, such as barber shops, restaurants, and others, are being patronized this week. The state federation of labor convention is in progress, and the 155 delegates and friends attending are determined to patronize only those who aid their organization. The union label is being demanded on goods.

The convention which opened yesterday, heard an excellent annual report as prepared by Ben T. Osborne, secretary. His discussion of unemployment, wages and wage reductions was complete, and in his report he touched upon some of the underlying causes of depression.

PLANS FOR OREGON EXHIBIT DISCUSSED

Association Meets of Work of State Printer at Monday Meeting

A large group of members from the Greater Oregon association met in the chamber of commerce rooms Monday night for routine work and to make plans for the booth which the state organization will sponsor this year at the state fair. Mrs. W. Carlton Smith, president, presided. Mrs. C. P. Bishop, vice president of the state association and Mrs. Leon W. Gleason, local chairman of the industries committee, presented the plans for the booth to date.

Small exhibits of products manufactured in Oregon will be placed in effective display in a booth which will be decorated in blue and gold. Those who have flowers which could be used for this decorative scheme were asked to get in touch with Mrs. Gleason.

James Freble, publicity man for the state fair, presented an idea whereby the Greater Oregon association could give aid in the course of the state fair to the advancement of interest on the part of the public in the works of Oregon writers. No definite action was taken on this subject.

E. C. Hobbs, state printer, was the speaker of the evening and gave definite and interesting facts concerning the work of his department.

Mr. Hobbs said that all things being equal all products possible were purchased in Oregon, or at least from the Pacific coast.

In speaking of the printing office Mr. Hobbs gave terse facts to the extent that on the state office people were employed in the plant and that about 100 people of Salem were maintained by the labor in this plant. Salaries and expenses for the plant total $165,494 the past fiscal year and for the year amounted to $180,000 for the present 120 departments served.

Kiwanis to Hear Greater Oregon Plans Discussed

An interesting discussion of the aims and possibilities for accomplishments for the Greater Oregon association will be presented by Mrs. W. Carlton Smith today before the Kiwanis club in its regular weekly luncheon meeting at the Marion hotel.

Mrs. Smith, state representative from Marion county and president of the association, has made a serious study of the question of Oregon products and will have much of interest of which to speak.

Draft Rules For Symphony Group

A committee to draft by-laws for the Salem Symphony orchestra was appointed by Dr. R. E. Lee Steiner, president of the association, at a meeting of the board last night. The committee members are: Mrs. Helen Y. M. C. A. last night. Mrs. Nora Anderson, Ivan Martin and Mrs. W. J. Minkiewicz were named members. The group will report in a few days. Plans for the coming year were discussed by the directors.

Ben makes some good recommendations, and his arguments are convincing.

Governor Julius L. Meier's program came in for some criticism in the annual labor report. The governor's attitude in reducing state affairs, and apparent favoring of reduction in wages in other departments, was attacked by Osborne. Oregon as yet has done little to relieve the situation, Osborne pointed out.

In fact, C. C. Chapman, editor of the Oregon Voter, was also assailed by the report. Osborne did not mention him by name but criticized his weekly publication in Portland which has been urging reduction in wages. To the probable dislike of both, Chapman and Governor Meier were placed in the same category by the labor leader—and neither is friendly toward the other—at least politically.

It looks like a busy four-day session for the labor delegates. It will be the governor's first appearance before the legislature, but the matter will be considered. Another big item coming before the convention will be the prohibition question, and the probably demand for modification. The sessions are open to the public, it was announced.

The convention held the spotlight at the capital city yesterday. In the background, however, was the matter of the governor's health, the coming highway meeting, the hearing on charges against J. S. Landers of Monmouth normal school, and several other matters of state.

Governor Meier is so improved that he expects to attend the next highway commission meeting which has been tentatively set for Thursday at Portland. This will be the governor's first appearance for about a month, and indicates to what degree he is recovering from his recent illness.

The official heads of the state insurance department are in attendance at the annual convention of insurance commissioners in Portland this week. A. H. Averill, commissioner, his assistant, J. M. Sehon, and Lester Davis, were all in Portland yesterday. Averill is official host for the national convention this year.

Salem is taking on its collegiate air again. Tomorrow is the day freshmen will register and Willamette opens on Monday. Many young men and women carrying suitcases have been seen in the past few days, ready for the call to books and many more of us would like to live over those "Dear Old College Days" again.

HEALTH CONTEST TO BE REPEATED

Salem Automatically in on Competition, is Word To Local Chamber

Salem will be automatically entered in the 1931 Inter-Chamber Health Conservation contest conducted by the national chamber of commerce association, according to C. E. Wilson, secretary of the local chamber of commerce, and Dr. Vernon A. Douglas, county health officer, who yesterday morning received detailed reports of the city's record in the 1930 competition. Salem finished second only to Alhambra, Calif., in last year's judging.

The 1930 reports of the inter-chamber commission of judges commend Salem for its dental and nutritional projects and for its standard milk ordinances and health education in public schools. The city achieved perfect records in water supply sewage disposal, low disease and death rates, keeping of vital statistics, and almost perfect records in the amount of milk consumed daily per capita.

Dr. Douglas explained that the judgment of Salem's sewage disposal is based on the number of homes that are connected with the city sewerage system, not on the manner in which the disposal is made, and that the judgment on the water is based not necessarily on the number of bacterial content, which were perfect in 1930.

Immunization Record is Poor Salem fell down in the number of diphtheria immunization and smallpox vaccinations, preschool professional visits, visits to dental and general clinics, health examinations for adults, the fact that there was no certified records in the amount of milk sold in the city, and the cost of the health work, which amounted to only a little more than one dollar per capita spent for all phases of health work.

The growth of all phases of health projects and attainments in the entire community are the aim sought by the inter-chamber contest, which is based on a comparison of work accomplished from year to year.

REV. BIDDLE GOING TO WALLA WALLA

United Brethren Pastor to Take up new Duties as District Leader

L. W. Biddle, pastor of the United Brethren church in the Englewood district for the past three years, and Mrs. Biddle are leaving this morning for Walla Walla, to which charge he was appointed at the recent conference in Portland.

In Walla Walla Rev. Biddle will also serve as district leader, an office corresponding to assistant conference superintendent. He continues to hold position as general director of Christian education for Oregon and Washington and Mrs. Biddle is also director of children's work for these two states.

"We've liked Salem very much, and really hate to leave the city," Rev. Biddle said yesterday. This was his first charge in Oregon, but he is a firm booster for the state, and even promotion to a post he has held for three years and to which he had been re-elected in the spring. He and Mrs. Biddle have also served as first judge and clerk in Salem election precinct number one.

During the three years Rev. Biddle has been here, a substantial growth has been made in the church membership and the past year has seen a 25 per cent average increase in the Sunday school attendance.

During the church building and remodeling of the parsonage were also accomplished while Rev. Biddle served the church here.

Mrs. Fisher to Go to Seattle

Mrs. Alice Bates Fisher, well known Salem resident and graduate of Willamette university '31, leaves Monday for Seattle where for the next year she will be hostess at the Wesleyan club house which adjoins the campus of the University of Washington. Mrs. Fisher will also take graduate work in the university, majoring in a course of social service. Her son, Arthur, remains here in Willamette university where he will be a junior. Professor and Mrs. William Jones have rented the home of Mrs. Fisher at 415 Market street.

Music Pupils to Attend Theatre

This afternoon 170 violin pupils of Salem will be the guests of their teacher, F. E. O'Hara, representative of the Institute of Musical Education, at a matinee party at the Elshore theatre. They will see the picture, "Huckleberry Finn," based on the story by Mark Twain.

Mr. O'Hara stated last night that the children should assemble at his studio in the Fraternal temple at 1:15 o'clock. From there they will go to the theatre together shortly before 2 o'clock.
