

Squad of 45 Turns Out First Day on Willamette's Gridiron

FEW VETERANS MET ON SCENE

Strenuous Week in Prospect As Preparations Made For O. S. C. Game

With a squad of 45 candidates out of whom only 13 are holdovers from past Willamette teams, football practice was opened on Sweetland field Monday forenoon and after two strenuous sessions, numerous strawberries and slight limps were noticeable in the varsity dressing rooms at 4 p. m. when the day's activities were concluded.

Of last year's actual first string players only four were on hand: Walt Erickson and Fred Paul, backfield men, and Keith Jones and Fred Smith, linemen. Others who played considerable time are Lowell Gribble, Julian Smith and Gene Ferguson, backfield men; Bob Houch and Gerald Carpenter, linemen, along with Roy Benjamin of the team of two years ago. Frank Haley, Curtis Woolley and Marshall Hartley complete the list of men who have worn Willamette's color in the past.

Of the 32 new men, many are big and several bring impressive high school records, and it is practically certain that some of them will win regular positions before many games are history. There are several others, including some promising candidates, who were working Monday and will turn out today.

Coach "Spec" Keene and all of his assistants were on hand including Howard Maple, newly engaged backfield coach who won All-American honors as an Oregon State quarterback in 1928; Emil Hauser, All-American tackle with Carlisle many years ago, line coach; and Paul Ackerman, Willamette's center last year, who won honorable mention on some All-American selections.

Monday's practice was devoted entirely to limbering-up activities and fundamentals, but since the Oregon State game looms up this weekend, Coach Keene will start his men at signal drill today. He plans to give his team not more than two simple plays prior to the Oregon State game, and their repertoire may be increased by one play for the U. O. game the following week.

The new players turning out include: Bert Gilette, Grants Pass; Archie Bunn, Tillamook; Loren Douglas, Oregon City; George Erickson, Clatskanie; Clifford Enley, Turner; Ted Finnucane, Oregon City; Truxton Foreman, Salem; Melvin Graham, Clatskanie; Clyde Grewell, Scappoose; Win Glese, Salem; "Red" Higgins, Portland; Charles Ingersoll, Oakland, Cal.; Roland Leask, Alaska; Wallace McCreey, Monmouth; Dan Mahan, Tillamook; George Masonheimer, John Day; Cliff Miller, transfer from Ashland Normal; Orin Orr, Boise; William Full, Idaho; Gus Lovell, Kent, Wash.; Chad Shaw, Newport; Fred Remington, Salem; Ray Rhoten, Salem; Keith Phillips, Buckley, Wash.; James Pate, Clement Park, Oregon City; Jack O'Connor, Seattle; Harold Taft, transfer from College of Idaho; Lowell Wright, Salem; Gordon Williams, Oakland, Cal.; Julius Yenny, Idaho.

Among players who will be out today are Dave Drager, lineman from last year's team and Puts Arens, Minneapolis, and Manford Olson, Cortez, Colo.

CITY PIN LEAGUE TEAMS GET GOING

City league bowling opened on the Winter Garden alleys Monday night. Bligh Billiards won three games from Emmons. Clothiers and established the starting "900" non records, 906 for team game and 2727 for team series. Hall rolled 602 for high individual series and Erce Kay 229 for high game. Willamette Valley Transfer won two games from Capitol Beds and Chevrolet defeated the Elks similarly. The scores were high for so early in the season, a tribute to the condition of the renovated alleys.

CURT COMMENTS

When George Scates, speedy Bearcat basketball and baseball player, comes back to the old campus at Homecoming time in future years, he'll be able to point with pride at the woven fence which now surrounds Sweetland field, and murmur to whoever will listen, "I built that."

Of course some of the other boys have been working on the job but as far as we could tell, George has been the chief performer. Some people may have a notion that Curt is the best worker in the world, just from watching him at dull moments on the basketball floor; they should have seen him pitch into that fencing job.

The fence is up there, and up to stay, for the four years are imbedded in concrete footings. Its construction is a real step ahead in Willamette's athletic history. Of course it has its disadvantages. We heard some boys saying the other day, they didn't think they would see so many of Willamette's games this year.

Now back in our undergraduate days there was an old wooden fence around Sweetland field. It was a handy thingumbob in a way, because it fell down every spring and that provided a job for erring freshmen to be assigned, hoisting it back in place.

Then again, there was that Pacific spy we caught in 1919. If there had been a wire fence with barb wire at the top, he wouldn't have tried to get over and maybe we wouldn't have caught him.

This new fence also has its drawbacks in that it probably will never be popular to photograph All-American gridlers seated atop it in that graceful manner affected by good old Ha'va'd. Maybe the players can pose inside and the camera be set up on the outside, giving that swanky prison effect.

LITTLE AUBREY

Newly Willamette in the Lions Bulletin tried to steal Little Aubrey's stuff and Little Aubrey just laughed and laughed because he knew all Newell wanted was a little free publicity.

DEMPESEY KAYOES TWO OUT OF FOUR

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, knocked out two of four opponents in a fistie exhibition here tonight.

Jack Silvers, 210, Chicago, lasted only 40 seconds, the former champion sending him down with a hard right to the chin. Bill Longson, 190 Salt Lake City, lasted 2 1/2 minutes, Dempsey knocking him out with a series of body and head punches.

Del Baxter, 196, Cornish, Utah, went two rounds, Jack toying with his opponent. Tony Clawson, Salt Lake City, also boxed a round with the erstwhile mauler. Clawson cuffed Dempsey with several head blows, but failed to hurt him. Jack gave the youngsters a boxing lesson.

Five thousand persons attended the show.

SARAZEN CAPTURES MEDAL IN TOURNEY

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Little Gene Sarazen, one of the best "money players" in golf put a 73 on top of a 73 to gain the medal in the P. G. A. championships 36 hole qualifying test here today on the long and windy Wannamoisett course.

Eddie Schultz, of Troy, N. Y., little known youngster, finished a stroke behind the Great Neck, L. I., star with a 146. Schultz' only mistake came on his first crack at the tricky 425-yard sixth, a par four hole. He put his drive in the trees and used up seven strokes before he holed out. However, he sailed home in 74. His steady afternoon performance earned him a neat 72.

Arthur Gust, Rhode Island open champion making his first bid in the P. G. A. title event, was good enough to finish third with 77-70-147.

Fifteen Lettermen Will be On Hand Today, Report From Corvallis

CORVALLIS, Ore., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Forty-eight football men were on hand tonight ready to report at 9 o'clock tomorrow for the first practice session at Oregon State college.

The arrival of Jack Cox late today brought to 15 the number of eligible lettermen out of 18. Bill Leggett, star punter and half back, is definitely out and is planning on playing with the Olympic club this season. Ed Englestead, guard, and Bryce Nosler, quarter, both lettermen, are unreported.

Three new men, not on the advance list of prospects, are on the roster. Two of them, Carl Ayer, Portland, varsity track man, and Paul Otis, Olympia, reserve and for two years, are candidates for end. They will report tomorrow together with Tom Kearns, Eugene, formerly guard on the Rook team.

Two practice sessions daily—and probably stiff ones—are Coach Paul Schissler's orders for the first two weeks. Only four days practice will be possible before the Willamette game Saturday night and only one more week remains to prepare for the inter-sectional battle with Colorado university in Portland, September 26.
