'Pepper' Martin Whole Show Again as Cards Move Ahead

ST. LOUIS RUNS

One Clout is Homer; Bill Hallahan Subdues A's Again, Score 5-1

By ALAN GOULD

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 7—(AP)—The "wild horse of the osage," Pepper Martin, collaborated again today with the "wild Will of the pitching peaks," Bill Hallahan, to baffle the Athletics, perch victory atop the national league banner and put the Cardinals within one game of the world baseball championship

The Cardinals romped easily to triumph in the fifth game of the series, 5 to 1, as Hallahan posted his second straight victory over the world champions and Martin continued on the wildest batting rampage in the history of baseball's annual big show.

It gave the Red Birds the lead, three games to two, an advantage enjoyed by the national league's forces for the first time in seven years. The Cardinals, with only the great George Earnshaw to do much worrying about, return to their home grounds with two chances to capture the fourth and deciding contest. The sixth game is scheduled Friday at St. Louis.

The smartest piece of strategy in the series, the elevation of the sensational Pepper Martin to the cleanup position in the Cardinal batting order in place of Sunny Jim Bottomley, was crowned with results of t'. gaudiest variety. Lives Up Fully to

Martin, with a nation's eyes upon him and even the A's own home town fans cheering him, celebrated the responsibility put upon him by smashing out three hits, including a home run into the left field stands, and driving home four of the five Cardinal

This stockily-built, .27 year old Oklahoman, virtually single-handed battered the Athletics into defeat with just as much power as a slugger as he had manifested previously in dazzling speed. He drove in the first run with a sacrifice fly, pointed out the exit for Waite Hoyt in the sixth with a home run clout, with Frisch on base, and concluded his day with a one base drive that tallied Watkins in the eighth inning.

Martin tied the world series record when he ran his total hits up to 12 for five games, equalling the achievement first registered by Buck Herzog of the Giants in 1912. The Cardinal buzz saw boosted his batting mark for the series to .667. Martin was close to being the whole show but Hallahan was superh again ! the pinches as he subdued the A's and the rest of the Cardinals, responding to the inspiration of the Martin-Hallahan combination, outplayed, outsmarted and out-fought the champions of the world to gain the all-vital edge in this battle. Hallahan was not so nearly invincible as he was in the second game, when he blanked the Mackmen with three hits, but he controlled all the batters except the mighty Al Simmons. The big gun of the A's, batting champion of his league, rattled off three straight hits against Hallahan's speed balls but Al was an easy victim in the eighth when he came to bat with two men on, two out and a home run needed to tie the

The Athletics scored their only run in the seventh inning. Simmons, with one out, connected for his third safe blow and ran to caromed off Hallahan's side into short right field, past Frisch. Simmons ran home on Bing Miller's grounder to high, who threw to second for a force out of Foxx. The Mackmen had scoring op-

Under Schissler's direction the varsity drove over two touchdowns in quick succession although the freshmen put up a strong defense. Biancone, at quarter, carried the ball most of the time and frequently was stopped by Jack Bradne, a 200-pound freshman fullback who did a good job of backing up the line.

Although winning, the Saints still trail the Red Wings 2 games to 4.

Davis was ably abetted by his team mates in a 15-hit attack that was distributed impartially among five Rochester pitchers. Roettger also slammed out four hits and Fenner connected with three, one of them a long homer over the right field wall.

The Red Wings' moundsmen also were generous with their bases on balls, handing out seven, five of which came in the hectic eighth inning when the Saints scored five runs to make a rout of what The teams play here again tomorrow. The series end when they'd have found it by now. He wasn't such a great hitter during the regular season. We figure two things: he's been inspired by success and the big show, and he has the opposition buffalced.

FOOTBALL SCHOOL We fear most grid fans fail to ppreciate all that goes on when one of the teams kicks. They see One of the most spectacular sights in a football game, and one that's easy to see if you look for it, is the progress of the kicking team's ends and other linemen down under the punt; top speed sprinting, dodging to avoid blockers, the blocking which in this instance is of the old flying type and one of the most difficult feats in football; the converging of the tacklers upon the punt receiver. Closer observation may reveal that the kicking team goes down the field in three waves; the ends and perhaps the left tackle or center taking off when the ball is snapped, the rest of the linemen after checking their opponents, the backs after hearing the ball These points don't cover the ubject thoroughly, but may call attention to the fact that there is much to be seen on such a play.

Question-What is there to the science of punting?
