

Economic Issue is Big One, Hulet Tells Monmouth Grange

WET CRY HELD SMOKE SCREEN

State Master Urges Members to use Ballot box On new Scale

MONMOUTH, Oct. 12 — A homecoming for Monmouth grange Saturday drew out a crowd of about 50 persons. A noon dinner was served with master, C. C. Hulet, speaking this hour. His talk was preceded by some pertinent remarks by W. J. Stockholm, ex-master of Monmouth grange. Stockholm delineated the present hampered position of the farmer, the enormity of the fixed charges of interest, taxes and insurance that he is compelled to meet in comparison with the small returns available for his produce.

Master Hulet agreed with Mr. Stockholm that the farm burden was a failure. He quoted a specific instance of wheat charges within the middleman, in which in a few minutes the middleman made more money than the farmer who produced the wheat made from his entire year's work plus the cost of his seed and use of his land.

He gave an opinion on the "wet" question, stating that he believed its specter was merely a smoke screen to deflect the people's interest away from vital issues of far greater importance.

Urges use of Ballot Box
"It isn't a question of which gangster gets the money—Dago Joe or Andy Mellon. Four percent of the population now controls 80 percent of the wealth of this nation. But the 96 percent of our population controls their power and the control of the ballot box. Let us use that power."

"The economic issue is the big thing. Let us make the man who has the income pay the sort of taxes that will support the government. Quick changes are not the kind that build for the future. Slow, steady dependability counts most."

An informal program occupied the afternoon session, over which George Kurze, Dallas, presided.

Mrs. Lambert Talks
Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Lambert of Stayton were out-of-town guests. Mrs. Lambert is state chairman of home economics work of the grange auxiliary. Her territory represents particularly Polk, Marion, Benton, Lincoln, Linn and the west half of Lane counties. She announced that home economics and agricultural committees will meet November 18 at Stayton.

Mrs. Lambert is author of an article on coffee in this fortnight's edition of the grange bulletin.

The short meeting of the Monmouth H. E. club was held to solicit clothing and supplies for a needy family that recently lost all household equipment in a fire.

Mrs. W. J. Stockholm volunteered the use of her home as a meeting place to aggregate such supplies.

RESIDENT PASTOR NEW FOR CATHOLICS

STAYTON, Oct. 12—For the first time since the Catholic church was established here, about 25 years ago, this parish is to have a resident pastor. All these years the priest has resided at Sublimity and served both places.

Father F. Scherbring, who has been here the past four years will continue at Sublimity, but this parish will be served by his brother, Rev. Jos. Scherbring, who has been at Silvertown. Among the things Father F. Scherbring has accomplished here is the building of the fine parochial school, three years ago.

The new pastor will assume his duties Sunday and from that time mass will be held each Sunday at 7:30 and 10:30 a. m.

Scotts Mills Bears Name of Men Who Founded and Their Business; Little Town Shows Much Industry

By MRS. W. T. HOGG
Scotts Mills is located in the northeast part of Marion county on Butte creek. It is 23 miles from Salem, the capital city, via paved highway. Scotts Mills was named for Robert Hall Scott and Thomas Scott, brothers, who came here from Westport, Oregon, in 1866.

At an early age they learned the millers trade and established the mills here which has since been associated with their name. Robert Scott owned 2200 acres of land, including pasture and cultivated land, and the last year he owned it (he sold it in 1892) he raised 11,777 bushels of oats and wheat on it. One of his daughters, Mrs. J. S. Korb and a son Walter Scott still live here.

There are two merchandise stores, blacksmith shop, three garages, paint shop, post office, feed store, I. O. O. F. hall, and a traveling library, also a mail route of about 30 miles.

A new market road was built last year, a distance of about six miles from Scotts Mills to Crooked Finger, Crooked Finger is about six miles southeast of Scotts Mills, and was named after an old Indian chief with a crooked finger.

There is a city park, two churches, high and grade school, bank, two merchandise stores, blacksmith shop, three garages, paint shop, post office, feed store, I. O. O. F. hall, and a traveling library, also a mail route of about 30 miles.

G. Wilson Honored By Endeavor Group Before Goes North

G. WILSON, 14 1/2 VAL ... JEFFERSON, Oct. 11.—One of the delightful affairs of the past week was a farewell surprise party Friday night given by the members of the Evangelical Christian Endeavor society, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson in honor of their son, George, who left Monday for Portland where he will attend the Bible Institute.

Contests, games and music were enjoyed until a late hour, when refreshments were served. The society presented George with an autograph album in appreciation of his work as vice-president of the Christian Endeavor society.

Present beside the honored guest and other members of the Wilson family were Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Liening, Jr., and daughter Florence, Mrs. Nettie Reeves, Evelyn Gulvin and Helen, Laura, Walter, George and John Kihls.

Miss Phyllis Macy gave a vocal solo. The next meeting will be the second Thursday in November.

PLAY TO BE GIVEN BY CLUB MEMBERS

CENTRAL HOWELL, Oct. 12.—The first meeting of the community club was held Friday night with the president, A. A. Hall, presiding.

During the short business session it was decided that the club should give a play some time during the winter. Mrs. Clarence Simmons, Miss Grace Johnson and John Lauderback were appointed to choose a play.

Mrs. F. E. Way and Mrs. Clarence Johnson were named to furnish the program for the next meeting.

Mrs. A. E. Kuenzi and Mrs. Robert Eye will plan the refreshments without which no meeting at Central Howell is a complete success.

GRANGE DISCUSSES VARIETY SUBJECTS

Group at Turner Looking Forward to Building new Ball Room Soon

TURNER, Oct. 12.—Surprise group No. 233 met Saturday in an all-day session held in the I. O. O. F. building. In the absence of the master, Arthur Edwards, who has moved to Salem, W. F. Gulvin occupied the master's chair. A short session before noon was taken up with routine business.

After the usual bountiful dinner and social hour, the lecturer, Mrs. W. F. Gulvin, announced her program, which was opened by all singing "Budd in Bloom," with Mrs. Alice Little accompanying. Roll call was responded to by each giving a brief description of his or her happiest day during the summer.

Expresses Thanks
Of special interest was the short talk given by G. W. Farris who was made happy shortly after the fire that almost destroyed his home recently, by the timely assistance of fellow grangers and other friends. He and Mrs. Farris expressed their appreciation for the many acts of love and friendship shown them at that time. All responded to the inscription of a printed slip bearing "What I would do if I were a Lindbergh," each slip bearing a different well known name. Some very good thoughts were given as to what is expected of them in public life.

Mrs. U. E. Denver gave a reading "In Grandmother's Attire."

The lecturer gave a description of a burlesque bill on "All farmers should be licensed," which bill was introduced in the legislature of an eastern state. Mrs. Gulvin who is a school teacher, mentioned a few of the fine things put on at the teachers institute in Salem Monday and Tuesday.

Members of Turner grange are hoping they may be able to build a hall of their own in the near future. Committees are working on the proposition, with the encouragement of a friend who has offered a building site.

The lecturer introduced an original song, "We're Going to Build a Hall," which was sung to the tune of "Farmer in the Dell." It was voted to invite Miss LaVern Hutchens to give her address on "Peace," at the November meeting. Adjournment was taken to a short closed session.

RECEPTION HELD FOR ALL TEACHERS

Annual Bazaar of P. T. A. At Lyons is Scheduled For November 13

AUMSVILLE, Oct. 12.—P. T. A. met Friday night for a teachers reception and a 7 o'clock dinner. President Nicolson presided.

The program was as follows: Song by high school girls' quartet; instrumental music by Merle and Gwen Martin; welcome by John Mix; response and introduction of teachers by Prof. T. C. Mountain; a short talk by Mrs. T. C. Mountain; impersonation, Merle Martin and Franklin Nichols; song, Charlotte Martin accompanied by Merle Martin and Miss Burgess; instrumental pieces by Merle Martin, John Powell and Charles Pomeroy.

Club to Meet
A reading "Auntie's Dress," Doris Walling; Charlie Martin, club president, reported about the community club work and said the first meeting will be the first Tuesday in November; a short speech by Mrs. A. E. Bradley.

At the business meeting the P. T. A. and school board decided to buy a piano for the grade school. It was decided to hold the annual bazaar Friday, November 13, with some of the committees being appointed by President Nicolson. The P. T. A. state convention to be held at Eugene from October 20-23 was announced.

All-Day Gathering Of Home Economics Club is Wednesday

UNION HILL, Oct. 12.—The home economics club of the Union Hill grange will hold an all-day meeting Wednesday, Oct. 14 at the hall.

There is a quilt to be quilted and all club and grange members who can are requested to come. A pot luck dinner will be served at noon. Each one coming is asked to bring one article for dinner.

RETURN FROM HUNT
INDEPENDENCE, Oct. 12.—M. C. Williams, Dr. George C. Knott and Bruno Homburger have returned from a fishing and hunting trip from the Rogue river. Their camp was 30 miles down the stream from the highway. They were taken there by a guide. They report fishing was very good while they did not land any big ones. While there Mr. Homburger got a deer.

PROPOSES WORK
MONMOUTH, Oct. 12.—Mayor F. R. Bowersox reported at the last council meeting that he is frequently importuned for aid in the name of the city, and he proposes a suggestion that applicants for charity be referred to the lumber and fuel company's yard where cordwood and a bucksaw will be provided. A will be demonstrated just how ambitious they are to earn tender.
