

Willamette and Columbia All Set for Night Grid Opener

ONE CHANGE IN BEARCAT TEAM

Fred Smith to Start in old Guard Position; Tight Game is Forecast

By JIM NUTTER
Not a formal dedication service such as would mark the completion of a building, but a well matched football game which promises to be filled with spills and thrills—perhaps an upset—will be the dedication of the newly corralled field with lofty posts and lights.

Columbia and Willamette will clash tonight at 8 o'clock in the first game on the newly equipped field and in Salem's first night football game. Willamette has been named the favorite by most people in Salem, but Portland fans are free in predicting victory for the Irish.

The starting lineup as announced in Thursday's Oregon Statesman has been changed only in one place. Fred Smith will start at right guard in place of Orr. Smith has had injured legs, but is in better condition now and will be able to perform in the game. Otherwise the announced lineup will be the same, with Erickson Frantz, Faber and Mahan getting the call for the backfield. Faber is one of the fastest men in suit and with a little more experience is going to find himself at the game.

The team held a light workout under the lights on Sweetland field Thursday night and showed plenty of pep in signal and defense practice. In the dressing room the boys were singing loudly and in high spirits. Red numbers will be a great aid in distinguishing the Willamette men in tonight's game. The jerseys will not keep that color altogether, but the numbers are large and easily visible. The other equipment of the Bearcats is also in good condition and the team makes a good appearance on the field.

Columbia is noted for having a rough and ready bunch of men on the team and they look at football as no child's play at all hard when they tackle. Coach Gene Murphy has his team all hopped up for the occasion, according to reports, and is expecting to carry a Bearcat scalp back to Portland.

The Willamette team is in fair condition, but will not return into its best shape until next week, according to Coach Keene. However, it is in far better early season condition than it has been for a number of years, and a large group of reserves are available.

WOODBURN ELEVEN TO PLAY GRESHAM

WOODBURN, Oct. 15.—Woodburn high school's football team will again put on their traveling clothes this week end. This time the Gresham high school team will play host to the Bulldogs. The game will be played Friday afternoon.

With a 23 to 0 defeat still ringing in their ears, the Bulldogs are determined to turn in a win over Gresham Friday, even if that is a difficult task for any high school football team.

Reports from Gresham indicate that the team is composed mostly of veterans. Last year's team was barely able to down Gresham, so it is quite apparent that the Bulldogs, with only one letterman in the tentative lineup, have a job cut out for them.

Since the West Linn game Coach Gill Oddie has looked over his prospects even more closely and has effected quite a shakeup, at least in his tentative lineup. Some of the "regulars" have shifted positions and there are quite a number of new names in the list.

Twenty-Minute Grid Games Planned for Big Tourneys In Jobless Relief Scheme

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Given impetus by the decision of eight leading eastern elevens to engage in two football rodeos at New York and New Haven early in December, the campaign to mobilize the nation's gridiron forces in the case of unemployment relief took on fresh vigor today.

From every section of the country came reports that indicated the various conference and colleges were prepared to suspend their rules relating to postseason play and strike a lick for President Hoover's committee. Owen D. Young, chairman of the committee, broached the plan only yesterday.

The "tournament" idea which originated with E. K. Hall, chairman of the national football rules committee, also promised to prove popular.

Yale, Brown, Dartmouth and Holy Cross already have agreed to clash in a four cornered carnival at New Haven on Dec. 5, while Princeton, Pennsylvania, Columbia and Cornell will hold their battle royal four days later at the Yankee stadium. In each instance there will be three 20-minute bouts, the winners in the first two meetings in the final. The action should be sudden and continuous.

Among those offering their gridiron services today were the University of Tennessee and the University of Dayton. Officials of both institutions immediately began seeking suitable opponents. A post-season game at Denver on December 5 also was announced as "reasonably certain" with expectations of a crowd of 30,000.

WILLAMETTE WILL HAVE SWIM CLASS

Plans for swimming classes at Willamette for which gym credits will be given are being made and it is hoped that eventually a representative swimming team will be developed for the Bearcats.

Dwight Adams, boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A., with Leslie Sparks is offering low rates to those who are interested. Two swims a week are planned for the classes and will be handled in three sections in order to accommodate more fellows. Gym credits will be given to those who enroll.

Charley Gill, for a number of years a Red Cross swimming and life saving instructor, will teach the classes. Gill plans to teach beginning technique to those who cannot swim, improvement of strokes and diving to those who already know how to swim and life saving and fancy diving for those who are already experienced swimmers.

DALLAS WILL PLAY SHERIDAN AT HOME

DALLAS, Oct. 15.—Dallas high will play her first home game here Friday against Sheridan high. Last year Dallas beat Sheridan 6 to 0 and the local squad is hoping to win again this year. The Dallas eleven won their first game last week 12 to 0 over Dayton.

The Cherry City Baking Co. of Salem will have its broadcast car at the Sheridan game to announce it play by play. The football game is scheduled for 8 o'clock with an interclass soccer game between the junior and senior teams serving as a preliminary at 2:30.

WOODBURN ELEVEN TO PLAY GRESHAM

WOODBURN, Oct. 15.—Members of the vocational agricultural classes at Woodburn high school have been busier than usual lately, since all of the boys are anxious to win a place on the stock judging team which will be sent to the Pacific International Livestock Exposition, which opens in Portland October 24.

STANFORD HAS BEAR STORIES

Regular Fullback and end Are out for Various Reasons, Claimed

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Stanford university's football team today lost its first string fullback and will face the Oregon State game Saturday with a substitute in the position, Coach Glenn Warner announced tonight.

Dusty Allen, substitute fullback, was called to Huntington park where his mother is seriously ill and will not return for the game, Warner said. His place Saturday will be taken by Rudy Rintala. He has been understudy Allen for the last two weeks. The loss of Allen is expected to weaken the Cards' passing attack as he was the main cog in the sending department.

Warner also said today that Phil Neill, regular end, and Tommy Gill, substitute halfback, were being held out because of poison oak infection.

JUNIOR HIGHS SIGN UP FOR NIGHT CLASH

Salem's junior high gridiron warriors, representing Leslie and Parrish, will get their taste of the "limelight" of night football November 10, it was announced Thursday.

The game on Sweetland field on the eve of Armistice day will be a part of the American Legion's program for the holiday, and will renew the only "civil war" Salem affords as there is only one high school here and only one college.

BOYS WORKING HARD TO PLACE ON TEAM

WOODBURN, Oct. 15.—Members of the vocational agricultural classes at Woodburn high school have been busier than usual lately, since all of the boys are anxious to win a place on the stock judging team which will be sent to the Pacific International Livestock Exposition, which opens in Portland October 24.

SIGNIFICANT NEWS EVENTS DISCUSSED

Gold Standard, Gandhi and Credit Plan Stressed In Fraternis Talk

The significance of important news events of the last three weeks was discussed by Sheldon F. Sackett, managing editor of The Statesman, at the Fraternis club meeting last night at the Spa. The outstanding situations in the news, he found, were England's suspension of the gold standard, Gandhi's visit to England, communism, President Hoover's credit mobilization plan, sports events and, locally, Governor Meier's condition, political housecleaning and developments planned for the Santiam highway.

"England's suspension of the gold standard will have very grave and very serious effects on the world," he averred. The move became necessary to halt the flow of gold out of the country in payment for the excess of imports over exports. The English financiers found it expedient to stop the drainage of their gold by suspending it as a standard of payment. The country has suffered a condition of unemployment and a heavy burden of war debts. Many of its important industries are decadent. "Recession and allowance to England on its war debts seems necessary," according to Mr. Sackett.

"The greatest single thing in the visit of Gandhi to England," he declared, "is that no nation ever before entrusted the ambassadorship to one man." Gandhi seems to be a man of real personality rather than an Indian fakir acting a part.

As there is no show that communism in Russia will be overthrown soon, in the opinion of the speaker, it would be better to enter into immediate diplomatic relations with that nation. "The best protection against communism is a frank appraisal of the defects of capitalism. . . seek a middle ground between capitalism and communism."

The credit mobilization plan for the United States was characterized as "the most economic and sound proposition offered since Hoover declared the moratorium." A drive in the next congress for liberalization of the federal reserve system was predicted.

Completion of the Santiam highway to eastern Oregon was foreseen as a great benefit to Salem, making it an important junction in the traffic which will move over this road to the Bend country.

SCHOOL FOR DEAF EXHIBITS METHODS

Members of the Salem Lions club meeting at the Gray Belle yesterday noon were so interested in demonstrations of methods used in teaching deaf children, shown by Dr. Mrs. J. Lyman Steed, of the state school for the deaf, that they remained nearly half an hour past the usual adjourning hour.

First on the program was a demonstration of teaching first year pupils how to read lips, next a group of fourth year pupils, indicating the progress made after four years of study. The third part of the demonstration consisted of Highland fling and hornpipe dances done by a group of older girls to show how the deaf are able to learn rhythm although they cannot hear music.

The pupils at the school for the deaf are very fond of slamming doors, Dr. Steed said, because they like to feel the vibration set up in the floors.

As deaf children are generally four years behind normal children in general intelligence, their schooling equivalent to the ordinary eight grades lasts for 12 years. At the state school for the deaf, 126 pupils are now enrolled.

ARCHERY DROPPED

In keeping with a policy at Willamette university to have multiple farious activities so that no students would lack opportunity to be in things, archery was suggested at a meeting called to see how many were interested. Perhaps Robin Hood's many trials have been painted sufficiently on the boys were just too busy, but the venture was dropped when only one or two manifest interest.
