ONE OF HIS FAMOUS CARTOONS

JOHN M. BAER.

That the election of 1932 will bring in the capital a House and Senate with enough votes to pass any measure over the President's veto is one of the predictions made by John M. Baer, famous political cartoonist, of Washington. Mr. Baer is in a position that enables him to speak on politics with a certainty backed up by years of study of national questions. His political cartoons are known wherever a newspaper is read and he has the distinction of being the only man who ever crisscrossed his way into Congress. Baer's Farm-Labor and Craft exposé drawings have won him millions of friends among tillers of the soil and industrial workers, not only in his own country but abroad. He is a native of Appleton, Wis., where he was graduated from Lawrence University.

P. T. A. SPONSORS COMMUNITY TREE

Mrs. Tedder Tells About Trip to Europe as Gold Star Mother

GERVAIS, Nov. 3.—About 35 were present at the regular monthly meeting of the P. T. A. at the high school building Monday night. It was decided to establish the circulating library, which is furnished by the state library and some eight women volunteered to take their share of the labor in caring for the library.

The matter of the community Christmas tree and treats for the Union High school district children was also discussed and it was voted that the P. T. A. again this year sponsor the undertaking. It was also suggested that a charity game of football between Woodburn and Gervais be played, the receipts to be split 50-50 between the two communities for the Christmas tree.

This will be determined as soon as Prof. J. D. Brehaut has time to see Prof. Bain at Woodburn. If this game can be arranged, it should prove a big drawing card, as there is much rivalry between the two teams and the Woodburn team has steadfastly refused to meet the locals during the season series.

An interesting sideline to the meeting was the talk by Mrs. J. C. Tedder, a gold star mother, and who was a guest at the government in a voyage to France last July to the grave side of a son who is buried there. In the cemetery in which her son is buried there are graves of about 2000 American soldiers. The German government has 24,000 soldiers buried in one cemetery, near where they lost the largest number of men.

The gold star mothers visited the largest church in Paris, it having been built by private funds and costing $8,000,000. Paris is dark at night, even to the hotels. This was said to have been the habit since the days when war was the main occupation years ago. The Eiffel Tower is 900 feet tall, and about 100 feet up is a lawns, hotels and other conveniences and again about that many feet further up is another such arrangement. It takes about six hours to make the trip up to the top by trolley and back. The talk of Mrs. Tedder was greatly enjoyed and gave much information not otherwise obtainable.

The proposition of building a gymnasium on the grade school property was also discussed, and as a meeting is soon to be held to discuss further plans, no action was taken by the P. T. A. The forthcoming meeting will be the taxpayers of school district No. 76.
