

HESTIAN SHARES FINALLY ADVANCE

Brisk Rally at Close due to Wheat's Strength After one Halt

By JOHN L. COOLEY
NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—Wheat's rebound from an early decline, under a new high for silver, easier money conditions and a brisk demand for bonds led the stock market little choice of action today and it advanced strongly in the last hour.

There was some hesitation in the market until Wall Street traders waited to see what wheat would do, and many principal shares sold off a point or so. Fresh support for grains and a reduction in bankers' acceptance rates—the second in less than 24 hours—reflecting a more substantial inquiry for that form of short term investment turned the tables for shares which fell in behind the livestock advance by metal issues.

The market's average gain was 2.8 points, putting the Standard Statistics-Associated Press composite at 88.2, a new high for the recovery. Thus, after several futile attempts, prices were at last able to negotiate what the technically minded called a favorable step. Activity increased sharply on the upturn. The volume, which approximated 1,400,000 shares early in the last hour, swelled to a 2,229,712 share total.

CAULIFLOWER HITS RECORD LOW MARK

PORTLAND, Nov. 6. (AP)—Cauliflower reached the lowest level ever known here for quality stuff on the east side farmers' wholesale market when sales were made down to 20c crate for No. 1B. While the general price of 25¢ was 25¢ to 35¢, the lower market was reached for one lot at least. Celery market was fairly active at weak prices.

Cabbage was steady; mostly 65¢ to 70c crate.

Concord grapes sold 50¢ to 65¢ jug.

D'Anjou pears sold $1 for face and fill with winter Nellis at a similar mark.

There will be no market Armistice day.

Potatoes were a trifle slow but unchanged in price.

Dallas lettuce sold 25c for 2a, 21¢ for 3a and 15c for 4a. Few of the latter available.

Local lettuce was mostly 90c to $1 crate.

'MASQUERADE' IS THRILLING SERIAL

There's a good deal of truth in the old saying about "Judith O'Grady and the colony's lady" being "hidden under the skin." Fatti Baldwin's latest dramatic serial plunges a gangster girl into the lives of a family of culture and wealth—and she holds her own with the best of them!

Fanchon Meredith, fleeing her past among the gangsters of a big city, strikes up acquaintance with a lovely debutante occupying the seat across from Fanchon in a big transcontinental plane. The plane meets disaster—and Fanchon finds she is the sole survivor.

Fanchon sees her big chance—and boldly takes it. She assumes the name and clothes of her dead friend and goes on to enact the part of the "aunt" who has never seen her before, the cousin who had always disliked the girl Fanchon impersonating.

She succeeds—and for a while it looks as if her wildest dreams of happiness are going to materialize. Then the old life overtakes her, with a whirling suddenness which takes her breath. She is caught—a faker, an impostor.

How Fanchon extricates herself from this exciting situation is told in the characteristic warm Faith Baldwin manner of the lowest pause in the march of thrills. Read the absorbing chapters of "Masquerade," just starting in The Oregon Statesman.

EGG QUOTATIONS WEAKER AGAIN WHEAT NEARS PEAK FOR SEASON

Buying Power Outside Usual Channels is Still Active

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Unexhausted reserve buying power from outside the ordinary trade channels whirled wheat up today to within 1/4 cent of the season's top.

Earlier the market was forced down more than 2 1/2 cents by severe price breaks at Liverpool, but many standing orders to purchase on downturns boosted values above almost 4 cents from the day's bottom. Fresh jumps in values were aided by reports ominous of crop curtailment both in domestic spring and winter wheat territory and by greater attention to warlike happenings in the Orient.

Wheat closed nervous 1/4 to 1 3/8 cents higher than yesterday's finish, corn 5/8 to 1 1/4, oats unchanged to 1/4 off.

Today's closing quotations: Wheat, Dec. 7 3/4 to 7 7/8, Mar. 70 to 70 1/4, May 71 1/2 to 5/8, July 72 1/8 to 1/4.

Corn, Dec. 46 7/8 to 47 1/8, Mar. 50 to 50 1/8, May 52 to 52 1/4, July 53 7/8 to 1/4.

Oats, Dec. 27 1/4, May 29 1/4 to 7/8, July 29 7/8.

Price Lists Appear to Mean Nothing to Wholesalers

PORTLAND, Nov. 6. (AP)—Weakening prices are reported again in the market for eggs, but listed quotations appear to mean nothing. While Seattle is reporting 33c dozen for eggs, the highest point along the coast, distributing organizations of that city are competing with Portland which is quoting a much lower price. Therefore the trade appears to be able to buy at its own price.

Increase of fresh egg offerings is again noted and this is causing storage goods. The last report of storage holdings in 26 leading cities of the country gave a total of 4,123,000 cases. While this is slightly less than the total at the same period a year ago, the movement of fresh goods has started earlier while demand is not so good.

Trading in the butter market continues to show full steadiness for most scores but top quality is a trifle dull. There is no change in the general price list. Butterfat appears steady.

Full steadiness is reflected in the market for live chickens along the wholesale way with no change offered in the bids by killers. There appears an acute shortage of medium hens.

Considering the season, sales of cranberries are limited. The usual volume of purchases has been reduced by the unwillingness of retailers to speculate. They are buying only immediate needs.

KOEHN POINTS OUT ENEMIES OF PEACE

More Dangerous Than Those Of war Time, Mothers Of Veterans Told

"The enemies of peace are more insidious than those of actual war time because the former enemies are more hidden," said Captain George L. Koehn of Portland in addressing the Thursday evening program of the fourth biennial state convention of the American War Mothers in session in Salem Thursday and Friday at the Masonic temple.

And the most threatening enemy of today, one that is attacking the whole structural soundness of both the economic and social welfare of the nation is that of unemployment, and "it is a problem which commands all the intelligence and patriotism of the nation to combat," Captain Koehn told his audience. He concluded his remarks with an appeal to all liberty loving Americans and all patriotic organizations to do everything possible to alleviate the present condition and solve effectually the present menace of unemployment.

Captain Koehn spoke of the appropriateness of addressing a meeting of War Mothers at this time which is so near Armistice day one of the most holy holidays in the world. The other world holiday is Christmas.

In the name of the Legion Captain Koehn asked the Mothers to feel and be a part of all Armistice day celebrations over the state for said day as it is as such your duty as it is that of the soldier sons whom you sent to make the day possible.

In tribute to Armistice day Captain Koehn expressed the belief that with the last great war and its Armistice day conclusion came a flash of light of world freedom which lies at the end of the road upon which nations are now stumbling to a peaceful understanding in such pacts as the League of Nations and the Kellogg Briand peace pact.

The Mothers received messages of welcome and greetings from the Commander of Capitol post,

Occurrence and Goals at the center of Oregon's State government

A pep talk in these times certainly can do no harm. The Salem Ad club yesterday listened to just this kind of an address delivered by Earl Bunting, marketing councillor of Portland. But Bunting's talk differed somewhat from most pep talks, his was filled with optimistic expressions and quotations.

And from Bunting comes the statement that Salem has nothing to worry about compared with other localities. He quoted a report of the General Motors Acceptance corporation which stated that Salem was in the best financial condition of any city of its size in the United States. Why not keep it that way and add to it by pepping up even more.

And just after Harry Plant paid $200 for the big elephant, the slayers of Portland's much talked of whale were fined $300 each. At any rate all parties had to pay $200, but Plant has the advantage of having something rather large to show for his investment. Particularly so when it is heard that Tusko originally brought $50,000.

American Legion of Salem, Irl S. McSherry; Veterans of Foreign Wars, B. H. Conley; Sons of Union Veterans, Glenn Adams; United Spanish War Veterans, A. T. Woolpert; Woman's Relief Corps, Mrs. Hattie Cameron; American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. M. J. Melchior; Auxiliary to Sons of Veterans, Mrs. Rush; Daughters of Union Veterans, Mrs. E. E. Bergman; Auxiliary to United Spanish War Veterans, Mrs. B. H. Conley.

In addition to the patriotic organizations to greet the Mothers Miss Beatrice Walton most graciously greeted the convention members as a representative of Governor Meier and Mayor M. F. Gregory extended a welcome in the name of the city of Salem.

Special music was given by Mrs. Harry Harms, the American Legion Auxiliary quartet, the Business and Professional Women's chorus, and the American Legion Drum corps.

Sweeping leaves represents about the greatest activity around the statehouse the past few weeks. But the sad feature is that there remains now nothing to show for the efforts. Even that is not confined alone to the statehouse grounds. Strong winds yesterday made short work of distributing the leaves equally on all laws.

Former State Senator Harry Corbett was reported to be a visitor at the capitol yesterday. His many friends in this section were glad to see the Portland man out again and feeling fit. Corbett suffered a heart attack several months ago while at Mount Hood, but has apparently fully recovered.

E. F. Slade, local banker and prominent of late in state government, says that news writers might just as well confine themselves to sports now as to news. Slade is an ardent football fan and likes all sports. Something important is occurring if Slade is not at a game anywhere in this section.

And speaking of football games, fans here were treated to a classic last night. Eldon Jenne, former star punter for Washington State and "Spec" Keene, former Oregon State athlete, are both darn good coaches and their teams are always good. A better pair of coaches would be hard to find in any man's conference.

Eldon Jenne, who is known as one of the finest athletes ever turned out and also a smart coach, perhaps would not appreciate publicity in the following, but pride makes it imperative to become personal. This writer roomed with Jenne for a year at Valhalla State, and knows that Jenne's reputation is well founded.

Jenne was a candidate for the Rhodes scholarship to attend Oxford in England, demonstrating he is not alone as athlete. The Pacific coach also attended the Olympic games in Belgium as a

Number of Men Registering For Jobs is Reduced

Emergency employment registration Thursday was lower than earlier in the week at the U. S. Y. M. C. A. Employment free bureau which is handling the work for the county court. Fifty-eight men were signed up, 65 percent of them single, and most of them from outside of Salem. On Wednesday 52 registered.

The bureau staff now is faced with the difficult problem of investigating all of the men registered to ascertain whether or not they are deserving on consideration in the emergency road and highway employment program. J. J. Devers, attorney for the state highway commission, yesterday in a letter requested Sim Phillips, bureau agent, to report to him the number of men registered who are now receiving aid from charitable organizations.

Archer Little Better, Report

Roy Gordon of Portland stopped yesterday at the Charles R. Archer, Implement company. He is a brother of Mrs. Archer and had just returned from a trip to Grants Pass, where he visited Archer who is ill at a mine there. He found Archer still sick and suffering from a bursting headache. He said he would return to Salem as soon as he is able. The affairs of the company were placed in the hands of a receiver last week.

Assessors Are Salem Visitors

Assessors from virtually every county in Oregon were here yesterday conferring with members of the state tax commission, with relation to tax ratios for the year 1932. The levy for 1932 will be announced late in December.

The assessors came to Salem from Corvallis, where they have been in session for two days.
