"No Favor Sways Us; No Fear Shall Awe" From First Statesman, March 28, 1851

THE STATESMAN PUBLISHING CO. CHARLES A. SPRAGUE, SHELDON F. SACKETT, Publishers CHARLES A. SPRAGUE - - - Editor-Manager SHELDON F. SACKETT - - - - Managing Editor

Member of the Associated Press The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publica-tion of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper.

Pacific Coast Advertising Representatives: Arthur W. Stypes, Inc., Portland, Security Bidg. San Francisco, Sharon Bidg.; Los Angeles, W. Pac. Blig.

Eastern Advertising Representatives: Ford-Parsons-Stecher, Inc., New York, Salmon Tower Bidg., 11 W. 42nd St.; Chicago, 360 N. Michigan Ave.

Entered at the Postoffice at Salem, Oregon, as Second-Class Matter. Published every morning except Monday. Business office, 215 S. Commercial Street.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

Mail Subscription Rates, in Advance. Within Oregon: Daily and Sunday, 1 Mo. 50 cents: 3 Mo. $1.25; 6 Mo. $2.25; 1 year $4.00. Elsewhere 50 cents per Mo., or $5.00 for 1 year in advance. By City Carrier: 45 cents a month; $5.00 a year in advance. Per Copy 2 cents. On trains and News Stands 5 cents

Pacifist Pledges

OU never can tell which way flaming youth will flame. Sometimes it goes in for sport roadsters and night clubs. Sometimes it goes in for high-powered religion. Sometimes it goes in for political reform, socialism or communism. A generation ago the student volunteer movement was in full flower and thousands were swept into foreign mission work under the spell of "evangelization of the world in this generation". Many a good man and woman buried themselves trying to convert Moslems and Hindus to occidental Christianity which now a good many of them are beginning to doubt

Now we have a new outlet for student enthusiasm in day battled University of Washpacifism. Sherwood Eddy is bell wether to those who take a ington to a 0 to 0 draw in the pledge they will never fight in any war. A small number of | football game on the Seattle field. Willamette students have signed this pledge and will let their brothers get killed if occasion arises and the country needs to frught on a Seattle gridiron. be defended. They regard all war as a sin, and propose to free themselves from its curse. It becomes a matter of conscience with them and they propose to keep their conscience morning was shot and killed at

Whether these consecrated young men will forget their turned the gun on himself with pledges like the European socialists in 1914, when the band fatal results. goes marching by we do not know. Some have attributed the downfall of the Roman empire to the Christianization of the army so the legions become poor fighters, their minds being set on the second coming and the new Jerusalem. But recent events attest the fact that the people of the world have not outgrown belligerency. As long as the fighting instinct prevails it has to be reckoned with. So long as there are religious and racial and political prejudices which easily in- was asserted last night by King flame human beings who still are controlled by their emotions | Kleagle L. B. Callaway of the rather than their reasoning, it is too early to declare that war | Oregon realm.

is a thing of the past. In the glow of youthful enthusiasm students are apt to raided Salem's Chinatown and in Missouri. be swept away by the appeal of passionate phrase-makers. confiscated quantities of opium, But a binding pledge is a dangerous adventure. One may not easily foresee the circumstances of the next quarter century. and a pint of yea-shee, opium pipe We hate war and hope never to see it again. But we want to rested. retain full liberty to grab a musket if the necessity arises.

Col. Bartram Experts Russia

OL. BARTRAM is at last in his element. This soldier of cats outplayed the Missionaries fortune, veteran of the wars, and "flax expert" is now in the first quarter but the Whittrying his hand in Russia with a program that calls for planting over four million acres in flax in Russia. Already the colonel has traveled from into the hinterland of the soviet union, has "lived with the peasants" and has "sensed the temper of soviet life". He has already prepared two "volumnious reports" on flax growing in Russia and proposes the immediate mechanization of the flax industry, according to an interview in the Moscow News.

We can well imagine the favor with which the colonel is received. Russia has a perfect frenzy for "mechanization" and for foreign "experts". The colonel, with his military manner, his crisp assertiveness, his flair for publicity along with his sense of the value of mystery should be the lion of the hour in Moscow.

The colonel knows how quickly to change masters. In this country his "out" last year was the wicked soviet which he asserted was dumping flax at ruinous prices. Here too he worked for a high protective tariff. Now in Russia the colonel gives prompt approval of the soviet program which he says "is going to revolutionize commerce as we have understood it in the past." He condemns tariffs as a great burden | dent: "Yes, I do; and I think it and an artificial barrier. His final summary represents the | will be so soon it won't even be supreme self-sacrifice for which the colonel was always funny. Say in another four

"I have always held that in the accomplishment of anything worth-while, one must make sacrifices and include the welfare of the people in any plans."

We shall watch with interest the reports of the colone's progress. We have not the slightest doubt that he will be growing flax all over Russia and that the flax-puller business will thrive wonderfully. And from a competitive standpoint we can only hope that all the Russian industries are in They never fall who died in the hands of similar "experts".

The season again for storms. And the papers tell of gales lashing coast, of storms in the north Atlantic. Heavy rains caused a landslide in the Panama canal, and shipping was tied up. A Greek steamer sank in the Bay of Biscay, a coastwise steamer piled up on the rocks of Point Reyes. Oregon felt a chill from the shifting of the scenes, snows coming in the mountains to form the backdrop of the winter picture. Depressions may come and go, but the weather continues forever, its moods and whims the occasion for sustained interest on the part of the public.

Weber A. Hattrem was sentenced to 8 years in the penitentiary following conviction on a charge of embezzling the assets of a financial company. That is due punishment for one of the financial racketeers who have robbed the people of the state in recent years. The pen has plenty of men who steal second-hand autos, forge fifty dollar checks; but there is still room for some of the silk-stockinged crooks who got away with teus of thousands of other people's money.

An organizer found enough suckers in Bend to form a "Twenty- pleting plans for the annual Thirty" club, -not cents, years. Eligibles are the young bloods actat homecoming autumn event. This 20-30. With the old clubs about ready for a receivership for age, year it will be held Thursday, obesity, non payment of dues, and intellectual poverty these fellows Nov. 19 and early plans give show their courage to start a new club. Still, the organizers will promise of its being an interesting probably get a meal ticket out of it as long as it lasts.

Theodore Dreiser goes to Kentucky to lecture editors and judges on law and ethics; but flouts the moral law and the statutes of Kentucky by cohabiting with a female. Dreiser is quite a literary bum. His stuff is prolix, dull, devoid of art. He has been merely a vogue; now he shows up a rogue. His trip did more harm than good to the their plans. The entertainment oppressed miners of Kentucky.

Congressman Beck says the farm relief scheme is dead. He doesn't realize the powers of survival of people in nice swivel chair jobs at ten thousand a year. We predict that farming will continue to be relieved (by the bureaucrats) for many long years to come.

The Nizam of Hyderbad with a two billion rating, paid a former caliph $200,000 cash and a million in jewels for his daughter and Egan. niece for wives for his sons. If wives come that high what would divorces be worth in Hyderbad?

Flowers have been bursting into bloom so fast on the board of trade and stock exchange we can't help but expect a sharp freeze before long. Remember the phrase from first year Latin: One bird does not make spring?

The president's brother-in-law got arrested on a liquor charge in southern California, And King Carol's brother eloped with a commoner. The great have their troubles too.

The Safety

Letters from Statesman Readers

Editor Statesman:

In this morning's issue of The Statesman, there appeared a brief item, in which I was quoted as saying that it would be a good thing for this country if three or four million Japanese and Chinese were killed in a war, or in other words "what difference would a slaughter of that kind make."

Whoever wrote the item misunderstood what I said, as my statement was not correctly reported. As I was using a telephone in The Statesman office last night, some person asked me what I thought of the impending war between the Japanese and Chinese.

I replied as follows: "If the Chinese and Japanese want to fight and kill off three or four million people that is their

I certainly made no statement, implied or otherwise, that I favored commercializing war to assist in rejuvenating business conditions in the United States. W. A. PETTIT.

Y esterdays . . . Of Old Salem

Town Talks from The Statesman of Earlier Days

November 12, 1906 Willamette university yester-It was said to be one of the most hotly contested battles ever

Benjamin Gholson yesterday his sleeping apartment by Victor E. D'Anna. The murderer then

The Marlon County Principals' club yesterday was organized at the teachers' institute here.

November 12, 1921 That the Ku Klux Klan is well organized in Salem and is recruiting members rapidly here

City police officers last night lamps and bowls,

Whitman college yesterday defeated Willamette university in football at Walla Walla, Wash., to the tune of 25 to 0. The Bearmanites came back strong.

New Views

Yesterday Statesman reporters asked this question: "Do you feel the United States will ever engage in another war?"

Stephen A. Stone, news man: 'Oh, I don't know. I hope not."

Irl S. McSherry, Capital Post No. 9, Legion commander: "I think as long as the United States is composed of individuals there is always possibility of another war. I think we ought to be prepared so as to prevent the useless sacrifice of thousands of

Vivian Douglass, Linfield stu-

R. Martig, laborer: "I'm too Busy thinking about the war to feed my family".

Daily Thought

great cause, The block may soak their gore, Their heads be sodden in the

Their limbs be strung to city gates or castle walls, But still their spirit walks abroad."-Burns.

SILVERTON, Nov. 11 - Tryhena Rebekah Lodge is com-affair.

A large number of out-of-town 'old-timers' are expected to return for the homecoming. Committees have been appointed and are at work outlining committee is composed of Pearl

Allen, Frances Gourli and Lois Riches. The refreshment committee is Myrtle Stewart, Mary Andrews and Ella Reed and these will choose their helpers. In charge of the decorations are Sylvia Alson a marked man, for certain death, at the hands of the proslavery crowd. The Browns hurried, that night, the moment they len, Faye Renwick and Alice heard the news, to the Dow-Bran-slippers. Travel is getting altogether too comfortable.

cause Huey (hooey) Long is coming up from Louisiana.

Gandhi has a goat and Grandi has a goatee. Portland is now finding out what its CHEST measure is. By EDSON

Tomorrow: Children's Clothes as Safety Measure in Traffic.

BITS for BREAKFAST

book:

as fast as their swift horses could

5 5 5

shoot, but he was ordered to put drew into a thicket to consult.

* * *

" 'I think Fred is right,' said blood unless it is positively neces-may get him away alive; but if

" 'Fall in!' came a clear, ringing voice from the house a quarter of a mile away." (The order-

Brown that it was a sheriff's pos-

" 'Lay low, boys, cock your was lined on both sides by the low bushels. The approaching horsemen were only 100 yards away-out and lain flat down in the road.

profitable.

requirements.

As the gray horse of the leader

MORTGAGES INVESTMENTS INSURANCE

Such an Investment

MUST BE

When the insurance companies loan MILLIONS on carefully appraised residential and farm properties, such an investment must be both safe and Yet, exactly the same type of properties secure the mortgages we can supply for your investment

Call on us, or phone 4109

Hawkins & Roberts, Inc.

Second Floor, Oregon Building, Salem

Brown:)

liness of the mob convinced John

-By R. J. HENDRICKS -

John Brown's son in Salem: * * * (Continuing from yesterday:)

HERE'S HOW

Salmon Brown, later a resident of Salem, then 19, son of John Brown, had whipped "Cap" Carver, a man of property and influence, whose ranch was across the Missuri river, 35 miles east; | walked briskly forward. On apa general rendexvous for all the proaching the house they found it chons eyes were blue. ruffians and rogues of that section. With his friends, the night | ed men, a full score in number. of the election, "Cap" Carver had driven off 14 head of cattle that belonged to the Browns, as salve for his broken nose and wounded feelings. The Browns trailed yards away. In a whisper he begtheir cattle to "Cap" Carver's sed his father for permission to place; demanded their property; got only threats of death; returned home and invoked too claimed they had no jurisdiction not have it. The five men with- raises a gun dies-my men are

A month before the election Governor Reeder of Kansas ter- man-that will drop five of them, the election 6113 votes were cast; few more-it's the only way, 1400 of them anti-slavery.

The dragon's teeth had been Browns appealed to Governor him out of the country,' said of Jones. Reeder. He was courteous; was Frederick. sorry, he said, and would write Captain Carver to return the stock, no doubt taken by mistake; driven off by his herdsmen. The s.ry. If they are taking Branson Browns talked. Their anti-slavery away we will rescue him, and we neighbors were stirred.

* * * The Brown sons wrote their fa- our one chance of saving him!" ther, at North Elba, N. Y. He was desperately poor, but he made copies of the letter, and sent it to abolition friends. They raised $1000 for him, besides enough to buy guns and ammunition to fill outfit, and started with his son, quoting the order of John Oliver, 16, for Kansas.

Old John Brown "interviewed" first, on Carver's side. But John Brown took back the stock be- as you can! The place where they bushes. longing to his sons, because he crouched was a hazel patch, not had convinced Carver that he 10 feet from the roadway, that would be hanged that night, if he refused. The original 14 cattle had been recruited with 12 horses belonging to the Brown boys. Old John Brown recovered them all.

All hell had been turned loose ince the election. The territory of Kansas was in the hands of pro-slavery men. Murder of antislavery men, and the burning of their homes, had been going on. Terror was in their ranks. They were nearly all on the point of giving up the unequal fight. Many of the most inoffensive of them had been surprised in their homes and flogged and warned to leave the territory, which they did, and others were on the point of going, fearing the same fats. The pro-slavery mobs were more wary with the men like the Browns, knowing they were armed and ready for a fight.

The bogus legislature passed a law making it a crime to attend abolition meetings. John Brown wrote a letter to Sheriff Jones. who lived at Westport, Mo., and was also the postmaster there, that he had attended abolitionist meetings at Osawatomie, and if his act was against the law, the sheriff was invited to come out and arrest him. Jones replied that if Brown considered himself guilty of breaking the law, he would better come in and give himself up. Jones added a polite postscript that he had his eye on the Browns and would look after their case later.

Charles Dow, favorite antislavery neighbor, was that day shot and killed. His partner, Jacob Branson, had witnessed the act. This, of course, made Branson home on the prairie, riding

An Englishman flew from England to Australia in his carpet

Sen. Caraway of Arkansaw is dead; but there is no net gain be-

While the newsboys shouted, 'All about the big gang killing," Smith's death . . . Fanchon Meredith and a man whom she had previously met of the boat coming from Hawaii, recognizes Fanchon. She is Evelyn Howard. Evelyn is going to live with the wealthy Mrs. Allison Carstairs, an aunt, whom she has never seen. Fanchon envies Evelyn flying to happiness, while she is trying to escape because she was Tony's girl-Tony, who lied his way through life and whom she had innocently accepted on face value. Fanchon began to grow frantic. To get confides in Evelyn about her love for Tony. The police are search- run about in strange and aimless ing for Fanchon, "The Mystery circles, avoiding always the car-Woman." Fanchon asks Evelyn nage and the wreckage. Had she ing a position for her, but Eve- it would have occupied her. But crashes, Fanchon is the only do. survivor.

CHAPTER VI If "Miss Smith" had died Tony could never find her again, never come to claim her. If "Miss Smith" had died the whole dreadful time of panic, the hunted days, would be forgotten. would be as if they had never existed.

Could not Miss Smith die? thought Fanchon, who lived. She looked down at her arm. Evelyn Howard said the small black letters sewn neatly on the handkerchief, small black symbols, avenues of escape.

Evelyn was dark of hair, she had blue eyes-and her hair was dabbled now with a crimson stain, her eyes were closed.

carry them. Quoting the Hubbard Evelyn was twenty-four. Fanchon a scant two years younger. "The men (the Browns) dis-They were the same height, the same slender build although Fanmounted and leaving the six chon's figure was beauty itself horses in charge of Oliver, they separated, 20 feet apart, and She thought rapidly, looking surrounded by a cordon of mount-away from the other girl-If I go to New York-as Eve-

"Salmon cocked his gun and Mrs. Carstairs does not know her drew a bead on a horseman who niece, Could I play the part ofstood out against the sky, not 50 an imposter? In that case, Miss Smith would down his gun. Then he wanted to of the party was almost upon him. kill the horse—it would create a he arose like a shadow and called: law. But the sheriff and judge panic! But no, John Brown would 'Halt!' . . . The first man who lying all about here, with cocked rifles drawn on you!" " "'Let each one of us pick his ritory had caused a census to be and the rest will likely scamper. | called:) " 'My men can kill evtaken; it showed 2905 voters. At | Then as they run we can get a ery one of you in 10 seconds, if I give the word-here, Salmon, hold your rifle on Mr. Jones, and "'No, if we shoot, they will kill move out in the road!' A tall form Branson. It's barely possible they arose and the moon sent a gleam sown. The Missouri slave holders only want to arrest him, and of light across the gun barrel that had overplayed their hands. The scare him thoroughly, then order | was pointed straight at the breast

" 'Don't shoot! don't shoot!' the father. 'We must shed no pleaded Jones in a trembling "'Now, where is Branson?' de manded John Brown. "'Here I am,' came a voice we begin to shoot now, we spoil from the center of the group of horsemen "'Ride forward, Branson.'

"'I can't-I'm tied and a man is holding my mule."

"'For Christ sake, back there, turn that mule loose and give the brute a kick to send it forward; I a wagon, disguised as a surveying se. Reading on from the book, am looking down a gun, groaned Sheriff Jones . .

" 'Hold your rifle on Jones, Salmon, and bore him through the guns, and under no condition heart if a man in the line makes Captain" Carver. Very polite in- shoot until they do. At the first a move. Brown took hold of the terview it was. Very stormy at sign they give of fight, pour in lariat that was around the mule's the lead on 'em and kill as many neck and led the animal into the

" 'Hold your bead on him, Salmon! Steady, boys, don't shoot unless they try it first! Now, Jones! Forward-d-d m-m-march! The posse moved forward as one 75-50. Old man Brown had left rider . . . Old man Brown put his his rifle in the bushes and crawled | ear to the ground; the fast receding hoof-beats were a mile away." (Continued tomorrow.)

named Tony planned their geta- the future. She considered few because he desired her and had way. Tony gives Fanchon $4,000 of the pitfalls and dangers that kept that desire in check, but beand reserves passage for her un- would surround her. She was in- cause new, she knew too much. der the name of "Miss Smith" on tent only on the present. On get- She was, in her own person, irrean airplane chartered by the ting away—as Evelyn Howard . . . vocably committed to Tony. If he wealthy Mr. Eames enroute to on reaching New York and safety found her, if he demanded that New York, A fellow passenger, and security—as Evelyn Howard she marry him and she refused, ity, she might, she thought, dis- knew, crafty, vindictive, striking appear again . . . escape once more . . . go perhaps far out of the country . . . and begin life all over again . . . For an hour she had been sit-escape presented itself to her she suspicions and his demands.

and blood stained. She laid it was with them. over Evelyn. She started to walk was alone.

hick circle of trees and struggled | hands together. to the top of a small hill. Smoke later there must be a road. could.

underbrush. Trees would hem her through ,there would be a stretch | ment. of open ground.

The tears fell; her eyes were blind with them. She was thinking, frantically. Dare I . . .? shall . . .? but I must!

Death and disaster had arrangand Evelyn's passable only. But ed for her an amazing escape. If Fanchon's hair was dark and Fan- she dared go through with it. Did their useless paraphernalia of she dare?

> than to be hunted from pillar to questions as fully and as steadily shrinking from every uniformed die; and Evelyn Howard would representative of the law; fearing live. Tony would hear of Miss to see Tony again. If Tony once found her he would never let her She did not look very far into go; not only because he loved her, she would have no peace, could After that after a time of secur- feel no safety. Tony was, she now from the dark, concerned only with the dangerous, selfish laws he had made and with no other. But in the person of Evelyn Howard, with "Miss Smith" dead, ting here, half kneeling, in the she was safe . . . for all time . . . soaking rain, not caring. Now that from Tony and his ardous, his

She had been walking, how to her feet; to shout feebly; to long-? ten minutes . . .? twenty minutes-? half an hour-? when the rescue party found her. Farmers they were, from the districts to enlist her aunt's aid in secur- been able to help, to do anything, outlying the small town, the smoke of which she had seen. lyn becomes aloof. The plane there was nothing that she could They came across the fields and through the underbrush, having She took off the light coat, the left their cars on the country weed coat, it was soaked road. They carried stretchers, rethrough, it was torn and muddy storatives, bandages. A doctor

She heard their volces, she away. But there was no road, heard them crashing through a There was no path. She was lost little thicket just ahead. She ran as if she were in a desert and she toward the blessed sound of human tones, human footsteps. She She struck out away from the called. She sobbed, she beat her

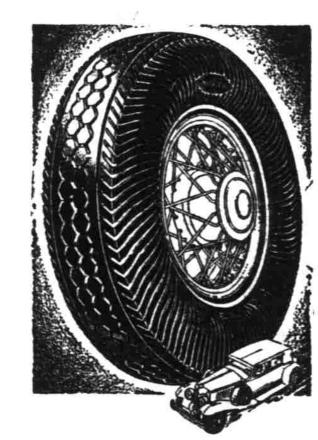

The men came suddenly out instained the sky, far off. There to the clearing and Fanchon must be a town there, sooner or stumbled and fell helplessly into the arms of the leader. "I must She would walk as long as she not faint' 'she thought, and struggled violently back to life. "I She stumbled along, through can't faint now."

"It's a woman!" one said in, trees would part and let her blankly swearing with astonish-

She said, choking-"All dead-but me-" pointed her hand shaking in the direction from which she had

The majority of the men went on, hurrying with their stretchers, mercy. Two stayed behind with She would. Anything rather Fanchon. She answered their (Continued on page 9)

Have YOU Seen

The Western Giant Super Whipcord

America's Most Distinctive Tire . . !

... the tire that is revolutionizing motoring. ... It beautifies any car ... it harmonizes with the snappy lines of new car bodies and modernizes older cars . . . and . . .

Your Absolute Satisfaction Is Assured By This Sweeping GUARANTEE..!

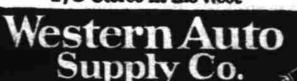

Super Whipcord Tires Are Guaranteed to: Ride Easier Wear Longer

Steer Easier Stand More Abuse Provide Greater Safety Provide Better Side-Wall Protection Provide Better Traction on Wet Pavements, in deep sand and mud.

Super Whipcord Tires . . . are also guaranteed without time limit, against blow-outs, bruises, rim cuts or failures from any defect; and to give you more mileage than any other tire you have ever used. Should adjustment be necessary, It will be made on a service charge basis, guaranteed to be Satisfactory To You. . !

Come in and see the Western Giant SUPER WHIPCORD tire today, and learn about our money-saving Introductory Trade-In Allowence on your old tires . . . SEE SUPER WHIPCORDS TODAY. . . . !

170 Stores in the West-

Salem Store, 201 N. Commercial Tel. 7177