National Head Will Come West

Interesting word has been received by Mrs. Madalene Callison concerning the eastern Oregon district meeting of the Oregon Business and Professional Women's club, which will be held at The Dalles Sunday, November 22.

Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowan, national president of the Business and Professional Women's Federation, elected at the July national federation meeting in Richmond, Va., will be a guest at this meeting.

Although Mrs. Bowan is well known through her activities in connection with the Federation, she has never been in the west and it will be the first time for most of the state club members to meet her.

The district conference will convene at 8:30 o'clock in The Dalles hotel for a breakfast meeting with Mrs. Martha Gasch, state president, presiding.

A business session will follow the breakfast and an open forum will be held.

A luncheon will be given and at this Mrs. Carolyn Logan, president of The Dalles club, will preside.

A round table discussion will be held and the leaders will be heads of standing state committees, which are: Emblems, Mrs. Alice M. Crabtree, McMinnville; extension, Miss Ellen B. Riddess, Marshfield; program, Mrs. Leona C. Bryant, Coquille; finance, Miss Emma Broderick, Portland; education, Mrs. Harriet Underwood, Eugene.

Health, Mrs. Edith Stoddard; speakers' bureau, Miss Martha Olga Goldapp, Portland; membership, Mrs. Belle Gould, Coquille; public affairs and international relations, Mrs. Alice Coppin, Medford; legislation, Miss Agnes Brown; forward committee, Miss Dorra N. Sexton, The Dalles; magazine, Miss Merle Hollister, Corvallis.

There will be a musical program presented and Mrs. Bowman will be the speaker of the day.

Public Spirited Women Are Joining for Red Cross Work

Social life will stand aside for the next two weeks while its followers give their full time to the work of the American Red Cross roll call which will start with 9 o'clock committee meetings of all workers, Thursday morning.

The town has been divided into districts, residential and business, and a chairman has been placed in each district. Under the chairmen are captains and workers. These women will call upon the citizens of Salem and acquaint them with the work and aims of the Red Cross and give the public of Salem an opportunity to become members of the national organization which at all times serves unflinchingly humanity, be it suffering from a sudden catastrophe or from the present economic situation.

All money given for memberships, be it a sustaining membership of $25 or a regular $1 membership will stay in Salem save 50 cents of it, which is sent to national headquarters of the Red Cross.

If the individual is not able to give money for membership he will be able to become affiliated with the organization through work to be done, or any material aid that he may be able to give other than money.

Thus all may be associated in the one large organization each helping in his own way.

The business district for the membership roll call has been divided into small divisions and a group of women put in charge of each division. With Front street on the west and High street on the east the business district has been divided as follows: Ferry street to Trade, Mrs. Gus Hixon and Mrs. P. D. Quisenberry; from Ferry street to State, Mrs. Prince Byrd and Mrs. H. K. Stookwell.

From State street to Court street, Mrs. W. Connell Dyer, Mrs. Thomas Holman, Mrs. Paul Hendricks, and Mrs. T. A. Roberts. From Court street to Chemeketa, Mrs. Richard Stoltz, Mrs. Willard Marshall, Mrs. Gordon Hadley, Mrs. Bryman Balse; Chemeketa street to Center, Mrs. Frederick Lampert and Mrs. D. A. Young.

From Center to Marion street, Mrs. Ernest Thom, and Mrs. H. G. Mason; Trade to Chemeketa between High and Church street.

Orchestra Holds Second Concert

Works of Brahms, Ravel and Berlioz are included in the program for the coming second concert of the Portland Symphony orchestra, at the auditorium next Monday night. Willem van Hoogstraten, conductor of the orchestra, believes the program chosen will be fully as brilliant as that of the opening concert, which so well pleased the huge audience.

The symphony will be the Brahms No. 1, long a favorite with Portland's musical audience. The Berlioz contribution will be excerpts from the "Damnation of Faust", still popular after a career of more than 100 years, and Ravel's "Le Tombeau de Couperin" will be presented.

"The Damnation of Faust" is well known to Portland, but the Ravel number will be presented by Mr. van Hoogstraten for the first time. This is a tribute to the old French composer, whose unusual progressions have had such an influence on the modern French school. Ravel, whose name almost is synonymous with modern French music, recognizes the influence of the old master, and his suite is almost a paraphrase of the style of the period.

The success of the Bach-Respi-gli, "massacaglia", a feature of the opening program, has led Mr. van Hoogstraten to include it as one of the numbers for the matinee program of November 22, the first of the matinee series.

in the Red Cross and wanting to understand more of its work will be welcomed. A. L. Schaeffer, Pacific district manager of the American Red Cross, will speak; Mrs. Mary Pulker, county superintendent of schools, will tell of the work of the junior Red Cross in schools; Mrs. Juanita Johnson will speak on first aid; Charles Gile will discuss the activities of the Red Cross in promoting a knowledge of swimming.

Smith, Mrs. Margaret LeFurgy, Mrs. William McGilchrist, Jr., Mrs. George A. White, Mrs. Homer Goulet and Mrs. Romeo Goulet.

The Armistice day program given by the November committee of the Rebekah lodge, Mrs. Louis King, Mrs. Edith Townsend and Miss Wilda Siegmund, was a splendid success. The lodge rooms were decked in bunting and flags in compliment to the keynote of the program. Numbers were given representative of the patriotic organizations of the city.

Taking part were Mrs. S. McSherry, commander of Capital post, American Legion, who gave the address of the evening; Evelyn Hesseman; Sons of Union Veterans quartet; a representative of the G. A. R.; tableau by War Mothers and Woman's Relief corps; Mrs. Arthur Johnson, representing American Legion auxiliary; Mrs. Emma Hams, representing aviation Army and Veterans of Foreign Wars; Lyman McDonald from the American Legion; Mrs. Emma Chless and Mrs. Carrie Chase, representing United Spanish War veterans.

Young People Hold Parties

Young people of college age in the various churches of Salem will gather Friday evening in their respective churches for their first monthly "church night."

The fact that the first of those recently arranged nights falls on Friday of the thirteenth has made it unnecessary to search for a motif. The university Epworth league of the First Methodist church is planning a hard times-depression party with prizes offered for the most dilapidated articles of wearing apparel and the longest boards. Frank Haley, Willamette sophomore, has planned the party.
