METHODISTS HOLD DISTRICT SESSION

Support for Prohibition is Pledged at Meeting in Dallas Wednesday

About 140 men were in attendance at the first meeting of the Northern Willamette valley district M. E. Brotherhood, held Wednesday night at the Methodist church in Dallas. The meeting went on record unanimously in favor of upholding the 18th amendment and all members pledged themselves to use their influence in and around their localities looking toward a campaign in favor of the law.

All the Salem churches were represented by large delegations. The main subject under consideration was "Who will Support the Church of the Future?" The discussion took wide latitude and included the relations of young men, middle aged men and older men to the church; the relation and duty of the church to its members and constituents and the position occupied by the church in reference to the upbuilding of the community.

The members in attendance were divided into three groups and meetings were held separately by each group, under the leadership of Dist. Supt. M. A. Marcy of Salem, Reverend W. S. Gleiser of Newberg, Reverend C. L. Anderson of Canby.

It is the plan of the district officers to hold four such meetings annually. The next will be held on the second Wednesday in January, but the place of meeting has not been determined.

Attorney O. W. Emmons of Salem is president of the district brotherhood and Professor Roy M. Lockenour of Willamette university is secretary.

GIRLS REPAY ALL OF FUNDS LOANED

Don't loan your money to a college man if you can find a coed who wishes to draw from your loan fund! That is of course if you wish to get your money hard.

The members who remain on the board, the same since the first of the year, some having been attending for many years, are Governor Julius L. Meier, Secretary Hal E. Hoss, Dr. R. E. Lee Steiner of the state hospital, Dr. McNary of the Eastern Oregon State hospital, Dr. Byrd of the feeble-minded institution, Dr. Ballinger of the state tuberculosis hospital, Dr. Steed of the deaf school and Mrs. Patterson of the girls' industrial school.

And speaking of Dr. Steiner, he appeared at the state house yesterday with a black mustache. He says he was ordered because of a sore upper lip not to shave, but this sounds like just an excuse. He says this is the first time he has appeared with one in 40 years.

The public utilities commission is still working hard on which it is reported is a stupendous task because of the Complaints concerning the sanitary sewer on Kearney and Owens streets apparently have been settled with the reconstruction recently completed. Hugh Rogers, city engineer, reported that no complaints were made during the recent heavy rain storm, although the sewer in other years had caused much complaint.

The city council several weeks ago received complaints concerning the sewer and ordered its reconstruction. The old 8-inch pipe was removed and replaced with 10 and 12-inch pipe.

Choice Pullets Are Stolen at Crozer's Farm

Chicken thieves entered the hen house on T. Crozer's Polk county farm sometime Wednesday night and made off with about four dozen choice pullets, Crozer reported yesterday morning.

He found tracks through shrubbery on the chickenhouse, and could see where the thieves had slid down the embankment to the road. He found one empty gunny sack.

Under the Dome . . .

WELL, if you are not superstitious this day won't bother you any. But for those who may be just a little bit inclined that way, it must be pointed out that this is Friday the thirteenth. Incidentally this is the last day of this kind for the remainder of the year, there were two others, so watch your stop.

There have been but few times since the first of this year that a new face or a missing one has not been noted at the regular monthly meetings of the state board of control. The personnel of the organization has had a rapid change, and while there are a few who have been present for years, there have been many changes.

At the meeting yesterday at which all heads of state institutions were present, this fact was particularly noticeable. The personnel of these meetings has likewise been noted as another absentee within a short time. The absentee yesterday was Mrs. Kay Roberts, whose position has been consolidated with the blind school.

The first important change this year was the death of Thomas B. Kay, whose place as state treasurer and member was taken by Rufus C. Holman. Then Henry Meyers was eliminated and James Lewis represents the state penitentiary at these monthly sessions. Carl Abrams followed, succeeded by William Einzig secretary and state purchasing agent.

But the changes did not stop here. It was not long before Superintendent Howard of the blind school was replaced by Walter Dry, who now holds two positions, that also of the blind employment school at Portland. The most recent change is that of superintendent of the state training school for boys.

Sam Laughlin was here in that role yesterday, succeeding W. H. Baillie. The other one who will be missing from meetings of the state board is the superintendent of the state soldiers home at Roseburg. His position will be automatically dropped when the national government takes over the soldiers' home.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL IS STARTED

Salem's part in the national Red Cross roll call for membership which began Thursday appears promising as reported by the two general chairmen, Mrs. Frits Slade for the residence district and Mrs. Curtis Cross for the business district.

Public spirited women of Salem to the number of near 200 were out to acquaint the Salem public with the needs, aims and activities of the Red Cross and to secure memberships to this humanitarian organization which gives aid in time of disaster and misfortune.

A luncheon at noon with covers for about 30 further unified the idea of the Red Cross and inspired greater interest in the broad work of the organization in the city. Judge George Rossmann presided and talks were made by Miss Thora Boesen, local head of the Red Cross, Charles Gill and A. L. Shaeffer, Pacific coast director of the Red Cross activities.

Most enthusiastic welcome is being extended the workers and as one member of the downtown committee said, "People act really
