EUGENE CLASH FIGURED EVEN

Washington Also has Civil War; Southern Teams To Take it Easy

By RUSSELL NEWLAND
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13 (AP)—Traditional rivalries, involving state titles, will have their annual renewal tomorrow in the north section of the Coast conference while southern members of the circuit engage in easier contests, meanwhile pointing for stiff competition a week later.

Washington's Huskies and Washington State's Cougars, old time gridiron enemies, will clash at Seattle with state honors involved. They will line up on comparatively easy terms. Each has lost two conference games. A basis of comparison was found in the results of their meetings with California. The Bears defeated Washington State 13-7, and Washington, 13-9.

Eugene, Oregon State and Oregon will come together in their yearly classic that not only will decide the 1931 state title but will earn for the winner the right to play the University of Utah in a post season charity game, at Portland, Dec. 1.

Eugene Game is Figured Toss-up
Observers figure the contest as a toss-up, although Oregon State has been defeated the times in conference play whereas Oregon has dropped one conference game. Each was defeated by Southern California, Oregon state by a 30-0 count and Oregon, 53-0.

With the conference title all but tucked away, Southern California's Trojans were not anticipating much difficulty with Montana's Grizzlies, defeated four times to date this season. California's Bears will meet Idaho's Vandals, at Berkeley in a conference affair.

Stanford will have a "breather," playing Nevada at Palo Alto. With but little opposition promised, Coach Glenn Warner plans to give his Stanford substitutes a chance.

CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 13 (AP)—Prepared for a wet battle, Oregon State's Beavers will leave for Eugene tomorrow for their annual battle with their traditional foe, the Oregon Webfoots.

The Oregon State eleven is in good condition, Coach Paul J. Schisler said, and is ready for any kind of weather and any field condition.

Schisler said his starting lineup would have Davis and Curtin at ends, Miller and Byington at tackles, Cox and Borgeson at guards, Captain Buck Hammer at center, Blanche at quarter, Joslin and Moe at halfback positions and Little at full.

MARSHFIELD WILL OPPOSE JEFFERSON
PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 13 (AP)—Marshfield's high school football team will come to Portland Thanksgiving day to play Jefferson high, winner of the 1931 Portland interscholastic league championship.

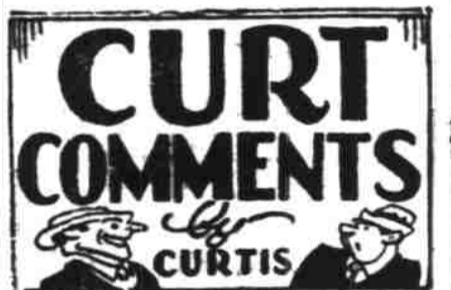

The announcement was made today by Hopkins Jenkins, Jefferson principal. After a meeting of the league officials here today an invitation was telegraphed to Marshfield. Promptly the answer came back:

"Sure, that's just what we have wanted all the time."
Marshfield has an impressive record of 15 consecutive victories. Jefferson is in the same line, having won six consecutive games. The winner of the game probably will claim the Oregon state high school championship.

CURT COMMENTS

Nothing that we can recall has ever quite equalled the roar of applause for Walt Erickson that rolled out from both sides of the Sweetland field gridiron Armistice day when Walt started trotting for the gymnasium after completing his day's work. That roar came just as unanimously from the Salem people on the north side of the field, as from the students on the south side.

And it may be that some came from the Linfield rooting section, which probably decided that at that moment the armistice took effect.

We've been careful not to mention Walt much this season because it's impossible to keep his name out of the stories about what happens in the games. We'll defy anybody to try it, or to recall a game in the last three seasons when it would have been possible.

Ordinarily you'd expect a ball carrying specialist, for whom the other boys clear the way, to be something like the one featured in "The Spirit of Notre Dame," willing to grab all the glory and going out of his way to gather in more. We guess the public around here knows there's nothing of that style about Erickson. That's just an added reason for his popularity.

No doubt that's also the reason the boys are always ready to cut holes for Walt to drive through. Of course this year he's not the only ball carrier in there; he gets to do some hole cutting for the others. But if it hadn't been for Erickson, Willamette's record the last three seasons would undoubtedly have been something quite different. And that's why we're making an exception this morning and giving some credit to a fellow who gets lots of it anyway.

Wrestlers sometimes split the first two falls but they're pikers compared to the Frosh and the Rooks:

FOOTBALL SCHOOL
"Shock troops" in football are second or third string players, usually a complete backfield, sent in at the start of a game rather than the regulars. The popular supposition is that this is done principally to save the regulars for a scoring drive when they will have the advantage of freshness over the opposition. Another unstressed factor is that the opposition may be demoralized on seeing the big stars come on the field after the lesser players have held them even.

Both of these things are true but the chief reason for letting the first string men be spectators at the opening of the game, is to give them a chance to size up the enemy's defense while the coach and quarterback map out a campaign of attack based on what they see.

It is probably unnecessary to add that it is fatal to send shock troops into a close game unless they are practically as good as the regulars on defense, and have a good punter.

Question—What is the basic principle followed in designing a set of football signals?

OREGON FROSH SWAMP ROOKS

Score Seven Touchdowns in Second Clash; Stater Lads get Three

CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 13 (AP)—A fast clicking University of Oregon freshman team swamped the Oregon State Rooks, 43 to 20, on a rain soaked field here tonight.

The Frosh scored two touchdowns in each of the first three periods and one in the last quarter but made only one conversion in attempting to run the ball over.

The bright spot in the Rooks' game was a touchdown runback of the opening kickoff by Franklin, quarterback. He repeated his performance after the first Frosh score to give the Rooks the lead, 14 to 13, at the end of the first quarter. The Rooks' other counter came as the result of a blocked kick, Pangle recovering the ball for the touchdown.

Pepejak, Brown Big Running Stars
The Oregon freshmen tore great holes in the Rook line almost at will, making repeated runs of from five to fifteen yards with Pepejak and Brown carrying the brunt of the offensive.

The Rooks' defense was negligible in the first two strong stands in the last half when they held the Frosh for downs within the ten yard line.

The Frosh made 24 first downs to two for the Rooks and piled up 477 yards from scrimmage to 52 to the Staters.

LESLIE DRUBS HEAVIER TEAM

Comes From Behind to win 21 to 13; Oregon City Game Hard Fought

Blossoming in the second half, Leslie junior high school won its final grid battle, 21 to 13, from the Oregon City junior high after trailing 6 to 0 at half time in a muddy battle at Oregon City Friday.

Coach Gurnee Fleisher was well satisfied with the showing made against the heavy Oregon City aggregation. "There were no stars," said Fleisher, "they all played great ball." What some lacked in ball carrying, they made up in tackling and blocking.

The South Salem lads entered the second half of the game at the short end of a 6-0 score on a muddy field against a heavier team. Oregon City had marched for a touchdown on power plays at the beginning of the contest.

Leslie's interferences became inspired and cleared big holes for the oval transporters and Burns scored twice on short end runs, one a 20-yard jaunt and the other a 30 "ike" Burns also bucked the line for one extra point.

Near the close of the contest, Mason intercepted a pass and galloped 40 yards for a touchdown. This time DeLaney smashed across for the extra point. Mason had been shifted to end for this contest.

Just as the game ended DeLaney caught one of Elliott's passes on the River Raft 10-yard line and another score was imminent as the final gun spoke.

Staples, the only one of the team who will return next year, was highly praised by Fleisher for his blocking in the contest. Burns was also handed a bouquet for his hard hitting.

The lineup included Mason and Grabenhorst, ends; Hastings and Cottow, tackles; Anderson and Conger, guards; Hobbs, center; Elliott, quarterback; Staples and DeLaney, halfbacks, and Burns, fullback. Traiglo replaced Grabenhorst at end for about half the game. Giese played tackle in place of Hastings part of the game and Hastings worked in the backfield. Coach Fleisher stated that no

Pacific Defeats Albany College

ALBANY, Ore., Nov. 13 (AP)—Pacific university, held scoreless in the first half, found new life in the second half and defeated Albany college, 20 to 0, in a football game here today.

Pacific's three touchdowns all came in the third period.

EVERETT, Wash., Nov. 13 (AP)—George Wilson, former University of Washington football star, and Bob Kruse, Portland, wrestled to a draw decision tonight when both were knocked out and unable to return to the ring in the fourth round.

SALEM HIGH FACES ALBANY TILT NEXT

Coach Hollis W. Huntington rested his Salem high gridsters Thursday following their tough game with Eugene high, and then ordered a mud practice Friday on Olinger field.

Some of the men were not on hand, but most of the regulars were. Preparations are now being made for the Albany game which will be one of the two remaining home contests. It will be played on Olinger field November 21.

Albany always has had a stubborn bunch of football men and they take great delight in trying to upset Salem. Albany high playing a 6 to 7 contest with Corvallis, the team that outshone Salem completely when it came to scoring, in an early season contest.

Albany has a stellar line and will give the red and black plenty of competition. The town of Albany is squarely behind its team with a lengthy editorial devoted to Coach Ellingsen's men.

The Salem high line has been improving lately and played a good game at Eugene.

DAKOTA REVENGED ON INDEPENDENCE

DAKOTA, Nov. 13—The Dallas reserves evened things with Independence here Friday when they took advantage of the breaks and won over the Independence second string 14 to 0.

The game was played on a muddy field and was a real battle. The teams were evenly matched and if the breaks hadn't been for Dallas they would have probably fought to a scoreless tie.

Dallas scored in the opening quarter when Frack took an independence kick on his own 10 yard line and ran for a touchdown. The other came in the second half when Lewis intercepted a pass and went 60 yards for the touchdown. Neither try for point was successful but a safety for Dallas in the second quarter brought the score to 14 to 0.
