Trojans Head for South Bend and Notre Dame Contest

Irish Well Supplied With Fullbacks Even Though Melinkovich Hurt

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17-(AP)-Coach Howard Jones-

head man to all Trojans-has no misgivings about the Notre Dame football team the University of Southern California squad meets at South Bend.

"There is every reason to believe," he said before departing late today with his staff of five assistants and a team of 36 men "that the team we buck up against Saturday is much stronger than the one which trounced us 27 to 0 last year.

"On the other hand, there is nothing to indicate that my boys are any better than they were that day Knute Rockne's eleven made us look so bad. Psychology Stuff

Makes No Kardage

"But we are not falling for any of Coach Hunk Anderson's psychology stuff. I think George Melinkovich is probably the best fullback in the country, but if he is definitely out of the game as they say he is, I am sure that Notre Dame has any one of about eight fullbacks who can easily fill his shoes.

"We heard too much about fullbacks and saw too much of one Bucky O'Connor last year, to give Hunk much fear before this game. From what my scouts have seen of the so-called Irish, I don't see why we should shed any tears in their behalf."

Jones wasn't willing to say much about his team, either offensively or defensively, but admitted that he probably could have used a couple of good ends this season.

Suffered Injury

Don Faber, who suffered a broken leg in the Albany College football game two years ago, will be in the starting lineup Friday when the Bearcats attempt to upset the Pirate's sloop on Sweetland field which may be a lake by then if the rain continues.

Coach Keene has announced that Faber, Paul, Frants and Ross will probably be the starting backfield and that he has definitely decided Faber shall start. Don Faber went to high school in Central Point, Ore., where football was not played. In his second year as a Bearcat he hit his stride on the gridiron and in the Albany college game had just started rolling. His speed and basketball ability combined to assist him in playing halfback and he made several long gains in that contest. In the second period, Faber intercepted an Albany pass, wormed and dodged through the team and was almost free when two Albany players took him, one from behind. His 60 yard jaunt was ended and in the pileup that ensued he received a broken leg. Had Tough Time With Injured Leg Due perhaps to his abundant vivaciousness, he used the leg too soon after it had been set and it slipped, requiring a resetting. Last year he made but little headway in football.

This season he seems to have regained his previous form and did some nice work in the game against Columbia. An injured shoulder has handicapped him some since then, but he is back in the running now. He will enter Friday's game with confidence and endeavor to make up for lost time occasioned by his setback two years ago. Speeding up of plays occupied most of the time in Tuesday night's practice on Sweetland field where the pools of water and a wet ball offered excellent practice in avoiding "mud" fum-

Reed Harris, editor-in-chief of the Spectator, Columbia University (New York) daily newspaper, whose strongly worded editorials accus-ing collegiate football of being a "semi-professional racket" have started a tempest in university gridiron circles, has promised that even though he was threatened by Ralph Hewitt (inset) with a "beating up" he will continue to expose "paid athletes." Hewitt is captain of the 1931 Columbia football team.

SOON, STAYTON

Broussard has just changed his residence from Texas to Oregon and has not met any of the good lightweights in this vicinity, but in the south fought such top notchers as Mike Genero of Louisiana, Jimmy Wayne, Cliff O'Dell. Brooks Hooper and Pedro Arveza. For the semi-final French has lined up Red Hayes. Stayton's well known scrapper, with Ray Brown of Yakima, who has fought main events at The Dalles and elsewhere.

Two of the four-rounders will feature Rusty Arthur of Silverton against Tom Winslow of Aumsville, and Frank Arthyr of Silverton against Al Archer of Stayton. There will be some other fourround mixes.

French has also been in touch with the Albany boxing commission and may be invited to stage card there. He has had considerable experience in promoting fight programs, both in Oregon and in the middle west.

AUMSVILLE, Nov. 17-Aumsville high school's football team defeated the Silverton high second team 9 to 0 here Friday. The lone touchdown for Aumsville was scored in the second period when Morgan ran 60 yards on a reverse play, after which a penalty fo unnecessary roughness put the ball on the one-foot line and Hankle plunged over for six points and passed to Morgan for the extra point.

Early in the third period Coach Howard Long's fighting - team went down under a punt and tackled the receiver, behind the goal line for a safety. Morgan, Wilcox and Hankle did most of the ball carrying while the Aumsville line outplayed the heavier Silverton forwards. Strom, quarterback, Orren, full, and Capenter, tackle, were outstanding for the visitors.
