

Chemawa Game Today Ends Careers of 10 Salem Gridmen

INDIANS TO PUT UP 6000 FIGHT

Gilmore's Effort to Catch Ball Dropped off Plane
Feature at 2 p. m.

STARTING LINEUP

Salem	Chemawa
Reed	LE
Bennett	LT
Fisher	LG
Sanford	RG
Coffey	RT
Olsen	RT
Cross	RE
Perrine	Q
Sugai	RH
McCaffery	LH
Weisser	P
	Christnot

Five of the 11 starting Salem high players in today's game are playing their last football for Salem high and five more of the reserves who are almost certain to see action, are also slated to graduate.

These Salem high players realize that their season has not been anything wonderful, and are now planning to finish in style against the Chemawa Indians at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The finishing men realize that the last game leaves a lasting impression with the sport fans and are out to write Salem high history in bold red and black letters today.

Vernon Gilmore will attempt to catch the football dropped from an airplane at the start of the day's program. He realizes the slim chance he will have to catch the pellet unless the toss is made just the right moment. This will be the first time such a feat has been attempted in this section and perhaps in the United States.

Chemawa System
New to Chemawans
The Salem high players will be facing a new style of play in today's game and do not know yet what the offense of Coach Lavelle's team will be. However, with the defensive power of the backfield strengthened, long runs should not materialize.

The backfield starting for the Chemawans has drive and almost everything that a backfield should contain. Weisser, Sugai and McCaffery can all hit the line for necessary short gains and all are savage tacklers. McCaffery and Sugai are also speedy men and capable of going for long gains if given half a chance.

Facing Last Game
Perrine is a good broken field runner, though he has lacked the drive of the other backs in the past. He is also a fair passer and punter, though his punts are not gotten away very hastily. Perrine will be the safety man in today's game.

Rein Olsen will play tackle in place of his brother Emil who has a sprained wrist. Otherwise the forward wall will be the same as has been used in the last few games.

The men in the starting lineup who will finish their careers today are Jim Reed, end and captain; Glen Sanford, center; Bennett, Pete McCaffery and "Hank" Cross. Others who are finishing are Chuck Reed, E. Olsen, Scheibner, Sachtler and Sunderman.

BETHEL TROUNCES MONMOUTH QUINT

MONMOUTH, Nov. 25.—Monmouth high school's hoop squad met defeat last night in a game here with Bethel high, score 23-12. Monmouth was severely handicapped by the absence of Bud Henkle, star forward who was ill with a cold. Also C. Wilson, forward, could not play except during the last half due to a leg injury.

The game throughout was rather one-sided, with Bethel leading. Freeman of Bethel was high pointer with 11; and Christensen of Bethel made 10 points.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL TODAY

Teams	Score
Pennsylvania vs. Cornell at Philadelphia	7-13
Brown vs. Colgate at Providence	0-27
Pittsburgh vs. Nebraska at Pittsburgh	0-0
New York University vs. Carnegie Tech at New York	20-7
Catholic University vs. Loyola (Md.) at Washington	6-20
George Washington vs. North Dakota at Washington	0-21
Johns Hopkins vs. Maryland at Baltimore	0-7
Boston College vs. Holy Cross at Boston	0-12
Drake vs. Marquette at Des Moines	7-33
Xavier vs. Haskell at Cincinnati	41-0
Utah vs. Utah Aggies at Salt Lake City	7-6
Colorado College vs. Colorado Mines at Colorado Springs	7-15
Denver University vs. Colorado Aggies at Denver	0-14
Western State vs. Colorado Teachers at Gunnison	25-7
University of California at Los Angeles vs. Florida at L. A.	24-0
St. Mary's vs. Oregon at San Francisco	20-0
Whitman vs. Willamette at Walla Walla	0-8
Gonzaga vs. Brigham Young at Provo	41-0
Auburn vs. South Carolina at Montgomery	9-14
Virginia Poly. Institute vs. Virginia M.I. Institute at Roanoke	7-6
Vanderbilt vs. Alabama at Nashville	0-7
Mississippi vs. Mississippi A. & M. at Oxford	0-8
Kentucky vs. Tennessee at Lexington, Ky.	41-0
North Carolina vs. Virginia at Chapel Hill	9-14
Howard vs. Duquesne at Birmingham	7-6
Loyola (New Orleans) vs. Santa Clara at New Orleans	0-7
Centenary vs. Arkansas at Shreveport	0-14
Oklahoma vs. Oklahoma A. & M. at Norman	0-26
Washington vs. Kansas State at Topeka	33-13
Texas A. & M. vs. Texas at College Station
Tulsa University vs. Oklahoma City University at Tulsa

Charity games include: November 26, Washington University vs. St. Louis University, winner to meet Missouri, St. Louis; Big Ten "tournament," Chicago vs. Iowa and Illinois vs. Indiana, winners of two period games to meet in two period contests, Chicago.

To Feast on Quakers?

By HARDIN BURNLEY

© 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc.
Great Britain rights reserved.

ANOTHER of football's ancient rivalries—the annual Thanksgiving Day game between Penn and Cornell—will feature, of course, the holiday grid program and it looks now as though Coach Harvey Harmon's henchmen are in for a macing that may all but meet the massacre proportions of their 49-0 thrashing by Notre Dame on Nov. 7. Of course, many things have happened to Harmon's squad since then and in the Cornell finale they can "shoot the works," perhaps with such effect that the result will be surprisingly close.

Until Penn ran afoul of that amazing Rockne heirloom (which many think is the greatest football machine ever), the Blue and Red seemed rejuvenated under their new coach and headed towards high honors this season. They had, and have, a great end in Capt. Riblett and a plunging power house in Fullback Perina. But the captain and the other regular end were laid up by injuries and the rest of the team was powerless before the devastating sweep of Notre Dame. Perhaps any team would have met the same fate that day—even Cornell. However, the latter seems to have one of its strongest teams in years this fall.

Fans knew of Bart Viviano, the Ithaca's remarkable line-banger from his great work in 1930 and also of those agile Mexicans, the Martinez-Zorrilla brothers—Chris and Jose. But not until the 13-0 victory over Columbia on Oct. 31 did the general public know that Coach "Gill" Dobbie had produced an even brighter star in Jack Ferraro, whose backfield activities are reminiscent of the memorable Eddie Kaw. Viviano is still the main Ithacan battering ram, but the running and passing Ferraro seems to be Dobbie's chief climax player. Behind a typical big and powerful Dobbie line, these backs should run riot against Penn unless Harmon, a front wall specialist himself, has perfected the Quaker defenses. And these must include vigilant guards for the air routes, too, because in Right End Jose Martinez-Zorrilla, the big Red team has a natural ball hawk and there are also one or two other Cornellians who can sprint, reach high, and glue to tosses when strategy demands that the Mexican jumping bean be used for decoy purposes.

Penn followers can base their hopes only on the heights to which games with Cornell always inspire the Red and Blue. With Perina pounding that thick Red line and the alert Riblett functioning as a pass snatcher for the Quakers, the latter will—well; it will be a terrific upset if they can hold Dobbie's smoothly clicking machine to a tie. Only extreme inspiration can stave off a bigger score than last year's 13-7 Cornell victory.

© 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Hockett J. W. Tilton, adjutant; S. C. Williamson, treasurer; Oscar Zook, sergeant at arms; executive committee: L. B. Howard, Charles Atwater, Dr. L. L. Hockett, C. C. Powell and J. F. Sante.

These auxiliary officers were installed recently: Mrs. Dorothy Sellers, president; Mrs. Walter Smith, first vice-president; Mrs. Marie Cleland, second vice-president; Mrs. Iris Powell, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Jack Allen of Dallas was installing officer.

A new radio beacon, permitting fliers to "find" the airport regardless of weather conditions, is to be installed at Oklahoma City.

Dec. 14—Presbyterian vs. First Baptist.

Dec. 18—Jason Lee vs. First M. E., Evangelical vs. Fruitland.

Dec. 21—Fruitland vs. First M. E.

Jan. 4—Presbyterian vs. Evangelical, Jason Lee vs. First Baptist.

Jan. 8—Presbyterian vs. First M. E.

Jan. 11—Fruitland vs. First Baptist, Evangelical vs. Jason Lee.

Jan. 15—First M. E. vs. First Baptist.

Jan. 18—Presbyterian vs. Fruitland, Jason Lee vs. Evangelical.

Jan. 22—Fruitland vs. First Baptist.

Jan. 25—First M. E. vs. Evangelical, Jason Lee vs. Presbyterian.

Jan. 29—First Baptist vs. Evangelical.

Feb. 1—Jason Lee vs. Fruitland, First M. E. vs. Presbyterian.

Feb. 5—Evangelical vs. Fruitland.

Feb. 8—First Baptist vs. Jason Lee, First M. E. vs. Fruitland.

Feb. 12—Presbyterian vs. Evangelical.

Feb. 15—Jason Lee vs. First M. E., First Baptist vs. Presbyterian.

Feb. 19—Evangelical vs. First Baptist.

Feb. 22—Presbyterian vs. Jason Lee, First M. E. vs. Evangelical.

Feb. 26—Jason Lee vs. Fruitland.

Feb. 29—First M. E. vs. First Baptist, Presbyterian vs. Fruitland.

Monmouth Post Of Legion Picks Same Officials

MONMOUTH, Nov. 25.—All officers of Monmouth post of the American Legion were unanimously chosen to fill office again this year: O. C. Christensen, commander; J. B. Lawrence, vice-commander; chaplain, Dr. L. L.

OREGON MEETS FIGHTING GAELS

St. Mary's Strong Favorite At Golden Gate; Spears Is Non-Committal

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Their national championship aspirations shattered after a sensational early start, St. Mary's Gaels will try to win back a measure of recognition tomorrow when they face University of Oregon's Webfoots in the annual Thanksgiving day football battle between these teams.

While the Gaels have been made strong favorites to turn back an eleven that holds down third place in the Coast conference standings, Coach Ed Madigan said today he was somewhat dubious as to the outcome. "I just don't know how my team is going to go. The boys looked bad in the last two practices. They haven't recovered yet from injuries received in the Olympic club game."

Dr. Clarence Spears, Oregon coach, was non-committal on the game's result. "I've got a young ball club. Sometimes they get pretty rattled. But they have come along in good style and should give St. Mary's a run for it."

Webfoet Bank on Temple and Gee
Oregon's offense will be centered around two brilliant backs, Mark Temple, left half, and Mike Mikulak, fullback, whose play has had much to do with the northern eleven's progress after a disastrous 53-0 defeat by Southern California earlier in the season.

This pair, with Leighton Gee, right half, were mainly responsible for two upsets in which Oregon defeated New York University and the University of California at Los Angeles.

Toscani, great right half-back of St. Mary's will lead the attack of the Californians. "Red" Schefflin, alternate halfback, is still out with injuries while Bill Fischer, rated as one of the coast's outstanding guards, is nursing a sprained shoulder that will hold him out of the starting lineup.

It will mark the third game of a schedule that runs until 1937. The Gaels won in 1929, by a 31-6 score, and barely scored their rivals last season, 7-6.

St. Mary's
Bailey.....LE.....Vivaldi
Morgan.....LT.....Jorgensen
Hughes.....LG.....Pendleton
Forster.....C.....Rubel
Schulz.....RG.....Stepovich
Nilsson.....RT.....Gilbert
Whishard.....RE.....F. Caninus
Bowerman.....Q.....Fletcher
Temple.....LH.....Maid
Mikulak.....RH.....Toscani
Brovell

MARSHFIELD FACES GRAYSON AND PALS

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Marshfield's undefeated high school football team arrived here today and Coach Fred Osborn pronounced his men ready for the Thanksgiving day game with Jefferson high.

"We are up here to give Jefferson a real game—win, lose or draw," Osborn said.

"My boys realize this is their biggest test. For two years we have been winning our games by fighting our way to victory and never giving up the battle. Jefferson is the greatest team we have ever faced, but the boys from Marshfield are determined to be just as good and will play their game. That's all I can ask of them."

A reception committee including Hopkin Jenkins, Jefferson principal, Eric Waldorf, coach, all the Jefferson football squad members and the Jefferson band met the Marshfield team when they arrived early today.

WHEN CHAMP RETAINS TITLE

Tony Canzoneri, the defending lightweight champion (left), hands a stiff right to Kid Chocolate's mid-section during their fast 15-round battle of gloved fists, in Madison Square Garden, New York. Although the title-holder retained his honor, he appeared to be overjoyed when the final round was history. The dark skinned challenger gave Tony a great run for his title, but Canzoneri amassed too many points in the early part of the fight to be defeated.

Old Rivalries Hold Chief Interest in Football Bill For Today All Over Nation

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Thanksgiving day, usually marking the tag end of the football season, but this year becoming practically a mid-season date with the long list of charity games running through December, offers a prime bill of fare tomorrow for the pigskin minded.

From 11 o'clock in the morning at Providence, R. I., where Colgate and Brown renew a rivalry begun in 1908, until night closes in at Los Angeles on Florida and the University of California at Los Angeles, there will be a lot of football played.

Topping the eastern schedule is the 38th meeting of Cornell and Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, the oldest continuous major football rivalry in the east. Penn holds 27 victories to eight for Cornell. Two games have been tied. The big red team from Ithaca is the favorite this year. Each team has lost only one game, Cornell bowing to Dartmouth and Penn to Notre Dame. Carnegie Tech-New York University and Holy Cross-Boston college play two other traditional eastern games, with the violets of the big town favored to take Carnegie and the Crusaders holding an edge on the season's record over the Boston school.

Nebraska and Pittsburgh, each defeated only once, offer the most tempting fare on the day's intersectional menu, meeting at Pittsburgh. The Panthers, one of the strongest teams in the east, are a slight favorite.

The Big Ten charity circus at Chicago with Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Chicago playing three 30-minute games in a round-robin draw holds the major interest of the midwest.

Utah and Utah Aggies will fight it out at Salt Lake City for the Rocky Mountain title with the Utes favored.

bly snow falling, there's no chance for an aerial attack and not much for a running attack. Unless there's a miracle, about the best Willamette can hope for is a scoreless tie, and that hope is rather slender.

The Bears will be equipped with canvas gloves if they want them, and if conditions warrant. Gloves are some protection against cold and frozen ground, but might be a nuisance in wet snow.

Anyway, we know that when the boys left here they were full of fight, and snow may handicap them, but it won't smother that fight.

Woodburn's Grid Season Successful

WOODBURN, Nov. 25.—Despite the fact that Woodburn high school's football team lost its last game of the season to Silverton, Woodburn's ancient rival, nevertheless the Bulldogs consider their season a success. Woodburn won four games and lost three. Victories over Stayton, Gresham, Independence and Newberg were hung up, while the Bulldogs dropped contests to West Linn, McMinnville and Silverton. Woodburn made a total of

O'REILLY FACES WEIKUM FRIDAY

Boys Who put on Stirring Prelim get Main Event Chance This Week

One sport event of the Thanksgiving week end, which has received little advance publicity is the wrestling show which Mach-maker Harry Plant has planned for Friday night. After seeing the great bout that Art O'Reilly and "Speedy" Weikum put on at the armory Armistice eve, Plant figures they are due for a main event and so they will be the headliners.

On that occasion they grappled 45 minutes to a draw, each getting a fall. The general opinion was that they had more fire than the main events of that show, even though the latter, "Prof" Newton and Jack Brentano, furnished a variety of plentiful action. In addition, it was thought that O'Reilly and Weikum who were meeting for the first time, needed more time to demonstrate which was the better man. Accordingly Friday night's bout will be a two-hour affair.

O'Reilly One of Oregon's Roughtest
O'Reilly has always been recognized as one of the leading "tough guys" of the mat game in Oregon, stopping at nothing when he gets steamed up, but in their first encounter Weikum kept even with him by an exceptional use of the punting leg split.

The mat game is the second program at the armory in the same week, something not attempted since about a year ago; but on the other hand there has been no wrestling since Armistice day and Plant has an idea that the hungry for it Friday night's show will be put on at reduced prices.

Joe Gardiner of Portland and Pete Axman of Kelso will be the preliminary contestants, clashing for 30 minutes.

DALLAS AND AMITY TEAMS WILL CLASH

DALLAS, Nov. 25.—Dallas and Amity high schools will meet in their annual football game Thursday, November 26 on Laclede field here. The game is scheduled for 10:30 a.m.

The Dallas fire department is in charge of the ticket sale for this game and all proceeds, with the exception of the gate receipts to the visiting team and the officials' fees, will go to charity. The fire department plans to use this money as part of their Christmas cheer fund.

Dallas and Amity are both noted for putting up a tough fight in their annual battle and Dallas hopes to change the 6 to 0 jinx that Amity has held over her head for the last four years. Amity lost a tough game to Sheridan on Armistice day by a 7 to 6 score, while Dallas took advantage of the breaks to beat Sheridan 8 to 6 early in the season. From the scores Dallas has a slight edge on the game but the game doesn't mean much for this game, as the teams never even matched and Amity has that habit of winning 6 to 0. No more and no less than the six point seems to satisfy the Yamhill county team.

80 points, while the opponents rolled up 90 points. Although Woodburn beat Stayton by a 43-0 score, West Linn, McMinnville scored much against the blue and white. McMinnville made 41 points, while West Linn made 23.

Considering all the factors that entered into making a winning football team at Woodburn high school this fall, Coach Gilbert Odell and his assistants, Harry Miller, deserve much credit. With only one letterman, Lawrence Koch, on hand, it was a difficult job to turn out a team as good as the one that the coaches did whip into shape. A number of the team members are underclassmen.

When spring and graduation time come, only seven men of the squad will be lost. They are Delmer Ramsdell, end; Manley Ramsdell, halfback; Fred Thomas, center; Chris Tresdler, end; Kenneth Evans, end; Tom Evans, quarterback, and Ralph Nelson, halfback.

Men whom Odell will depend upon next year are George and Lawrence Koch, Paul Conroy, Pete Larson, Cornelius Gearin, Lyle Skiller, Leo Hatter, Frank Pacelek, Carl Schwab, Claude Tresdler, Lyle Gustafson, Bob Reed, Elwyn Christian, Claude Gant, Melvin Block, Clarence Oberst, Robert Boyle, and John Kinns.

"Wait till next year," says Odell, Woodburn's cagey coach.

Diseth
In this city, November 25, Sigurd Diseth of Brooks, a native of Norway, Announcer of funeral services will be made later by the Terwilliger funeral home, 770 Chemeketa street.

Walker
Of route 7, November 25, Manervia J. Walker, 76, survived by son, Albert G. Walker of Salem. Funeral services Friday, November 27, at 1:30 p. m., from the Terwilliger funeral home, 770 Chemeketa street.

Goodman
In this city, November 25, George Goodman, 77, survived by daughter, Mrs. George Cozard of Portland. Remains, accompanied by Mrs. Cozard, were forward to the Terwilliger funeral home, 770 Chemeketa street.

As the football season draws to a close there remains at least one tidbit to which enthusiastic grid fans have been looking forward all season. The battle between Notre Dame and Army, scheduled for November 28, at New York, is the tussle that makes the mouths of the followers of the pigskin water in anticipation. Last season's game was won by the Irish by the closest of margins, 7-6, despite the fact that Notre Dame was an overwhelming favorite. So one can never be sure how fortune is going to smile or frown. The Irish line-up this year is an imposing one, composed of the warriors that have ridden rough-shod over all opponents to date. Joe Sheeketski has earned an enviable reputation as a ball carrier that requires a lot of stopping. Marchmont Schwartz is mentioned by almost all of the sports scribes as a certainty for the All-American, and George Melinkovich has made his mark as an outstanding figure of a great team. Facing them in the Army uniform will be Captain Jack Price, a gentleman with an uncanny knack of springing surprises; Robert Carver, who, many say, is the big kick in the Army mule, and Kenneth Field, who on his every appearance this season has turned in a fine performance. As has been pointed out in a game of this sort anything can happen. So it is a question for November 28 to decide—can the Irish ride the Army mule?