WASHINGTON FINDS SHOW'S TOO VIVID — WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 — (AP) — Another of Mae West's theatrical ventures — her own story of Harlem night life — proved too vivid for the law today and was closed to audiences of the nation's capital.

Two performances of "The Constant Sinner," starring the blonde actress who wrote it, brought a warning from United States District Attorney Leo A. Rover that a third would put the whole cast of 51 in jail. It was closed promptly by the Belasco theatre management.

Complaints were made to Rover after one of the largest first-night audiences of the season, including distinguished members of congressional and official life, viewed the opening Monday. The next night he sent an assistant and two detectives to see it. Their report was adverse. Rover warned the management the entire cast would be arrested for obscenity and indecency if they attempted to repeat the play here. "There is ample cause for stopping it," he explained, "but for publication it is enough to say the theme, language and postures were objectionable."

Under the Dome . . .

THANKSGIVING, and the day many will be feasting upon turkey, and many forgetting the real occasion for such a holiday. The turkey dinner looms as the all important feature—but is it? A good time to reflect today on the many things, even in these times, there are to be thankful for.

The capital will be closed today, Willamette university will be closed, schools will be closed, and there will be little business downtown. Many have already gone to spend the long weekend in other parts of the country. The greatest proportion will spend the day at home.

And why not remain in Salem? Beginning with the night of the last occasion for such a holiday, there is enough scheduled right here. Church services during the morning, radio broadcasts of the Willamette-Whitman and the Oregon-St. Mary's games, the Sam-Chemawa Indian football game here, the big dinner, and good shows. What a program.

Coach "Spec" Keene should have drilled his team in the art of disguising the football in the last game, but this year's plans. Press dispatches state the game will be played in snow at Walla Walla today. Another good game to be played today will be the Marshfield-Jefferson high school contest for the state championship.

RECORD SHIPMENT OF NUTS IS MADE

Salem Area Growers to get Seven Cents for all Except Culls

First payment to nut growers in the Salem unit of the North Pacific Nut Growers cooperative association will be made about December 1, with seven cents to be paid on all walnuts and filberts, exclusive of culls.

Announcement to that effect was made yesterday by W. H. Bentley of Dundee, manager of the North Pacific group, which handles sales for several smaller units. Bentley was here to attend a meeting of a few of the directors of the North Pacific group, held at the Marion hotel and presided over by E. B. Edes of Lebanon.

The next regular meeting of the directors will be held Saturday, December 5, at Ladd and Bush bank here.

Mr. Bentley was enthusiastic over the showing made this season by nut growers in this area. Much the largest tonnage in history was handled, with the Salem unit producing more than 400 tons of nuts, or about one-fifth of the tonnage in the entire state.

The Dundee manager says the association has shipped more than 50 cars of walnuts out of the state, which triples the record last year.

The Salem unit has an increase of over a hundred grower members, he said, with the entire organization numbering 1200 members.

All plants in the association had to run day and night shifts during the peak of the season to make shipments in time for the Thanksgiving trade. Many new markets were supplied, he said, and Mr. Bentley says. Employees in the four packing houses—Salem, Lebanon, Amity and Dundee—are still shelling culls for nut meats.

The association roll for the year is practically closed, Bentley said.
