

Nationally Prominent Grapplers to Show Wares Tonight

CANTONWINE TO MEET RUSSIAN

Dreadnaughts Feature Most Promising Card Since Mat Game Boom

Tonight at the Salem armory the dreams of a local wrestling promoter will come true when he presents Howard Cantonwine in a two hour grappling match against Count Harkovsky.

Wrestling was started here a few years ago and took root rapidly with middle and welterweight performers being booked. Matchmaker Harry Plant was soon able to bring in such nationally known figures as Robin Reed and Wildcat Pete. Those shows went well and this fall some heavyweight matches have been booked.

However Ted Thy and Bob Kruse were the most outstanding of these and none of the lot can compare with the performers Harry Plant is offering tonight.

Next to Strangler Lewis, Cantonwine's name stands out as the most prominent of heavyweight wrestlers. Howard Cantonwine has recently invaded the northwest and has arranged to meet Harkovsky here tonight. The big 220 pound limb twister from University of Iowa was a grid star during his college days and since leaving the halls of learning, has been teaching some of the professional mat men a thing or two. Combines Gridiron Skill With Grappling

His wrestling is a combination of football and mat skill. His strength enables him to employ body slams and airplane spins easily. Cantonwine has lost to Harkovsky once and will be gunning for retaliation in tonight's performance.

Harkovsky is said to be a "sure enough" Russian Count and also a noble performer in the ring. Speedy, powerful and well built, he will give the big Iowa man plenty to think of in tonight's show.

Salem fans are eager to see him apply his famous bear hug hold. The count is making his first tour of the northwest and hopes to take with him a string of victories.

Since fleeing from Russia when pursued by the "reds," he came to the United States and engaged in wrestling for a livelihood. Lately he has become experienced enough that he has reached the top ranks of the game and is meeting the best performers.

Two Prelim Bout Are on Schedule
Jack Brentano of McMinnville will meet Joe Gardiner of Portland in a preliminary bout. Both of these men have wrestled here before and are popular with the Salem wrestling fans. Brentano is a special favorite and Gardiner has made a number of friends here this fall.

Frank Lockhart and Dale Jory, both of Salem, will meet in another preliminary match. They are making their first appearance at the armory and hope to please the crowd.

ELIMINATIONS OPEN FOR SHOP LEAGUERS

CHEMAWA, Dec. 3.—The "Shop League" is in the midst of a heated basketball season. The second round has already started in this elimination contest, with the shoemakers winning their second game. All the other teams have played but one game. The bakery team, which defeated the blacksmiths, will play the carpenters, who won handily from the cooks, and the farmers will play the painters, who beat the engineers and machinists tonight in a double head r.

These games have aroused a great deal of enthusiasm and will be carried on in the form of interclass games as soon as this schedule is complete.

There will be arrangements made to get a silver loving cup to be used as a perpetual trophy for each league.

RICKREALL ALUMNI DEFEAT HIGH TEAM

RICKREALL, Dec. 3.—The Rickreall alumni girls' basketball team defeated the high school team by a score of 36-28 Tuesday at the high school gymnasium. It was a fast game all the way through. The high school team played a good game and promise a real basketball season this year.

AS CARNERA KAYOED CAMPOLO

Primo Carnera, the world's biggest ring battler, is shown standing against the ropes as Referee Gunboat Smith counts over the punch-dazed form of Victorio Campolo after the Italian Goliath had knocked all the victory out of Victorio with one of his renowned wallops. The end came for Primo's massive Argentine rival in the second round of their scheduled 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden, New York.

Fifteen Parrish Gridmen Win Letters; Successful Season is Ended by Squad

Coach Harold Hawk announces 15 football lettermen for the season just completed, during which only two of seven games played were lost by his Parrish gridsters.

Those receiving letters are: Don Coons, captain, and Kenneth

White, ends; Russ Steele, Harold McCall, Melvin McAdams and Dave Walp tackles; Wendie Gwinn and Max Coons guards; Eb Morley center; Phil Salstrom quarterback; Verne DeJardin, Rubin Skubovius and Del Gwynn halfbacks; and "Brownie" Myers and Fred Baxter fullbacks.

All but two of this number will graduate and Coach Hawk will again face the task of shaping a team from green material. Phil Salstrom is one of the returning players. He was not on the team at the start of the 1931 season, but his broken field running and his passing ability gained him a regular job in the backfield.

Wendie Gwinn, who played regularly at guard all season is eligible to return, but at present believes his folks will move. However there is a possibility that he will return.

The season's record was good and the win column includes two over Parrish managed to keep up the old precedent of being undefeated on the gridiron by Leslie Junior high.

CLUBMEN LOSE TO FLORSHEIM

Exciting Rally Brings Home Team Up From Behind; Final Score 24-21

After acting as though they felt rather "unnecessary" on the floor for more than half of the game, the newly organized Price's Florsheim basketball team hit its stride, overcame Multnomah club's 15 to 6 lead, dropped three points behind again and then staged a whirlwind finish to hand the clubmen their first defeat of the season, 24 to 21, Thursday night on the armory floor.

Dwight Adams, former Bearcat star, dominated the spectacular rally by which the Florsheims came from behind. He suddenly broke loose and poked three field goals before the athletic club boys knew what was going on, and then threw a free throw and the visitors' lead to two points. Drager tied the score with a neat field goal. Adams looped another from the foul line and Marr broke into the scoring column to give the shoe salesmen the lead, 18 to 18.

Throughout this rally the clubmen made a point. Final Period is Nip and Tack Affair

Dolp, former Webfoot scoring ace, who had shared the limelight with Luepke, tall Multnomah center, in the first half, got going again in the final period and with some help from Edwards and Keenan, the visitors raised their total to 21, but then Marr scored again. Adams looped a long one on the tipoff play, and while the Florsheims employed a delayed offense in the closing minutes, Flake sneaked down and sank a crumple for the final points.

The Florsheims' slow start was contributed to by a sprained ankle which Flake suffered shortly after the game started. He was on the bench the remainder of the first period.

Multnomah scored as many field goals as the local team but fouled frequently and though the Florsheims were not accurate in their shots from the foul line, scored enough of them to win.

The Florsheims were slightly lacking in teamwork due to the short time they have been playing together, but showed promise of a smooth offensive later in the season.

LEATHER PUSHERS HERE ARE ACTIVE

Several Salem fighters have been appearing on out of town cards and more are expected to be used on the Silverton fight card December 10 and at Albany December 15.

Spike Gorman, Jack Duncan and Ray Brown appeared on the Stayton fight card given Tuesday. Gorman won his fight with a knockout in the third round. It was a left hook to the jaw which did the trick.

A couple of the local fighters who are working out at the Club gymnasium have been promised places on the next Silverton card, December 10. Albany and several other valley towns will probably use some of the Salem scrappers in the near future.

New arrival in Salem is Simon Berrichou who comes from Shoshone, Idaho. He has demonstrated a terrific wallop in the gymnasium and is speedy. Al Smith, the colorful slugger who performed here a number of times last winter, has finally taken to the gymnasium and is trying to combine his natural wallop with a little skill.

Lettermen Back For Places on Chemawa Quint

CHEMAWA, Dec. 3.—The varsity reported Monday for basketball practice. There are many old-timers coming back, such as Viretto, Hattfield, Dogeagle, Shoulderblade, Hall and Thomas. It is too early to even give a hint as to the first squad, as the doctor hasn't given examinations yet, and this may cut off some of the above mentioned.

There is much interest in the school concerning basketball this season. It is expected that about 75 will report for the varsity and class B teams. These will be cut down to about 24 in two weeks and this number carried for the remainder of the season.

The first game will probably be with Linfield college frosh as a practice game. Oregon City comes to Chemawa December 18 with a strong squad.

Mrs. T. W. Bickett, widow of the former governor of North Carolina, has been elected for a third term as president of the North Carolina railroad.

CURT COMMENTS

"Not a meal in a carload." That's a suggestion we offer free of charge as a slogan for almost any prepared breakfast cereal.

Throughout the first half of last night's game we could see that the Florsheim boys had left their "basketball instinct" behind them on last year's maple floors. But they found it again—and how! Those boys will be hard to beat some day.

And by the way, most of the Florsheims are Salem high graduates. It looks bad for the year's Christians in the annual alumni game coming up a week from next Tuesday.

It's now the season for charity football games, and if anybody has a dollar left after giving a day's pay a month, it wouldn't be misspent on the Oregon State-Utah game in Portland.

Of course back east one of those games wound up with the unemployed owing the promoters several thousands of dollars, but such things are managed better here in the west. And leaving all that out of consideration, it ought to be a great game, especially if the Staters really get going as they are capable of doing.

Even if they do show all the fight in the world there's no insurance that they'll beat the Utes, or even hold them.

A thing we'd like to see staged out here is one of those football tournaments such as are being pulled in the east; three 20-minute games, judges picking the winner provided the games are ties. The judges so far have based their decisions on first downs. That's a point, we imagine, that induces the teams to open up and try fancy stuff in the hope of getting a lot of yardage even at the risk of losing the ball occasionally.

Too late to plan anything of the kind, Willamette, Whitman, Pacific and Puget Sound would have made a sweet combination for such a battle—all upset champions.

STATERS READY FOR UTE CLASH

Schissler With Laryngitis Only Casualty; Muddy Field in Prospect

CORVALLIS, Ore., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Oregon State college gridmen tapered off their training for the University of Utah game at Portland Saturday with a light signal drill today.

Rain has been falling intermittently here this week and with prospects of a wet field for Saturday's game Coach Schissler today gave particular attention to guarding against blocked punts. He also told his men how to stop Tedesco, Utah's flashy quarterback who is noted for his return punts.

Today Schissler reviewed with his men Utah plays and defensive tactics to be employed against them. A similar review and a light signal drill is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon before the team leaves for Portland.

Coach Schissler said no major changes will be made in the usual starting line-up. The line will include Davis, Miller, Bergerson, Hammer, Cox, Schwamel and Curtin. Blaccone will start at quarter, Moe and Rust at halves and Little at full. Bill Head and Art Ramponi probably will be the leading backfield substitutes.

Coach Schissler is the only one in the Orange outfit not in the best physical condition. He has lost his voice temporarily through an attack of laryngitis and for the past two days has had to relay his instructions to the team through Jim Dixon and Lou Steiner, assistant coaches.

BOISE, Idaho, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The University of Utah football squad stopped off here for an hour's still workout on its way to play Oregon State college next Saturday at Portland.

Thirty-four players poured out of the train, piled into automobiles and drove out to a public school field where they swarmed out into the snow in football tog.

"Sick on the train?" Coach Ike Armstrong said in reply to a question. "If you had seen them tackle lunch you would not have said sick."

Advised that a muddy field was in prospect in Portland, he said: "They can't put a canopy over their own team and leave ours out in the rain. They will both be playing on the same field."

Reports that the Oregonians were preparing to storm down his passing attack did not worry him. Perhaps, he indicated, there will be no passing attack. "You can't pass very well with a wet ball."

Gridders to Be Honored With Party

WOODBURN, Dec. 2.—The annual football stag party, given for all members of the Woodburn high school football squad, will be held in the high school gymnasium Friday night at 7 p. m. This year all the expenses of the party are being paid by V. D. Bain, superintendent of schools, and Gilbert Oddie, head football coach.

A card of wrestling and boxing bouts between various squad members has been arranged. A "feed" will be prepared by girls of the domestic science department, and served to the football players in the domestic art rooms.

The wrestling card is: G. Jackson vs. Christian, Pavlek vs. L. Koch, K. Evans vs. Schwab, and G. Koch vs. Conry. The bouts will last five minutes.

The boxing card has been arranged as follows: Courtney vs. Gant, Halter vs. Skiller, Cutsforth vs. Boyle, Presthus vs. Gustafson, Kinns vs. D. Ramsdell, T. Evans vs. Yergen, Cooper vs. Goldade, Panther vs. Donaldson and R. Coyne vs. Brachman.

It is interesting to note that in this year's squad of about fifty boys, there were eight pairs of brothers. They are Lawrence and George Koch, Delmer and Manley Ramsdell, Harry and Bob Reed, Reed and Paul Coyne, Torle and Ralph Nelson, George and Bob Jackson, Charles and Claude Tredder and Tom and Kenneth Evans.

Grade Hoopers Of Aurora Play

AURORA, Dec. 3.—Prof. E. F. Morrison is coaching the Aurora grade school basketball team, which will play the Woodburn grade school at that place Friday night. The lineup for Aurora is: Forwards, Eldon Harrison and Jimmie McGinnis; center, Art Tomlin; guards, Don Eiler and Richard Tomlin.

TURKEY SHOOT SUNDAY

The Shaw sportsmen announce another of their popular turkey shoots, to be held at Shaw Sunday. It will be an all day event.

Basking in the Gridlight

By HARDIN BURNLEY

FOOTBALL coaches are expected—by some folks—to deal only in miracles. And, strange to say, many of them do. Take, for instance, that rotund leader of Oregon, the amiable "Doc" Spears. The remarkable comeback of his team following that demoralizing 53-0 defeat by Southern California was nothing short of being miraculous. But then "Doc" Spears is a fine coach and in addition is a psychologist. Spears himself was a great player some time ago—and it's not long ago, either. He helped make football history when he played on Dartmouth's Big Green line. His experience with the Green has been of great assistance to him, for today he is rated a master of line play, and his teams are always powerful and well-rounded in other lines. The high brings results, witness his success these past few seasons, particularly the one just closed.

Another coach rated highly this year is Major Frank Cavanaugh, of "Iron Hat" fame, whose Fordham eleven has had one of its best seasons. In fact, Major Cavanaugh's record with the Rams for the past three years matches favorably that of any big coach in the country. There is an interesting story about the "Iron Hat" of the Major's. He has made the battered old derby famous by wearing it to every Fordham game since 1928. Now, the story goes, the old headpiece is to be molded into real iron and presented to Major Cavanaugh by the Ram Alumni Association. By the Ram Alumni Association, as it were.
