FEW WITHDRAWALS REPORTED AT W. U.

Increased Amount Available For Student Loans is Held Main Reason

Fewer students this year than usual have withdrawn from Willamette university after the fall matriculation, Dean Frank M. Erickson announced yesterday. Dean Erickson attributed the continuing attendance to a number of factors, among which an augmented amount of money for student scholarship loans was a major one. Erickson said the Methodist General Education board fund had been increased from $4000 to $4500 this year for use at Willamette. More than $2000 is now in the R. A. Booth scholarship fund administered by C. P. Bishop and available for use annually between $100 and $500.

Additional loan funds which are being built up include a number of privately given scholarships, funds of the Association of University Women administered by that body and the newly created faculty loan fund of which $500 was raised this fall.

Inability of students to get work if they should drop from school was another reason for the continuing student attendance, Erickson said. Many students this year, said the dean, realize, too, that their best chance to obtain work is to fit themselves for some particular job and thus the students are staying in university as long as their funds permit.

Willamette's enrollment of more than 600 students this fall was one of the largest in the school's history. Boys outnumber girls in the total registration, a situation seldom existing at the university here.

DORR TAKES BLAME FOR HAVING LIQUOR

Three of the quartet arrested by State Officer Farley Mogan Thursday on liquor charges entered pleas of not guilty in justice court yesterday and case against them was dismissed. They were George Poplock, George Powers and R. C. Lewis.

The fourth member of the group, R. C. Dorr, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $150 and costs. Failing to pay

Under the Dome . . .

Occurrences and Gossip at the center of Oregon's state government

The statehouse lobby was filled again yesterday as in the pre-Meier-illness days. Of course the beautifully trimmed Christmas tree in the lobby attracted some, but the governor proved the big attraction. His office was filled from the time he arrived until he returned to Portland late in the afternoon.

The governor leaves Sunday night for California for the rest of the fine, he is in the county jail.

George Poplock, driver of the truck in which the group was traveling, entered plea of guilty to charge of speeding and paid $10 and costs.

TAX DELINQUENCIES TO SHOW INCREASE

Business Conditions, Drop in Industrial Activity Deemed Main Cause

Tax delinquencies for 1931 probably will be larger than for many years, according to a statement issued Friday by the state tax commission. The situation was said to be due to the existing business depression, and the fact that a number of the larger industries have curtailed operations.

A study conducted by the tax commission indicated that the delinquency rate in the state is 12 per cent or less in Multnomah, Marion and some of the more prosperous counties in the Willamette valley, to 10 per cent in a number of the eastern Oregon counties. The average is approximately five per cent over the last half year.

While it is impossible to analyze all the causes of the increased delinquency now prevailing there is little to indicate that any concerted action to take advantage of the abolition of the penalty and lowering of the interest rate on delinquent taxes by the 1931 legislature, particularly in the rural areas. The legislative reduction of the penalty to 12 per cent to 8 per cent. At the recent state meeting of county assessors 20 of the 35 county officials said they are convinced the reduction of penalty had nothing to do with delinquency.

LEBANON PROSPERS LOCKHART REPORTS

Lebanon, save for the psychological effect which national depression brings, is prospering and has had a good year in business. This report was brought to Salem yesterday by Edwin B. Lockhart, pastor of the Methodist church there. Lockhart was at one time city editor on The Statesman.

The Oregon Electric extension beyond Lebanon, road work on the North Santiam highway and the developing of strawberry plantings all are helping the Linon county city. Lockhart declared. The paper mill of the Zellerbach interests is also running steadily. Lockhart arranged a joint church meeting last Sunday night. State Treasurer Rufus Holman spoke on "The Golden Rule—Does it Work?" Holman cited illustrations from his own political experiences to prove an affirmative answer to his question.

HAecker OUTLINES CUSTOMER APPEAL

Originality in Displays in Store Windows Given As Chief Point

Carl V. Haecker, assistant sales promotion and advertising manager of Montgomery-Ward & Co., was speaker at the As club luncheon Friday noon. The meeting was attended by a considerable group of merchants who were interested in the general topic which Mr. Haecker discussed: "How to bring the customer to the merchandise."

The windows, he declared, are the most valuable parts of the store and should be dressed with due regard to color schemes, massing, etc., to carry the best appeal to shoppers. Timeliness and originality are needed to get the best returns both from displays and advertising. A store must be right in the van with its merchandising and not a few weeks late in pushing its stuff.

Another factor of importance, according to Mr. Haecker, was store lighting, and related how one store by multiplying by three the amount of illumination in a certain dark corner greatly increased the sales in that department. Additional experiments made by putting price tags on goods displayed showed that sales were better where the price was clearly displayed. "You have to come to the price sooner or later, so you may as well be frank and honest about it," was Haecker's advice.

Spasmoid advertising fails in every instance. "As one of his declarations. A store should be consistent and follow on a regular program of advertising, building up individuality and distinctiveness. Since the buying impulse is determined 87 per cent of the time by sight and only 7 per cent by sound, the eye appeal is of chief importance in planning displays, advertising and sales efforts.

High School Has Best Record of Attendance Now

High school students attended classes more regularly during November than pupils in any other Salem school, the monthly report issued yesterday reveals. Average attendance at the high school was 92.2 per cent, while for the other schools the average was 96 per cent and the highest in any one, slightly above 97 per cent.

Girls registered during the month outnumbered boys by 19. The total registration was 1355 and the average attendance, 1212.6.

HERE MONDAY

IRVINE SPEAKER AT MONDAY LUNCHEON

E. F. Irvine, editor of the Oregon Journal, is to speak to the Salem chamber of commerce next Monday at noon. Irvine, ardent advocate of better world understanding, has chosen as his subject, "Disarmament and World Peace."

Irvine, associated with The Journal for nearly 25 years, is one of the best known men in the state. A native of Oregon, born east of Scio, he has pursued a varied career prior to occupying the editorial position on the Journal.

He was educated at Willamette university, was for a time a railroad station agent at Corvallis, was a dairyman near Spokane, later editing The Times at Corvallis. He is now a member of the state board of higher education, a member of the advisory board of the blind employment institutions and a member of the Oregon Americanization board.

MANY SUSCEPTIBLE TO DISEASE, FOUND

Examination yesterday of 150 Salem school children given the Schick test on Tuesday revealed that about 85 per cent were susceptible to diphtheria. This is the normal average for children who have not been immunized. The tests were made by Dr. Vernon A. Douglas, county health officer, and Dr. William Leven of the state board of health.

The susceptible children will be given the toxoid immunization treatments within the next three weeks. Salem grade school children are the best behaved of all met in the clinics which Dr. Leven has attended throughout the state, he told Dr. Douglas. Because of the regular work of the county health department, the Salem children are accustomed to health examinations and clinics.
