FEW SERVING TIME LIQUOR VIOLATORS

Only 45 in for Prohibition Offenses, Warden Lewis Reports to Governor

Contrary to prevailing belief, only 45 of the 855 men in the Oregon state penitentiary are serving terms for violations of the liquor laws, a report filed last week by Warden James Lewis to Governor Meier reveals. Lewis is responsible for the arrest and conviction of more persons in Oregon than any other criminal offense, 156 of the 878 men and women in the penitentiary having been committed on this charge. Women prisoners totaled 23 on December 2.

Every county in Oregon and virtually every community in the state is represented in the large commitments. Robbery for statutory offenses is the most frequent, with 139 commitments. Commitments for burglary numbered 105, while 99 men and women are serving terms for forgery.

For the graver offenses, 97 men are serving terms in the Oregon penitentiary for the crime of murder. Virtually all of these persons are serving life terms. Seventeen prisoners are serving terms ranging from one to 15 years for manslaughter. Approximately 90 men are under sentences for statutory offenses, while 25 men were committed in connection with perversion charges.

Nine prisoners are serving time for assault with intent to kill, while 22 were committed for assault with a dangerous weapon. Three men were sentenced for assaulting officers, while two others were convicted and committed for assault. Six of the prisoners now in the institution are serving terms for arson.

In 43 cases the prisoners were received for obtaining money, goods, property by false pretenses. Three are serving time for kidnapping, one for an immigration law violation, and three for offenses involving the possession and sale of narcotics. Other commitments include three for non-support, six for possession of stolen property, one for perjury, and three for taking and using automobiles without authority.

The oldest inmate in the state penitentiary is 85 years of age. He was sent to the institution from Douglas county and already has served 34 years, five months and 13 days. This man was received at the prison in 1893, was paroled in 1909, but was returned a few months later.

The youngest prisoner in the penitentiary is 16 years of age. He was only 15 years of age at the time of being received in 1920.

SERVICES ARE HELD FOR MRS. C. HADLEY

GRAND ISLAND, Dec. 5.—Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the Methodist church at Dayton for Mrs. Charles Hadley, a well known resident of that city. Rev. R. B. Shattuck of Portland had charge of the services. The remains were taken to Eugene for burial.

Alcuin Mission Series Here to End on Tuesday

The 40-hour mission which Rev. Father Alcuin, O. S. B., has been conducting at St. Joseph's church will come to a close Tuesday night, December 5. Sunday masses will be held at 7:30 o'clock and at 10 o'clock, and benediction at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Catholic and non-Catholics have been in attendance.

The mission leader is rector of Mt. Angel seminary.

In 1864 she was married to Henry S. Wells. To this union were born nine children, three of whom are now living, Alice Miller of Leaburg, Oregon; Lira Baldwin of Cida, Oregon, and Victoria Rowe of St. Helens, Oregon.

In 1891 her husband was taken from her by death and she was left to the care of her two youngest children and a grand child that had lost its mother by death.

In a few years her boy followed him and for a while made her home with him in Idaho. Not being altogether satisfied there they moved to Oregon and settled about 30 miles east of Eugene near the town of Vida. In 1912 her boy was drowned in the McKenzie river. She took a land claim on 80 acres and proved up on it. Later she moved to McMinnville and then Dayton where she married Charles Hadley, March 28, 1917.

Valuations Will Be Made Known

Valuations of all assessable property in Oregon, segregated by classifications, will be announced tomorrow or Tuesday, members of the state tax commission declared yesterday. All of the county valuations had reached the tax commission Saturday, with the exception of Hood River, which was in the mails. Earl Fisher, veteran member of the tax commission, said the county valuations would show a shrinkage, but there would be a slight increase in the utility valuations.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Cutsforth, who are celebrating their golden wedding today at their home south of Gervais. Open house to their many friends will mark this milestone in the lives of these two happy people.

COUPLE OBSERVES 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Gervais, Dec. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. John R. Cutsforth are holding a reception at their home a mile south of Gervais Sunday afternoon in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary. One hundred invitations were issued to the affair. The hours are from 3 to 4 o'clock.

John H. Cutsforth and Eva Warren were married at Pacific, Wis., December 7, 1881. They lived in Wisconsin until 1905 when they came to Oregon and settled on the farm where they still reside at Gervais.

There are five children all living within 20 miles of their parents' home. They are C. W., of Gervais; Frank, of Canby; Mrs. Zeno Schwab, of Gervais; Mrs. E. Rae, of Salem and Mrs. Robert Harper of Gervais.

Chrysanthemums and other seasonal flowers are being used as decorations about the rooms. The daughters and daughters-in-law will serve refreshments.

Bagley to Sit in Local Court On D'Arcy Case

Judge George R. Bagley of Hillsboro was assigned yesterday by Chief Justice Bean of the supreme court to come to Salem to hear the case of D'Arcy vs. Director. The litigation involves the lease to O'Arcy's building on North Liberty street. Bagley replaces Judge Gale S. Hill. Other assignments made yesterday by the chief justice were:

H. B. Norton, Medford, will go to Lane county to hear Smith vs. Barnard. He replaces Judge G. F. Skipworth.

Judge O. M. Corkins, Lakeview, will consider the suit of Massachusetts Protective association vs. Palmer and replaces Judge W. M. Duncan.

Social Subjects Given Attention

County Superintendent Fulkerson, after making a visit to the Middle Grove school Friday, reports that a new plan being tried out at this school of studying regular subjects until recess time in the afternoon and then the remainder of the afternoon in the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades being given over to social subjects among the children, is bringing very good results. This plan seems to bring about added interest in their school work, besides inciting interest in outside research work. The same plan is followed in the lower grades except that different subjects are discussed.

4-H LEADERS HOLD INTERESTING MEET

Fairness of Competition in Club Projects Viewed, Changes Proposed

Fairness in 4-H club competition insofar as experience goes, will be investigated by the Marion county 4-H leader's club, at an enthusiastic meeting held yesterday afternoon at the chamber of commerce rooms. Mrs. Blanch Brown of Hubbard, president, presided.

The investigation on fairness will be based on belief that students who carry a division one project for several years should not be allowed to compete on the same basis as students who are carrying or have carried the division one work for just one year. Wayne D. Harding, county club leader and rural school supervisor, was appointed to conduct the investigation, inasmuch as all records go through his office.

For Each Year

The leaders also went on record as favoring distribution of 4-H pins each year to each club member, rather than omitting pins for the second and fourth years of work.

Action started yesterday may result in broadening the exhibits at the annual Marion county 4-H club fair conducted here. The group favors exhibits from all lines of club work, rather than largely home economics as in the past. In event this materializes, prizes in all lines will be provided. Report on 1931 Projects to be given.

CONWAY TO SPEAK AT POST MEETING

Ray Conway, chairman of the American Legion state committee on highway safety, will address members of Capital Post No. 4 at Tuesday night's meeting concerning safety measures, particularly with regard to children in traffic. Business and pleasure will be combined in this meeting.

Among matters to come for consideration of the Legionnaires will be that of ticket sales for the Elks' minstrel show which will be held at the Grand theatre on December 21 and 22. The Capital Post No. 9 executive committee already has accepted the Elks' offer of 50-50 split of proceeds if the Legionnaires will help sell the tickets. These funds will be used for charitable purposes.

DECISION IN BYERS CASE DUE MONDAY

Whether the state board of education will uphold the decision of C. A. Howard, state superintendent of public instruction, who recently revoked the teacher's certificates issued to David Lee Byers, principal of the Sutherland schools, will be determined tomorrow. This was announced by Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state.

Hearing of Byers' appeal will be held before the state board of education in Salem yesterday, with the result that the testimony was taken under advisement.

Lehman Winner In Damage Case

Damages of $100 were awarded J. W. Lehman yesterday morning for a peck injury in circuit court here. Lehman sued J. W. Ramson following an auto accident which occurred last summer at 12th and Mission streets. C. M. Will was foreman of the jury which deliberated for one hour after receiving the instructions from Circuit Judge McMahan.

EMMONS AND SON BECOME PARTNERS

Veteran Lawyer is Joined By Recent Graduate Of Willamette

A second father and son law combination, made its bow to Salem the past week, when O. W. Emmons added the name of C. S. Emmons, his son, to the office stationery. The firm will be known as Emmons & Emmons, and will continue to command a corner on the northeast side of the Oregon building.

The lawyers have added another room, making a comfortable suite of three rooms and providing for private consultation for each while the other is working, and also a large reception room where works the efficient stenographers. Miss Adeline L. Seymour. The offices are on the third floor of the building, rooms 306-308.

The offices are equipped with every device and accessory necessary to practice, including a library of more than 800 volumes.

The senior member of the firm, O. W. Emmons, is a native of Iowa. He was educated in the public schools and in Cornell college, at Mt. Vernon, Iowa. His legal education was received in the state University of Iowa, from which he holds the degree of L. B., 1904. He was engaged in active practice in the state courts of Iowa and in the federal court for a period of more than 20 years.

In September, 1925, the family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Emmons and their two sons and two daughters, came to Salem and have since resided here. Large business interests prevented Mr. Emmons from opening a law office here until early in 1929. He still has an active list of clients in the east.

The junior member, Clarence S. Emmons, is also a native Iowan and received his education in the public schools of that state, coming to Salem with his parents, and matriculating in Willamette university immediately thereafter. He graduated from Willamette in 1931, in both the liberal arts and law departments, from which he holds degrees. He was prominent in athletics and campus activities at the university.

BUILDING CONGRESS FORUM IS PLANNED

Final plans for the coming Building Congress forum will be laid at the board of directors' meeting tomorrow night in the directors' room of the United States National bank.

Two authorities on lumber and building will speak at the forum meeting, which will be held on the following Monday night at the chamber of commerce. They are Colonel W. B. Grosley, secretary manager of the West Coast Lumbermen's association, and Professor W. J. Gilmore, of Oregon State college.

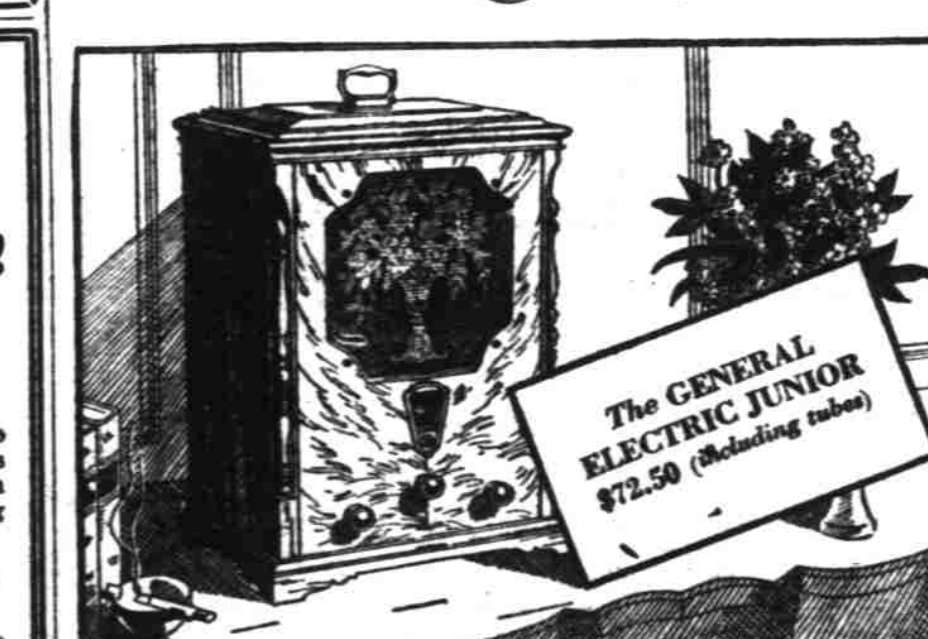

A large attendance of farmers and building material dealers is being sought for this meeting. In vitations already have been sent to the granges of Marion and Polk counties. Over 200 letters will be mailed out this week to prominent farmers of the two counties.
