

HOP MARKET STILL FIRM ALONG COAST

Offerings Light, Demand Is Steady; Growers Hold For Higher Price

Pacific coast hop markets during the week ending December 3, continued to maintain the firm tone which has prevailed for the past month, largely as the result of light offerings by growers in all producing areas according to the weekly hop market review of the U. S. bureau of agricultural economics.

Demand, while not active, was steady, and the scattering lots of forced were readily taken by domestic buyers at prices about unchanged from those of a week ago. Foreign demand continues inactive, reflecting principally the unsettled financial situation in Europe, and particularly the decline in the value of the English pound. High bids tend to offset the effect of the short crop in England, where choice quality hops are particularly scarce this year, according to trade reports.

Both Oregon and Washington markets were featured by the strong holding tendency of growers, who were generally asking 1/2c above prevailing quotations. Sales in Oregon markets during the week were of only moderate volume for this season of the year, totaling around 750 bales. 174 bales of 1931 Clusters brought 14c, with other lots of 1931s bringing 12 1/2c-13 1/2c per pound, net to grower, according to quality. 251 bales of 1931 Fuggles sold at 11 1/2c, and 81 bales of 1929 Clusters brought 7 1/2c. Sales in Washington markets this week, included 20 bales at Puyallup at 13c; 200 bales at Yakima at 12 1/2c; 90 bales at 12 1/2c; 150 bales at 13 1/2c; and 40 bales at 14c, per pound, net to grower.

Carefully prepared trade figures indicate that stocks of hops, of all growths, remaining unsold in the three Pacific coast states, totaled 49,388 bales as of December 1, this year. These were distributed as follows: Oregon, 23,712 bales; California, 8,844 bales; Washington, 8,832 bales. These holdings are somewhat below those of the same date last year, with the increased holdings in Oregon more than offset by the considerably lighter stocks in California, with Washington stocks approximately the same as a year ago.

Oregon stocks remaining in growers hands December 1, were as follows: 1931 crop, 22,257 bales; 1930 crop, 885 bales; 1929 crop, 401 bales; 1928 crop, 169 bales. Unsold Washington stocks December 1, included the following: 1931 crop 7,431 bales; 1930 crop, 522 bales; 1929 crop, 907 bales. These Washington stocks are divided between the Yakima Valley in eastern Washington and the Puyallup valley and Chehalis district in western Washington. 6,490 bales of the 1931 crop remain unsold in the Yakima valley, with no older growths remaining. In the Puyallup valley, 494 bales of 1931s, 532 bales of 1930s, and 907 bales of 1929s remain unsold.

EXCHANGE STATUS HURTS GRAINS HOGS, LAMBS AND EGGS REDUCED

Visible Supply Lower But Export Sales At Standstill

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Faced by uncertainties of British and Canadian exchange rates, and by an almost complete standstill in North American wheat export business, grain prices went down today. Notwithstanding that the United States wheat visible supply showed 4,145,000 bushels decrease for the week, and that the amount of wheat afloat for importing countries had also been sharply curtailed, price rallies failed to hold. Grains paralleled the course of Wall street securities.

Wheat closed nervous, at the same as Saturday's finish to 7-8 cent lower, corn unchanged to 3-8 off, oats a shade to 1-4-3-8 down.
