Beans' Farm Holly Trees Offer Sight

ORCHARD HEIGHTS, Dec. 16

—The holly crop on the Bean farm is being harvested. The trees, about 500 in number were planted 20 years ago and have not, their owners say, yet come into full bearing. A holly tree does not begin to bear profitably under 10 or 12 years of age. The trees are of the English and French-English varieties. The Beans are shipping the holly this year to all parts of the United States and also to the island possessions.

Much of it goes to the southern states despite the fact that holly grows wild in many southern states. The wild variety however does not compare with the tame in glossiness of foliage and abundance of berries. Holly from this farm is also shipped to California, some in the form of wreaths but much of it "as is" for re-sale.

Owners of this farm are Dr. O. W. Bean and his wife, Dr. Davis Bean both of whom have been practicing physicians for many years in Salem where they reside. Besides holly they raise commercially, walnuts, grapes and prunes. The date prunes in which they specialize were the first of that variety they say to be brought from California to this part of Oregon.

The doctors formerly experimented in raising two medicinal herbs, hydrastis and ginseng, but the fondness of gophers for the roots of these plants made their efforts impractical.

CONTRACT BRIDGE "The Official System" as Adopted by Leading Authorities By E. V. SHEPARD The Opening Demand Bid. A NY opening bid of three of a suit demands partner's response. Novices may fear starting contracting so high, but adherence to their rules soon will assure them that there can be no danger in such bidding. At any time they feel dubious about having sufficient strength to force a response from partners they should utilize the semi-demand opening bid of two, reserving the three bid for hands that unquestionably assure game if partner can furnish one quick trick plus three trumps, or four trumps without the quick trick.
