Yuletide Party Is Colorful Affair

Each Christmas time seems more attractive than the one before for the happy people of the world, and such a group is Chapter G of the P. E. O. sisterhood. Each year a yuletide party is held but the luncheon and party for which Mrs. G. W. Laflair and Mrs. W. T. Ricker were hostesses Thursday afternoon, one of the very splendid annual parties to be enjoyed by this organization.

The guest rooms and tables were colorful with red and green tapers and frosted fir boughs. Tiny booklets in unique covers were place cards. Favors were drawn and each proved to contain the name of the "Marguerite sister" of each Chapter G P. E. O. for the coming year. This "sister" is a secret known only to the person drawing the name and is one of the projects of the order each year. Names of last year's "sister" were revealed at this luncheon.

A large Christmas tree gay with many trimmings and electric lights held presents which were exchanged among the members following the business meeting.

Mrs. Arthur Morgan was hostess for a surprise party in compliment to her husband's birthday Friday at their home in Parkersville. Cards followed by a luncheon made a pleasant evening for the honor guest, Mr. Morgan, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Redding, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Krause, Mrs. Jessie Jefferson, Mr. and Mrs. John Beas, Carl Jensen, and Mrs. Morgan.
