STATE EMPLOYEES' GIFTS PORTIONED

A total of $15,801.51, representing contributions of state officials and employees during November, was apportioned among the various counties Friday. The contributions are based on one day's pay each month.

The apportionment was made on the actual known needs in each county as reported by the chairmen of Governor Meier's relief committees. The smallest county allotment was $20, while the largest was $620. The Sunshine division of the Portland department received $1000, which is Multnomah county's share of the fund for November.

Funds allotted to the counties will be expended through the governor's committees, of which the county judges are chairmen. Wherever possible the money will be used in providing employment. When this is not considered practical the money will be used for direct relief.

Members of the committee in charge of apportioning the fund are: General Thomas A. Riley, William Elzing, state purchasing agent; Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state; J. M. Devers, attorney for the state highway department; Dr. E. E. Lindsey, secretary of the state board of education, and C. T. Early, chairman of the state industrial accident commission.

The contributions are made between the first and 10th of each month.

Receivership of the Prudential Bancorporation, holding company for the Prudential Savings and Loan association, Union Savings and Loan association, and the Federal Union Savings and Loan association, will not be extended to the loan companies, James Mott, state corporation commissioner announced Friday. The three companies were taken over by Mott's department and have since operated under his jurisdiction.

Mott admitted that "certain interests" have been seeking to have the receivership of George McDowell of Portland, who was designated to liquidate the affairs of the Prudential Bancorporation, extended over the three subsidiaries. Moss said he would resist such a request.

Mott declared that the attempt to extend the receivership was nothing more or less than an endeavor to get at the real assets to provide for the payment of receiver and attorney's fees.

When J. C. Kriesel started to build a home for himself, he forgot about making a report to the industrial accident commission; so yesterday he appeared as defendant in justice court in complaint filed by the industrial accident body. Kriesel admitted his guilt and was fined $25 and costs. The fine was remitted.

NINETEEN KILLED IN ROAD MISHAPS

State Police Issue Report Showing Arrests and Fines Resulting
Nineteen persons were killed and 489 others were injured in a total of 2634 traffic accidents in Oregon in November, according to a report issued Friday by Charles T. Pray, superintendent of state police.

A total of 573 accidents were caused by drivers failing to give right of way. Exceeding the speed limit resulted in 267 accidents, while 147 accidents were due to drivers having their cars on the wrong side of the road. In 261 cases the accidents were due to skidding machines.

The state police issued 8723 warnings during the month. There were 409 arrests for general law infractions, with fines aggregating $18,131.90. Of the persons arrested, 47 were acquitted and 98 cases are now pending. The police received 351 complaints and 53 were cleared.

Arrests for traffic violations numbered 201, with fines aggregating $3377.25. Delinquent motor vehicle license fees aggregating $5687.31 were collected by the state operatives.

Eighteen persons arrested by the state police were held for other departments. Three of these were arrested for automobile thefts, two for holdups, two for liquor violations, one for murder, two for larceny, and two for fraud.

Two of the persons arrested were returned to the United States army barracks, from which they escaped.

Eight of the fatal accidents involved automobiles and pedestrians. In two fatal accidents pedestrians were struck by motorcycles. Sixty-nine of the arrests resulted from reckless driving. 16 for switched license plates and 18 for driving while intoxicated.

MINTO HOTEL GETS NEW FOOD SUPPLY

The wolf yesterday was fought away from the doors of Hotel de Minto for a few days longer. Response was immediate to a plea published yesterday morning for donations of foodstuffs for commiseration by the transients accommodated at the city hall quarters.

The Woman's Alliance of the Unitarian church sent a quantity of rutabagas, onions, potatoes and stew meat to the "hotel" and anonymous donors sent two boxes and one sack of potatoes and a sack of carrots.

Other supplies badly needed, according to J. G. Bullard, "hotel" chef, are coffee and sugar.

Lower Bids for State Supplies Are Submitted
Bids for state supplies for the six months period beginning January 1 were opened by the state board of control Friday. Most of these supplies will be used at the state institutions.

William Elzing, state purchasing agent, said that in most cases

Occurrences and Gossip at the center of Oregon's state government
THERE will be no football game today, the first time since the middle of September. However there will be one next week and the Friday after that, January 1, which will then close the year. California was scheduled to play Georgia Tech December 26, and then Tulane plays Southern California New Year's day.

The returns of the "voluntary" contribution of one day's pay for November from state employees was fifty per cent better than estimated. The total given to charity that month was more than $15,000 while only $10,000 had been estimated. Almost half of this amount however went to local charities for which employees were credited.

But that left more than $5,000 to be distributed by the committee here, and each county received its quota based on actual needs. Tom Rilea, chairman of the committee and William Elzing, treasurer, both expressed pleasure at the almost 100 per cent response, and stated they believed the contributions would be greater next month.

The industrial accident commission issued a good report. No fatalities have resulted from industrial accidents, coming under the commission's supervision, so far during December. The third weekly report of the month yesterday revealed there were 478 accidents, about the usual number reported each week during the past few months.

The so-called Christmas pardons and commutations for inmates at the state penitentiary, were not gifts to the ten recipients, Governor Julius L. Meier informed his secretary. All were deserving cases and to men who not only had done model prisoners, but who have done the state a distinct service while behind the bars.

And Governor Marks, contrary to the usual custom when a substitute governor is in the chair, will issue no pardons or executive clemency during the absence of Meier, he announced. The only ones he is signing are the regular paroles recommended by the parole board, which is part of the routine work of the executive department.

Speaking of penitentiary inmates, the supreme court has received more than 460 postal cards urging the release of Ben Doloff. These all were sent by the International Labor Defense, and signed by different persons in Portland. The cards particularly request a rehearing of the Doloff conviction of criminal syndicalism.

One of the petitions was signed by a Ben W. Adams, who claimed on the card that he was a descendant of John Q. Adams, sixth president of the United States. It would be hard to understand how the supreme court could now turn down such a request signed by such a personage. The court was divided on upholding the conviction, to 3.

Governor Willard L. Marks will not be at his office here today, but will return again Monday to start his second half of his administration of one month. The only board session so far scheduled for next week, will be the bonus commission meeting on Tuesday, but there will be plenty of Christmas program sessions.

Beer Merchant Gets Jail Term
Mary Wells, arrested Thursday night at 918 Trade street on charge of possession of beer, yesterday was sentenced to 25 days in jail by Judge Mark Poulson, municipal judge. She was paroled to Mrs. Nona M. White, county probation officer. She pleaded guilty to the charge.

CHRISTMAS MAIL LACKS IN VOLUME

Christmas mailing at the local postoffice is approximately 15 per cent less now than during the like period last year. Postmaster J. H. Farrar reported yesterday. The rush anticipated during the past two days proved of lower proportion than had been expected.

As a result, only three clerks and a few carriers of the 50 persons whom the office is permitted to hire during the rush have been added to the force.

The postal business is expected to pick up markedly today, however, the postmaster said. To handle the Christmas mail today, the windows, regularly closed at 2 o'clock on Saturdays, will be kept open until 6 o'clock.

The first full car of incoming Christmas mail was distributed yesterday.

Mothers Now Solve Problem of Colds With New Vick Plan
Of peculiar interest to mothers is the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home. The Plan is introduced with the new Vicks VapoRub and Throat Drops. Based on a new idea for "preventing" colds—companion to Vicks VapoRub, the family stand by for "treating" colds. Used together as directed, you can have fewer this winter—a reduction of your "Colds-Tax" in money, loss of time and health.
