BOMB OUTRAGE STIRS OFFICERS

Three Killed, Much Property Damaged in Explosions Over Country

By the Associated Press
Federal investigators and police of a dozen cities combined efforts Friday night to stamp out the growing menace of bombs, most of them directed at influential Italians.

In the last few days at least 12 bombs have been dispatched by mail to express, intended for Italian consuls or others identified with the Fascist movement. In addition other scattered bombings or attempted bombings were reported throughout the country Friday.

After the first of the infernal machines exploded in the Easton, Pa., postoffice Wednesday the entire nation, and particularly persons connected with the Italian government, became wary of all packages from unknown persons.

None of the persons to whom bombs were addressed was killed or injured, although three died. The first explosion took place in Dallas, where a dynamite expert died Thursday night of injuries received when one of the seven bombs seized there exploded as he examined it.

Bomb Addressed to Italian Consul
Chicago police definitely established Friday that the package addressed to Giuseppe Castruccio, Italian consul in that city, was another bomb, the second sent off by express. Officers set off the bomb in a stone quarry where the package was found. The explosion was strong enough to wreck a large city building.

The other bomb sent by express to Chicago was addressed to Oscar Durante, editor of a pro-Fascist newspaper. He refused to accept the package and his fears were confirmed when police lifted it from the box and found it to be a powerful bomb.

Count Ugo Bernal Canani, Detroit Italian vice-consul; Count Cesare Buzzi Grandengo, Italian consul at Cleveland and Dr. A. Rasapepe, Italian consular agent at Youngstown, Ohio, were the targets of similar attempts. In each case, however, the bombs were turned over to the authorities and disposed of harmlessly.

Trinidad Home and Store Blown up
The combined home and grocery store of R. Dionisio, an Italian living in Trinidad, Colo., was destroyed by an explosion, believed to have been caused by a bomb early Friday. The family was not at home and no motive was apparent.

In the rear of a Cincinnati commission merchant house, eight sticks of dynamite, a fuse and two batteries were found. The authorities thought, however, that they had been hidden by a gang of safe blowers.

Belleaire, Ohio, reported the frustration of a plot on Angelo Cifaldi, Italian merchant. Police stationed at his home after he had received threats arrested three men and seized 11 sticks of dynamite under his house.

The combination home and restaurant at an Italian at Paris, Ill., was rocked by the explosion of a bomb. The man said he knew of no explosives.

Fuse Goes Out Seattle Man Saved
The fuse on a dynamite bomb placed under a porch at Seattle went out in time to save the owner of Yoshito Onoh, vice president of the Sumitomo bank, Onoh said he thought it was the work of an enemy of the bank.

Farmer Union's Watch Meeting is Successful Event For Marion Area

MARION, Jan. 1.—The most successful meeting and the one which created the greatest interest since the Marion local of the Farmers' Union was organized, last spring, was held at the W. O. Hall New Year's eve. A watch meeting and the refreshments furnished entirely by the men, closed the exercises.

The fact that several nights had been given to practice of parts of the program by the male members, who were to furnish it entirely, and that they promised a surprise, had heightened interest. Invitations had been eagerly sought, so the hall was filled to its seating capacity.

The pantomime, "Lord Ullin's Daughter," was screamingly funny. Elzy Pickard impersonated the boatman, while Warren Gray was Lord Ullin and J. L. Calavan the Highland chieftain who had run away with the raughter.

A. F. Lafke delivered an apostrophe to his Ford, in the style of the 24th Psalm. A. M. Schmidt sang a song in German and the encore in Russian, to the delight of the listeners. Jacob Gilmore read the declaration of principles, as laid down by National President Simpson.

But to many the folks on organization were the important part of the meeting, and before the crowd dispersed, several applications for membership had been received.

Horace Addis, a visiting member, briefly reviewed the history of the order, from its organization at a small town school house in Texas, in 1902, and told of the great work it had done, as a pioneer educator of the farmer, especially in the line of cooperative marketing, and declared it is still doing a great work. He pointed to the unorganized condition of the farmers as the reason why they need, while bankers and middle-men secure what they desire through the power of organization.

G. W. Potts followed, with a talk along the same line, in which he pointed out that the principal need of organization was the national way of some of the aims of the Oregon branch of the Union. Both speakers referred to the oleomargarine tax bill and pointed to the fact that the Union is pledged to its support, urged members to do what they can against the referendum of the oleo interests have invoked.

Shirley Roland, Marion station agent, while not a member, has been a member of a railroad men's union for 15 years. He spoke of the value of organization for any line of workers and expressed the hope that every farmer would become a member of this useful organization.
