Full Schedule For Next Week

What would Salem groups do without the chamber of commerce rooms as a meeting place? Up to last night, six meetings had been scheduled for next week, as follows:

Monday noon — Weekly luncheon of the chamber; night, meeting board of directors.

Tuesday all day—Oregon Farmers' Union, L. H. McBee of Dallas, president.

Wednesday night — Oregon state game commission meets with members of the Marion County Game Protective association.

Thursday—Opening of two-day school for Girl Scouts.

Friday—Scout school; also at 1 o'clock, meeting of the Oregon Baby Chick association.

Saturday — Oregon State Fox Breeders' association in session all day, beginning at 10 a. m. Eugene Finley of Jefferson is secretary.

Under the Occurrences and Gossip at the center of Oregon's Dome . . .

THE state capitol will have another change in personnel beginning Monday. Both changes will be in the executive office. Instead of Governor Willard L. Marks and the governor's secretary, Miss Beatrice Waiton, there will be Governor Julius L. Meier and his secretary, Mrs. Sheldon F. Sackett.

But as mentioned before the capital city has become used to changes, and following the first surprises and subsequent discussion around the various offices, the alterations are taken for granted. Both the new, yet familiar, faces have been there before and state business will continue as usual.

Next week the new year in state government will start seriously. And there is plenty to look forward to. Although 1932 is not a regular legislative year, there will be two big elections, in May and in November. Beginning this week politics will buzz more than ever, and the names of many will be added to the list of those who will run.

The author of this column takes pleasure in acknowledging an article in the current issue of the Oregon Voter, which in part will be published to explain why so much pleasure is taken in passing it on. Speaking of the column Editor C. C. Chapman says it is "delightfully interesting."

From there on Chapman gets more personal and says "with Governor Meier absent, the authority of 'Under the Dome' reports widespread interest in the Len-

Culbertson contract bridge, personally favoring the 'official system' as more nearly resembling the architecture of the bridge he stands on at midnight." We recall that Chapman is a bridge fan himself, and his playing commands a lot of respect, but we'd like to ask him if he remembers the time he bid three no trump without any diamonds.

And while on the subject of recollections, who can remember when there was a bar in the capitol building? The column has been reliably informed that the bar used to be located where Rufus C. Holman and his money handlers hold forth now.

But that was only half of it. The state printing department was located where Hal E. Hoss herds his assistant secretaries now, just across the hall. Why is it they always place printers and newspaper men in the same category or always right next to such things as bars? Oh, well!

Willard L. Marks, (not governor now since Mr. Meier crossed into Oregon early yesterday) and Mrs. Marks are charming hosts. A state official and a member of the press gallery and their wives spent a pleasant day at Albany with the Marks on New Year's day. They reported the visit a most enjoyable one.

It was reported yesterday that James Stewart secured a new hat. The report made to the press room added that as a result of his acquisition, Jerry Owen is now wearing the old hat once owned by Jim. The story continues with the statement that the exchange was in favor of Jim. That's not surprising; did you ever see a Scotchman not make the best of a situation?

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for kindness shown during the long illness and death of our wife and mother.

CONFIRM SALES ON EXECUTION

Orders confirming sheriff's sale of real property were entered in circuit court yesterday in the following cases:
S. R. Kennedy vs. Mortgage Investment company.
Mrs. N. A. Hasey vs. F. Brady. State Savings & Loan association vs. Alfred H. Berg.
Bessie Updegraff vs. Forrest D. Smith.
H. P. Jensen vs. W. H. McNeal.
Robert Clark vs. Mrs. Delano Bell.

Executions were also returned by the sheriff in the cases of W. A. Rentschler vs. Peter J. Meaney, and Willamette Savings & Loan association vs. W. L. Gaskill. In each of these two cases, plaintiff bid property in at the judgment sum.
