

Santiam River Fishing Development Urged on Commission

SPORTSMEN OF VALLEY GATHER

Criticism Hurlled at Ruling of Use of Autos; Would Nullify Enforcement

Extension of the state board of control's new ruling prohibiting operation of state owned automobiles at night and on Saturday afternoons and holidays, to the state game department would nullify the department's operations to such extent that game law violations would go unheeded.

This was the statement made by Marshall Dana, chairman of the state game commission, at a meeting here last night attended by members of the commission, its executive committee, and sportsmen from Marion, Yamhill and Polk counties.

"Such a situation would leave the streams and fields unguarded," Dana said, "and place the game commission at the mercy of the law violator. It has not been a policy of the game commission and its law enforcement officers to work by the clock."

Dana also stressed the necessity of ridding the Willamette river of pollution, and making it a natural fishing stream of statewide importance. "There was a time," Dana declared, "when the Willamette river was one of the best fishing streams in Oregon. It is now polluted with poisons. We cannot expect good fishing in this state until we halt poisoning our streams with chemicals, sewage and industrial waste. It is apparent that the sportsmen of Oregon do not realize the seriousness of this situation. In correcting the evil it will be necessary to combine our efforts and act courageously."

Enforcement by Police Questioned
The 1931 enactment placing enforcement of the state game laws under the state police department was questioned by Ed Piasecki. The speaker said the state police were receiving $90,000 a year from the game funds, and he, for one, would like to know what the sportsmen are receiving in return. Piasecki said this could be determined by a study of the books of the police department, and a subsequent comparison of the old game commission expenditures for warden service.

Piasecki also deplored the manner in which the personnel of the state game commission, which had hindered the carrying out of any definite or specific program.

Officers of the Salem game protective associations went on record urging that the Santiam river be placed on a path with the McKenzie river, with relation to fishing advantages. Chris Kowitz declared that while the Santiam river had been accessible to fishermen for several years, it had been neglected by the game commission.

Kowitz presented figures to show that more than 4,000,000 fish had been liberated in the waters of the McKenzie river during the past two years, while less than half that number had been planted in the Santiam river.

"The sportsmen of Marion county are interested in the Santiam river as a fishing stream," Kowitz said, "and we want some of the fish that are taken there to be returned to the Santiam river. Members of the game commission assured Mr. Kowitz that no more eastern trout would be planted in Willamette valley streams."

Change Sought in Outthroat Season
A delegation from Yamhill county recommended that the season for outthroat trout open April 1 instead of April 15 and close October 30 instead of November 30. It also was recommended that the bag limit for fish be reduced from 20 to 25, and that winter tide water fishing be stopped. The Yamhill sportsmen further asked that the grouse and pheasant seasons run concurrently.

E. G. Craven, representing the Polk county sportsmen, said he would oppose reducing the bag limit as urged by the Yamhill county delegation. He urged a budget system of distributing fish in order that all counties might be treated fairly. Craven declared that there were no stream pollution problems in Polk county.

The Santiam Fish and Game association presented a resolution protesting against the present game law enforcement program under the state police. The association suggested that a suit be filed in the courts to enjoin the game commission from paying any of its funds into the state police department.

Douglas McKay, Salem sportsman, asked the game commission to take action to the end that the Eight Lake Basin will be placed in what is known as a primitive area. He declared that this area was famous for its fishing area, and that something should be done to preserve it in its present state.

Fall Fishing for Trout is Opposed
The Isak Walton League of Silverton went on record against fall fishing for trout, and urged that the season be closed not later than August 15.

A similar suggestion was advanced by the Salem Isak Walton League, with the addition that a law be enacted prohibiting fishermen from using salmon eggs for bait.

Several speakers called attention to the game commission's plan to lease the water of the lake dropped 15 feet within a single week. The lake was declared to be one of the best fishing areas in the entire state, and it was suggested that the game commission close a part of Marion Lake as its outlet.

Spec's Longfellows Get Jump on Rosebuds, Keep It Through Tight Battle

The Willamette university Bearcats returned to the win column Wednesday night by defeating the Portland Rosebuds, 34 to 29, in the Willamette gymnasium. Coach "Spec" Keene started his big men and they were able to grab a lead before the Rosebuds could figure out a suitable defense. Early in the game Willamette led 8 to 2 and was never on the bottom end of the score, though in the last canto the Rosebuds crept within two points of the Bearcats when Waffle, sub guard, got hot with long shots.

The starting five for Willamette handled the ball well and kept control of it most of the time, though they were a trifle slow on executing plays. Griffith, Kloostra and Carpenter all counted for baskets and Rieke broke in from guard position three times to score during the game. Carpenter, playing forward now instead of his old position of guard, was high scorer of the Bearcats with eight points.

Roy Benjamin worked in well when he replaced Griffith at forward and George Seales gave the crowd a few glimpses of speed when he entered the game. He did not start the contest due to an infected knee and when he did get in, soon left by the four-foot route, as did Allen.

Once again Willamette committed numerous fouls and also was again almost hit when it came to converting free throws. Out of 13 attempts, only two conversions were made. In the first half the Bearcats blew seven chances to score with free throws and converted none.

At half time the score was 14 to 9 for Willamette, but at the outset of the second period, Waffle and McChesney of the Rosebud outfit got into motion and made a close game out of the contest. McChesney was the outstanding floor man of the game and split scoring honors with Carpenter and Jones at eight points.

Friday night Willamette will play the Florshelm team at the city championship game.

tournaments, they will have to be crowded into a couple of days and there are going to be some terribly basketball-weary boys somewhere in Oregon.

High school boys can survive three games in two days if part of them are consolation games without mental stress of championship games; but four games in two days with the fate of national records on each one, as far as the boys' own viewpoint is concerned, are absolutely too many.

Yes, we've been counted out, flat on our back, but we'll stage a comeback some day—and this last ruling is going to help us stage it sooner.

And once more—we hope the district tournament this year goes to Albany, which will appreciate it more than Salem would.

The uniforms of Salem's "red and black" are black this year instead of the red that has streaked over basketball floors for the last several years. It seems to make little difference in the streaking.

Salem high beat Woodburn by a score quite similar to that made by Astoria. We're not yet convinced that the Cherrians are in Astoria's class. That big Salem high gym is playing for a visiting team to play in than most fans realize.

Tuesday night's wrestling match wasn't strictly that perennial "novelty" bout between a wrestler and a boxer, each using his own tactics, but was the next thing to it. And the outcome was just what usually happens in such cases.

It will apply to district No. 12, Marion and Linn counties, but we are informed by District Chairman Bain of Woodburn that it will make no difference this year, as all of the schools have agreed that the "A" and "B" league champions of the two counties will enter the district tournament so that there will be only four teams.

But the world is made up of all kinds of people and some of them are high school principals and coaches; and it wouldn't surprise us to hear of a district tournament in some district that will have more teams entered than the state tournament itself. Some of these teams of course will have no chance—but with the limited drawing power of some of these Figures were submitted showing that the Marion county sportsmen's organizations released approximately 1800 China pheasants during the past year, and that pens had been constructed at a cost of many thousands of dollars.

Criticism Cause
By System, Stated
Matt Corrigan of McMinnville, a member of the commission, said many of the criticisms by the sportsmen were due to the system, and not to any fault of the game officials. Corrigan declared that sentiment should be built, which would prevent frequent changes in the personnel of the commission. This, he said, would make it possible for the commission to carry out its 10 year wild life program.

It was brought out at the meeting that there will be a substantial shrinkage in the game commission receipts this year, due to the business depression and other causes.

Dana told the sportsmen that Oregon now has more than 98,000,000 acres of water areas which makes it one of the most productive wild game states in the union. Dana explained briefly the 10 year wild life program of the commission, and what was intended to be accomplished.

The purpose of these meetings is to obtain from sportsmen all over the state their ideas in connection with formulating the game commission's ten year program.

SHOE MEN WIN OVER VISITORS

Score 51-18; Regular Five From Linfield Missing Because Coach Ill

The Florshelm basketball team defeated a Linfield college pickup team 51 to 18 at the Willamette university gymnasium Wednesday night.

Coach Lever of Linfield college was ill and would not send his first team since he was unable to learn of this in time to make public announcement of it in the newspapers before the game.

However, Manager Ashby states that a contest will be arranged later with the Wildcats.

The Linfield pickups played good ball for a few minutes, but showed lack of training and could not maintain the pace set. Florshelm did not overwork, but garnered points consistently during the entire fracas.

Harold Hauk, another former Willamette university player, performed for the Florshelm for the first time. Hauk played a good defensive game and led the scoring with 13 points. Foreman also showed up well when he replaced Adams at forward. Florshelm now have seven good players and all are Salem material.

Beard was the best looking player for Linfield and scored six points.

Florshelm will play Willamette Friday and Saturday of this week for the city championship. Friday's game will be at the armory.

Lineups:
Florshelm: Marr, 4; Adams, 12; Fluke, 4; Frager, 7; Hauk, 13.
Linfield: Jarnon, 2; Carter, 3; Clark, 3; Owens, 2; Heord, 6; Lever, 1.

Under the Occurrences and Gossip at the center of Oregon's state government

THE state police department when it demoted Harry Niles to permit him to return to Portland at the end of his leave of absence, promoted five men to take his place. At least this is Niles' version of the promotions following his resignation the first of the year. George Alexander is now deputy superintendent.

Well, maybe he wasn't so far from wrong after all, even if he did make the statement in a boastful and facetious manner. Harry will certainly be missed around the state police department after January 15, as he has proved himself an efficient and popular assistant to Charles Pray. Niles will return to his position with the Portland police.

MRS. BOEDIGHEIMER PASSES AT STATON

STATON, Jan. 6.—Mrs. Leona Boedigheimer, aged 32, died Tuesday morning at the Salem General hospital of pneumonia and serious complications. She was born at Sublimity, Oregon, and was married to George Boedigheimer in 1918, who with a son, Cletus, and a small daughter, Mary Jean survive. She is also survived by her mother, Mrs. Theresa Frank, a sister, Mrs. Frank Kerber, two brothers, Charles and Leo, all of Staton and another brother, Albert of Oregon City. Funeral services will be held at the Catholic church here.

Four Deaths
There have been an unusual number of deaths in this section the past few days. On Tuesday four bodies lay at the Wedle mortuary here. They were Mrs. Roger Montgomery, of Mehama, Mrs. Leona Boedigheimer, Mrs. Lucy Smith of Lyons and the little three-year-old Ruth Child.

As if it were not enough for Dr. H. A. Beauchamp to be ill Christmas day and several days following, he is again confined to his home, having had a gathering in one of his ears. It is thought that he was out too soon after his recent illness causing the present trouble.

Trustees of the Catholic church have rented the house recently vacated by the Quillhott family and are fitting it up as a residence for the sisters who are teaching in the parochial school. It is expected to have the house ready for occupancy by Thursday. Later on a suitable home will be built on the property the church owns, opposite the church and school. Since the school was built a little more than two years ago the sisters have resided at Sublimity, going back and forth each day.

Owen Ogden Sets Insurance Sales Mark Once More

Owen F. Ogden has again set a record for himself by leading all other agents in the Oregon branch in selling New York Life insurance for December. He sold 36 1/2 applications representing a volume of about $99,000.

This record places Ogden on the "leaders list" of the company for December for both number of policies written and for volume of business turned in.

This is not the first time that Ogden has held this record but in the present depression, he has been particularly commended by his company.
