Hubbard Has First Use of Its New Tank

HUBBARD, Jan. 8 .- City water was pumped into the new tank Thursday, The tank, built entirely of steel, is 75 feet above the ground and will supply the town with an abundance of pure water by gravity flow. The water, being in an elevated tank, maintains a uniformly high pressure and the reserve supply is available for use in case of fire or any unusually heavy demand for water.

The tank has a capacity of 50,-000 gallons and is so constructed with a three-foot stand pipe that it can easily be cleaned and there will be no dead water in the tank. The tank was constructed at a cost of $4700 by W. F. Dillon of the Chicago Bridge & Iron Works, which company also fabricated the

While the new tank was being built the city used the creamery tank, which was loaned by the owner, Garfield Voget.
