throttle a little at a time as orders revive. The lumbermen seem to have learned the lesson of a glut of production, and through close control will not launch full-time manufacture with the first sheafful of spring orders.
The lumber industry is the most important one in this state. It is in the worst plight of any. But lumber is an essential commodity, and sooner or later demands for it will return, with a resultant quickening of the business pulse in return, with a resultant quickening of all the communities of the state.
