Slackening in Efforts Seen By Leaders; Weather Partly to Blame

ing. Today the executive committee for the Work Promotion plan will meet at the chamber of commerce at 4:30 o'clock, followed by the reporting meeting at 5:00 o'clock.

As an example of jobs that can be provided at the same time the householder is benefitted in the cedar lining of a closet. This convenience now being built into many new houses, can be installed at low cost. The walls and ceiling of the closet are lined with cedar boards, the floor laid with cedar slats, under which are placed cedar shavings. The result is a moth-proof storage space of large capacity without the use of moth-balls.

WINNIE RUTH JUDD FACES MALE JURY

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 18—(AP)—Winnie Ruth Judd, to face trial for her life tomorrow for the slaying of Agnes Anne Lerol, X-ray technician, sat alone in her cell today and contemplated newly purchased finery in which she will appear before the all-male jury that will sit in judgment on her.

Exhibits of clothing were brought to her cell during the week end and from them she selected about $100 worth of garments to wear at the trial. The alleged perpetrator of the dual trunk slaying which stirred the southwest three months ago, will have a second change of murder to face after disposal of the first. She is under indictment for murder in the first degree also for the slaying and dismemberment of Hedvig Samuelson, tubercular convalescent and close friend both of herself and Mrs. Lerol.

AUTO CRASH FATAL TO GEORGE F. BEGG

The accident occurred on the Pacific highway, nine miles south of Salem, as Mr. Begg was returning to his home at Marshfield after visiting with his daughter at Portland. He had lived in Coos county for many years. His wife died six months ago.

Surviving are four children: Dr. Merle Begg, Yakima, Wash.; Mrs. Gladys Jones of Weiser, Ida.; Mrs. Georgia Fabian of Yakima, and Mrs. V. A. Daniels of Portland.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at the Portland crematorium under the direction of W. T. Rigdon and Son.

Davenport Files Protest Against Alimony Request

Vicious protest to the payment of any alimony or suit money by him, was filed yesterday in circuit court by Lowell E. Davenport of Silverton in answering his wife's divorce complaint recently filed. Davenport says he is now in debt $2000 on a $125 a month salary through the excessive expenditures of his wife and illness on her part. He asks custody of their two children and says he will try to provide $25 a month for their support.

Davenport denies that he has not been a dutiful husband. He says on the other hand that his wife has gone out with other men, has taken long vacations from her home work, has treated him unkindly and has on several occasions struck him and has repeatedly said she does not care for Davenport but is interested only in her music.

The Davenports were married March 10, 1927. Monkey Fur Returns NEW YORK (AP)—Monkey fur is back in style. The long shaggy fur, relegated to the attic for the last five years, is now being used to trim jaunty little evening capes.

SKY-PILOT

The word "sky-pilot" took on a new significance for Father John Fagan, young Brooklyn, N. Y., priest, shortly after this picture was made, for he was informed that he had passed the Government test for his pilot's license. Father Fagan had thirty-six hours in the air and was pictured as he took his test at Roosevelt Field, New York.

The Elsinore bill today is sincere entertainment. "Manhattan Parade" with Winnie Lightner and Charles Butterworth is simply an amusing picture — no claim to anything else and at times cannot even claim that. But in all it should please both the eye and the ear for the sound is smooth and the whole picture is done in technicolor. You will be surprised how much better looking Winnie Lightner is under technicolor. In fact this effect makes several of the actors appear "fish and blood."

The Tulane-Southern California football game is real entertainment. All the thrill of the "festival of roses" parade which preceded the game and then the game in detail. It is splendid.

The feature at the Capitol is a story that all the younger generation should "go a load of". Sniffles and handkerchiefs were quite in evidence Monday. The acting is sincere, genuine, inspired at times. The youth of the cast and the master-work they do is amazing. And Beryl Mercer makes one live her part with her sincere and fine she is. The story is simple — home life, misunderstanding of a lad when he has reached that touchy age of beginning manhood for boyhood, and the subsequent events of this lad's life as he develops reason and love and intelligence. Easy to do but the results were hard to take. There is small choice to praise in the cast all are so good but Eric Linden seems to shadow the rest in some of his powerfully emotional scenes.

Mellon May be Asked to Tell His Own Story

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—(AP)—Secretary Mellon may be asked to tell the house judiciary committee in person about some of his business affairs which Representative Patman of Texas claims make it illegal for him to continue in office.

While hearings continued today on Patman's resolution of impeachment, it was learned several members of the committee are considering making such a request. Thus far in the hearings, Mellon's side of the controversy has been upheld by two specially chosen representatives of the treasury head.

which the public utilities committee could then proceed to consider before making definite recommendations to the council. Kowitz said the engineers would prepare the specifications on which contractors would bid.

Louis E. Rydell, engineering graduate of Oregon State college with the class of 1925, submitted his qualifications to the city council should they require the services of an experienced hydraulic engineer in connection with construction of the new water system. He has had four and a half years experience with the city of Tacoma on the new water project there and the Cushman dam hydro-electric project recently completed, besides other civil engineering experience with private companies.

BUSINESS REVIVAL BILLS NEAR WINDUP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—(AP)—One business revival measure was nearly ready to go to the White House tonight and the leader of them all—the two billion dollar reconstruction corporation bill—was not far behind.

Late in the day the senate sent it to conference and only the fact that the house had already adjourned prevented an attempt to have the first meeting of conferees tonight. The men named by the senate and the house to reconcile differences on the federal land banks bill completed their job today.

The sponsors of the bills are confident the two proposals urged by President Hoover to restore credit and confidence for farm and finance, will be ready for his signature within a few days. The $125,000,000 land bank legislation will be up for final senate approval tomorrow.

TRAFFIC CLEANUP RESULTS IN FINES

Clean-up of cases resulting from last week's drive on errand motorists constituted the major activity in municipal court yesterday.

The driver's license of Donald Doerfler of Macleay, charged with reckless driving, was suspended for 30 days. Judge Markoulsen first fined the youth $10 but later changed the sentence. Doerfler was arrested on Saturday after his automobile crashed into another driven by Miss Dorothy Pickens, causing injuries to Miss Pickens and to Miss Serena M. Anderson, a pedestrian.

Ball of $5.00, posted by Frank Carter of Eugene after he was arrested on Saturday night on a charge of speeding, was declared forfeited when he did not appear in court yesterday. Carter's car was struck by a machine driven by C. M. Martin, 956 Fifth street, he reported to the police.

DELAY OF Y. W. C. A. FUND DRIVE URGED

Some discouragement had been met by the committees working toward the annual Y. W. C. A. drive scheduled for February 1 to 5, the objection being that economic conditions were not right for the drive, and that it would be better to wait until a later date.

The initial gift committee headed by Mrs. L. O. Clement made investigation as to the reaction of business men Monday and found them all advising that the campaign be carried on as it was scheduled. The impression was that the campaign would be successful and that it could not find a better time than the present to be forwarded.

These were the reports brought out at the called committee meeting of the initial gift committee at the Y. W. C. A. Monday night. The budget this year is to be $6,000, considerably less than last year and based on the smallest amount with which executives felt the organization could carry on its activities this coming year. Headquarters for this campaign will this year be in the Y. W. C. A. rather than in the Y. M. C. A. as it has been in years past. This change is possible because of the increased room for serving and the efficiency of the kitchen service developed by recent remodeling.

LINDSEY NAMED IN PLACE OF SIMERAL

Mayor P. M. Gregory won a skirmish in the city council last night on his recommendation that Harry H. Lindsey be appointed foreman at the city incinerator in place of L. J. Simeral, superintendent until the first of the year.

Alderman Paul Hendricks reported that his committee had investigated and found it satisfactory to have Lindsey, who has been working at the incinerator as laborer, take charge at $100 a month, and thus make a saving in operation costs and release Simeral, who has been getting $150 a month.

Alderman Vandevort and Hughes objected, since it was the province of the entire council to select the head of the plant, but a motion was made that the council give the mayor's recommendation a vote of confidence. The vote was in a doubt and a standing vote was called for which sustained the mayor.

The 1932 budget did not provide enough money for incinerator operation to continue the position of superintendent. Alderman Hendricks did not have his committee report but promised to bring it at the next meeting when the matter will be finally disposed of.

Farrell (above) has announced that he will retire from his position on April 18 next, at the time of the annual meeting of the stockholders. Farrell was selected for the responsible post by J. P. # Salem's Firemen Are Not Insured Outside of City

Salem firemen going to fires outside the city limits are not insured by the state industrial accident commission, Charles T. Early, commission chairman, yesterday informed Mark Poulsen, city recorder. Early suggested that if the department continued to answer outside alarms he would set up a new insurance rate for the added coverage, if that is desirable.

Recorder Poulsen stated that rather than accept the higher rate the city might be able to insure with a private company at the present premium, receiving the protection for firemen on outside runs.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—(AP)—Democrats on the house appropriations committee today practiced the economy they have been preaching in reporting an agriculture department supply bill reduced $10,799,000 below budget bureau estimates. The bureau itself had agreed the department could get along on $186,243,000 some $60,000,000 below appropriations for the current fiscal year. The committee slashed this to $175,433,000.

HULET STATES HIS GENERAL POLICIES

In a prepared statement issued here yesterday, Charles S. Hulet, master of the state grange and candidate for the republican nomination for congress in the first district, declared he would "place the welfare of the common people of my district and our nation above private interests and will oppose special privileges, great chains and mergers that create monopolies."

"The note to be stressed in the coming election must be the economic one," said Hulet. He advocates unemployment and old-age insurance, amortization of all indebtedness by public utilities and he opposes loans of government moneys to foreign countries.

Hulet stated that he favored a larger tax upon inheritances and upon incomes in the higher brackets. He said he would abide by the wishes of the people on the controversial subject of prohibition.

Frank Fay Eddy of Albany is assisting Hulet with the publicity work in his campaign.
