The Oregon States man

"No Favor Sways Us; No Fear Shall Awe" From First Statesman, March 28, 1851

THE STATESMAN PUBLISHING CO. CHARLES A. SPRAGUE, SHELDON F. SACKETT, Publishers CHARLES A. SPRAGUE Editor-Manager SHELDON F. SACKETT - - - Managing Editor

Member of the Associated Press The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publica-tion of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper.

Pacific Coast Advertising Representatives: Arthur W. Stypes, Inc., Portland, Security Bidg. San Francisco, Sharon Bidg.; Los Angeles, W. Pac. Bilg. Eastern Advertising Representatives: Ford-Parsons-Stecher, Inc., New York, Salmen Tower Bldg., 11 W. 42nd St.; Chicago, 860 N. Michigan Ave.

Entered at the Postoffice at Salem, Oregon, as Second-Class Matter. Published every morning except Monday. Business office, 215 S. Commercial Street.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

Mail Subscription Rates, in Advance. Within Oregon: Daily and Sunday, 1 Mo. 50 cents; 3 Mo. $1.25; 6 Mo. $2.25; 1 year $4.00. Elsewhere 50 cents per Mo., or $5.00 for 1 year in advance. By City Carrier: 45 cents a month; $5.00 a year in advance. Per Copy 2 cents. On trains and News Stands 5 cents

World Achievement

CUCH is the title for a special edition of the "Christian Science Monitor" for Jan. 7th. There are two regular news sections, the special features being rotogravures, four end of the first half and 32 to 10 sections of them. From far corners of the earth pictures at the bitter end. have come to grace this beautifully printed edition. It is all in sepia, no multicolored work being attempted. The edition is largely pictorial too; and that is well because pic- and now is extremely grave. Extures tell the store more quickly and more graphically than treme unction was administered type.

What impresses us in this review of achievement of the world in 1931 is the prominence of engineering. Perhaps it is because things like tall buildings and bridges and steamships lend themselves to illustration while subjects of research like hunting for influenza germs or learning what tricks the gamma ray can perform are not material for 1931, far from being a year of "stillhaltung", standstill, was a year of real achievement, as these pictures testify. We may call the roll:

GREAT BRIDGES: A 1650 ft. steel arch bridge over Sydney harbor, Australia; the Kill van Kull bridge, with point is that it is a very inferior longest arch span in the world, connecting Staten island milk produced with little superwith Jersey shore; the George Washington bridge across the Hudson with longest span, 3500 ft., suspension type; the St. Johns bridge at Portland over the Willamette with valids and babies should be the a clear span of 1200 ft.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC AND IRRIGATION DAMS: Bagnell dam in Missouri; Dniepr river dam in Russia which will generate over 800,000 hp.; Westphalia project, one of larg- "I don't think so. I think it should est in Europe, utilizing water drop of 500 ft.; enlarging the be the better grades only. You great dam on the Nile.

BUILDINGS: Empire State building in New York city, are getting." 102 stories, 1250 ft. high, tallest structure ever built by man; new national library building in Peiping, China; new parliament house for northern Ireland; viceregal lodge in "C" grade milk."

A. C. Bohrastedt, real estate dealer: "No, I don't favor seiling of the Royal Horticultural society of London, through the cooperation of swans. He found three kinds of New Delhi, India; modernistic Berlin Broadcasting company building; Karl Marx Hof in Vienna, housing project where 40,000 may live.

Add to these highway construction, shipbuilding, port think it should be sold. projects, terminals, airplane construction, it becomes increasingly evident that modern civilization in large measure is built on the work of the engineer.

The section devoted to "Social and Economic Progress" pictures the building of a wall, with separate blocks bearing labels such as "Court Procedure Speeded"; "Status of Workers Improved"; "Wickersham Commission Reports"; "Billion Dollar Credit Pool"; "Home Loan Credit Pool",-indeed not a very imposing assortment. Some are indefinite; others like "Status of Workers Improved", of doubtful validity. The text however asserts that in China and Mexico definite progress was made toward protection of labor. 1931 was a year of a vast deal of thinking and talking and writing about social and economic progress, but there was real economic recession all over the world, outside of Russia.

Research progressed apace in 1931. What care men who browse about in the stellar spaces, who crack open atoms lowing officers were reelected to and compute their densities, who peer through microscopes the Turner State bank at its reat concerous tissues,—what care they about volume of trade T. Pierce; vice-president C. A. and credit balances? So it is reported that during the year Bear; cashier, Mrs. Ursula Pierce; the disintegration of the atom was successfully photographed at Pasadena; Orion was found to be three times as Talbot; board of directors, E. T. far away from the earth as previously believed; metallurgists discovered new ways of mixing metals.

All in all, 1931 will be a date that will be quoted in the future for many achievements, other than that of being the worst hard times year in forty years. The "Monitor" should be thanked for giving us this review of the year in a form so easy to take.

En Character

CHARLIE DAWES as president of the reconstruction finance corporation seems far more appropriate than Charlie Dawes as master of the dove-cote at Geneva. In fact the only way we could feature him as head of the disarmament delegation was that it might take a fighting cock to crack a few heads together and get some action.

But in the field of big busniess where "damns" and "hells" are insignia of executive ability (supposedly) Charlie Dawes ought to be in fine feather. He knows how to bluff and that is what the business man of the present lacks. In fact he is almost bluffed out. Dawes can talk turkey to Wall street, is a household god on LaSalle street, and the people on Main street know his language. So if there is anyone who can cuss or cajole prosperity into parking just around the next corner it must be Dawes.

We do not think he will throw that two billion dollars around recklessly either. He is cold-blooded banker enough to call for good security first. He is more apt to kick business in the pants and set it to work than to try coaxing it along with lollypops and nursing bottles.

Dawes will alter business psychology too. None of the drooping and sniveling about hard times and depression will go with him. He may take some hard blows on the chin, but before he gets through old man depression will take the count.

The country may well give nine raws for Dawes, new president of the Hoover second-aid to business.

Where News is Graded

THE following made page one of the Oregon Emerald. student daily at the university:

Body by Fisher — Hooey by Hulet Swing the searchlight back to the Willamette valley. Veteran Congressman Willis C. Hawley of Grundy tariff fame must face Grangemaster C. C. Hulet in a contest for his seat. Hulet makes no mention of destitute widows and orphans, but he does weep loud and long for the "industrial needs and individual problems of my district."

Like a/dyed-in-the-wool politician, he straddles prohibition, jumps monopolies, bows down to the bonus, trumpets for the "common man" and promises log-rolling aplenty. But give the devil his due. Hulet favors unemployment and old age insurance, peace and more peace and what have you. But poor old C. C. (cubic centimeter or compound cathartic) blindly takes one on the chin by failing to call Hawley on the tariff -in fact he wants more protection. Page Dr. Mes!

Charitably, WEBFOOT CHARLEY.

Y esterdays

January 20, 1907 Establishment of an orphans' home in Salem, receiving the interest from a $25,000 bequest left by the late Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Burbank, is being urged, as the legislature considers placing the funds in trust with Governor Chamberlain, Secretary of State Benson and State Treasurer

The new city dads, elected on a platform of more paving for Sa-lem, are expected to devote their first session tomorrow night to this matter.

Borings to cost $8000 are to be made at Durfur in search of oil.

January 21, 1922

The police department has received many complaints concerning the alleged gambling at the Elks Mardi Gras. A persistent rumor was about that the games might be stopped.

Idaho won an unquestioned victory over the Bearcats last night. the score standing 14 to 5 at the

New Views

Yesterday Statesman reporters asked the question: "Do you favor the selling of 'C' grade milk in

J. E. Blinkhorn, county dairy and food inspector: "I don't favor "C" grade milk in Salem. The reason I don't from our standvision because it is intended for factory use rather than home consumption. Milk consumed by inbest because they are the most liable to contract disease."

Mrs. C. S. Russell, housewife; want to give the children milk man-but there are some mat- macrotiss." He spoke in other and you want to know what they ters of general historical value places of the great abundance of Maxine Welch, 531 North Cot. pany. tage: "I don't know a great deal about it, but personally I don't

Daily Thought

TURNER, Jan. 20. - The folcent annual meeting. President E. assistant cashier, Mrs. Mae B. Pierce, J. E. Whitehead, C. A. Bear, Mrs. Ursula B. Pierce. Resources of the bank total $62,397.25; time certificates and

The officers of Turner Securiles company are: President, E. T. Pierce; vice-president, C. Bear: secretary-treasurer, J. Whitehead.

years suffered from a hacking urged him to consult with a physician. His reply was always the cough. His family continuously bills payable and rediscounts aggregate $16,848.26.

cough does not bother me and I feel fine. Why should I go to a doctor?" He contracted an acute infection and was confined to his bed. A physician was called and discovered that the man was suffer-

By EDSON HERE'S HOW

Tomorrow: "Beefsteak From Pine Logs"

BITS for BREAKFAST

Douglas, the "grass man":

* * * The Quarterly of the Oregon Historical society for September, 1904, contains a great deal of matter concerning David Douglas. the celebrated Scottish botanist and traveler, who explored the Oregon country for specimens more than 100 years ago, and introduced into botany 154 specimens of trees and plants indigenous to this section. He was the man who discovered the Douglass spruce, named for him. 5 5 N

The account of his travels in this then wild wilderness, mostly from his journals, is more interesting to students in the field in which he excelled than to the laytion of the Hudson's Bay com-

Leaving England July 25. 1824, on the ship William and Anne of that company, the vessel, having come around Cape Horn, was off the mouth of the Columbia Feb. 12, 1825, but storms prevented entrance until April 7, and it was the 20th when he arrived in a small boat with Dr. John Mc-Loughlin, ahead of the ship, at the point where the construction there of the first buildings was

* * * He lived in a tent there at first, exploring for plants and seeds until June 20, when a company boat with an Indian crew took him to a point above Celilo falls. He told of the salmon fishing scenes there. enacted for centuries by the Inchanged-excepting that then the red men made their lines of wild native flax, or a plant that yielded fiber similar there to. .

. . . After a month in that district, he went down the Columbia for additional specimens, and on Aug. 19 came up the Multnomah (Willamette) river, and camped 24 miles above the falls. While he was there an Indian party of hunrange. Douglas said his camp was service to you in forming a sched-ule: At eight o'clock serve breakfast, ule: At eight o'clock serve breakfast, intiuding a glass of milk. At ten e'clock, another glass of milk is served. At 12:30 lunch is given, and this too should include a glass of milk, and at 4 p. m. milk is again served. Early dinner is important. It should not be served later than $:30 and must include a glass of milk. Before retiring at 9 p. m. another glass of milk should be

A daily program is of great value.

The patient should remain in bed until ordered out by his physician. Between the hours of two and four the patient must sleep or have com-piete rest. A sponge bath followed by an alcohol rub should be given

Daily Health Talks

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

KNOW a man who for many or longer is imperative. During this

Answers to Health Queries

A.—Some kind of body poison is responsible for the trouble as a rule, tastinal disturbant but the exact cause is uncertain. Coorden, 1922, King peaceful, well disposed people." He wrote: "Near my emcampment was a saline spring, to which the deer frequently resorted, as well as the beautiful ringed species of Columba (pigeons), whose elegant movements when picking up and licking the saline particles that were found around the edge afforded me great amusement." (What reader can tell where the camp of Douglas was-and the saline spring, or deer lick? It must have been near the Willamette river, and not far below the site of Salem.)

J. E. S. Q.—What causes shingles? "An Appreciative Reader." Q.—What causes dreaming every night?

Douglas wrote: "I killed several of the Cervus Leucurus, or long white tailed deer, as well as some of the black tailed kind, C. connected with his account of deer then in the Willamette valwhat he saw and experienced. He ley, and of elk, and of other A. C. Bohrnstedt, real estate was laboring under the auspices animals and birds, some of them of London, through the coopera- of swans. He found three kinds of

He wrote: "I procured some curious kinds of Myoxus Mus, Arctomys, a new species of Canis, of singular habits, and a genus of animals which had been hitherto undescribed." (A commentator thinks these may have been our pouch gophers.)

Douglas said: "In the extensive plains, bounded on the west by the mountainous woody part of the coast, and on the east by high mountains (describing the Willamette valley), as also on the banks of the River Sandiam (Santiam), one of the rapid branches of the Multnomah (Willamette) grows an abundance of the Escholtzia Californica . . . also Iris tenax (flags). Nicotiana multivalvis (wild tobacco plant), two new species of Trichostemma (black sage or pennyroyal), and many other delightful plants."

This column some months (or years) ago contained a statement concerning the wild tobacco plants found by our pioneers on he banks of the Santiam river. Douglas found such plants in other sections of the Oregon country-some of them, he said, from seeds brought by the Indians sown on burned over patches of soil and springing up and growmade near a village of the Cala- ing luxuriantly without cultiva- BOILING, as they believed—and The new stage will be used for the tions in church and hall. (Calapoola) Indians, "a tion. The Indians used the cured so they called him Olla Piska. plant for smoking.

* * * As to the Escholtzia Californica Wearing his spectacles on his (California popples) which Doug- nose created no less wonderment las found in such abundance in the Willamette valley, especially their hands on their mouths, in along the banks of the Santiam, token of dread and astonishment. as some readers will remember, Thus, alone and surrounded by this column not long ago printed hundreds of hostile savages, even the finding in the same field of the murderous Umpquas, he led W. D. Breckenridge, the natural- a sort of charmed life in the st with the Wilkes expedition in wilds, showing no fear-though 1841; U. S. government expedi- after many fearfully tickling sition. That naturalist found Cali- uations were safely in the past, he fornia poppies on the west side of would shudder and be thankful ent Polk, Yambill and Benton life. counties. As was said by the writer then, the California poppy is as much entitled to be called the Oregon poppy.

Going out from his camp on his collecting tours from the saline spring, Douglas must have been on the banks of the Santiam river. He traveled from Fort Vanman was suffering from rather advanced tuber-culosis.

This story is all too typical. Too little attention is paid to the danger signals.

No one should take a chance on tuberculosis. If proper care is not taken, the course of the disease is very rapid. When the disease is receptable in its early stages and proper care is given, tuberculosis is curable. Early symptoms of this disease are rather vague and indefinits. No matter how slight these symptoms may seem to you, they should be given immediate attention. A cough, loss of weight, poor appetite, chest or body pain, fover and night sweats are signs that must be investigated immediately.

One who shows any tendency toward tuberculosis can be treated at home. The treatment is beneficial only it instructions are carefully followed. Complete rest in bed for one month

Protect against draughts and colds by placing a sense at all times. Protect against draughts and colds by placing a sense around the bed and keeping the patient well covered. Smoking and alcohol rub should be given in the windows of the bedroom are to be kept wide open at all times. Protect against draughts and colds by placing a sense around the bed and keeping the patient well covered. Smoking and alcohol rub should be given into be kept wide open at all times. Protect against draughts and colds by placing a sense around the bed and keeping the patient well covered. Smoking and alcohol rub should be given into be kept wide open at all times. Protect against draughts and colds by placing a sense around the bed and keeping the patient well covered. Smoking and alcohol rub should be given into be kept wide open at all times. Protect against draughts and colds by placing a sense around the bed and keeping the patient well covered. Smoking and alcohol rub studies of the bed sughts and colds and keeping the patient well covered. Smoking and alcohol rub studies and colds and keeping the patient well covered. The patient well covered and keeping the patient well covered. The protect against the patient we couver in an Indian canoe, which he said gave a hard task in the portage at the falls, and he probably used that means in getting up a sfar as the mouth of the Santiam; and also in navigating that stream, stopping at convenient points to examine and collect specimens. This part of his work was necessarily done on foot; in fact he walked much: was the greatest white tramp in the Oreson country in the period before the missionaries and settlers came.

Every day he faced dangers, and he barely escaped death many, many times. The Indians could not understand him. They care of the advertising. called him the "grass man," and his work seemed so useless to

He was a wonderful marksman, and frequently showed his skill, from the rays of the sun (a trick viile district.

"The Gay Bandit of Border

Per years. Pace Morales ruled the peons in Mexico with an iron hand, silence, Ted asked, "Tired, Bob?"

No answer. The weight of the Before dawn Rob's from the peons in Mexico with an iron hand, silence, Ted asked, "Tired, Bob?"

No answer. The weight of the Before dawn Rob's from the peons in through done. And in all the borderland he could look nowhere for aid. them from their homes, but the crisis older man seemed heavier, and as ing. Quickly the fever mounted and has come. "El Coyote," the mys-with the aid of the U. E. Cavalry under Major Blount, has searched eyes opened and the lips moved.

Very faintly Ted heard the words, cliffe, an American whose late father was ruined by Morales, is in love with Adela, the Spaniard's beautiful nices. Jito, Morales' ward, is jealous of Ted. Bob Harkness, Ted's friend, of the starlit desert Ted sat very the entrance.

tells him he has plans for settling of the starlit desert Ted sat very the entrance, the score with Morales. While out still, while one by one past memo- "Your mast riding, Ted and Adela lose their way ries crowded in on him, until at last and spend the night in the desert, they had formed themselves into an go to bring help. Stay with him. Adela resents her uncle's suspicions, inescapable pattern. With the sud- Keep him in bed. You understand?" Later, Bob returns home with Ted denness of a lightning holt the truth and learns that some of his cattle burst forth. El Coyote! "Si."
were stolen. He doubts that "El Curiously, as if he were looking In two minutes she was shuffling

Ted and goes upstairs to visit Ann side him. He felt his own heart floor. Reed, an entertainer. Bob is "El pounding and a dull throbbing in his With a wrinkled hand she gently comes, "El Coyote" makes ready to a price upon his head. This man Help, for the love of God!" overthrow Morales. When Ted no- so loved and hated, praised and contices Bob's stolen cattle among Jito's demned, sat helpless beside him, and herd, the latter explains he just suddenly Ted realized that, bandit found them and intended returning and killer, this man was the nearest blurred the horizon, and as Ted them. Major Blount invites Bob friend he had in the world.

and Ted to his headquarters to learn the identity of "El Coyote." Bob is then wrapped one huge arm about glasses. Men's voices shouted a puzzled. Morales and Jito are also the limp figure. On that side the name he could not catch, but as he present. Antonio Ortega, the in- man's clothes were already wet with stepped within all noise had stilled. former, and one of "El Coyote's" blood. Rapidly Ted sped through A sudden hush had fellen, an exlieutenants, is expected momentarily. the night. Once he looked at his pectant hush. The waiters about the Bob goes outside. Two shots ring watch-a little after ten. There crowded tables stood motionless in out. Bob returns and, shortly after, would be no one at the ranchhouse, the smoke-filled room. All faces Ortega is carried in. Urged to name The servants would be in their own were turned toward the center of "El Coyote," Ortega looks at Bob quarters. Once the car struck a rut the patio where, in a ring of slowly down almost to a stop where the waiter. road was broken.

and, without uttering a word, dies.

CHAPTER XXXVI

nounced the orderly.

apologies."

Mexican.

and climbed heavily in.

under his eyes.

the circle of cavalry."

head droop forward.

of Lewis and Clark), and after which in the Chinook language signifies fire; or the "fire man."

-and Indians seeing it would lay

"Here's the brandy, sir," an-Once on the state highway, Ted shot the car at a mad pace down is she who sings, señor." Mechanically the major reached the road. Mile posts flashed by. The Slowly Ted drew closer. Just outfor the glass and drained it. "By lights of Verdi loomed up to the side the light he stopped and God," he cried savagely, and flung west, and skirting the town, Ted watched her. She moved indolently tore on to the ranch. The bars were in that circle of light, knowing her-Covote gets him right out of my down, and driving up to the house self to be the master of all their he stopped and switched off the moods, feeling the power of her wizcamp. Under my eyes, surrounded by a squadron of cavalry." Bitterly lights. Raising the stricken man in ardy. The young, fresh voice seemed he laughed. "Who will be fool his arms, Ted ran up the steps, to come effortlessly from her throat. enough to play traitor to El Coyote pausing once to listen, but conscious A low rejoicing voice, in strange now?" Then slowly, very slowly, the little major pulled himself serect. heart. The servants had already her eyes. She held those quiet, at-For the moment all hope had died. "Gentlemen," he said dully, "I in-

Inside, with hasty, unaccustomed And when at last she stopped a vited you upon an empty errand. My He looked toward the dead Mexican, where the lamplight, as if in beat, but very feebly. In desperation door when Ted reached her side. high merriment, flickered now across those eternally silenced lips.

Don Bob leaned across the table, his eyes, thoughtful and moody, he had sterilized the dark jagged

Ted looked about the room. A first-aid kit, he remembered, was in the medicine chest, and in a short time his eyes, thoughtful and moody, he had sterilized the dark jagged

The great black eyes looked up at him. "Yes."

"I am Ted Radcliffe, the friend the medicine chest, and in a short time had sterilized the dark jagged."

The great black eyes looked up at him. "Yes." wound and fastened heavy bandages of Don Bob. It is important I talk over it. He poured a little whisky with you now-at once." "A minute more," he said half between the man's lips, then waited, Beneath the rouge her face went aloud, "a minute more and we might feeling horribly alone, terribly in have learned so much." Lightly he need of aid touched the major's shoulder, then As he stood there a faint flush he reached for his hat. "Come," he came to Bob's cheeks, and for an him. "Tell me. He is hurt?" said to Radcliffe, and abruptly left instant he opened his eyes, then Under escort of a sergeant they Stooping forward, Ted caught the galloped out over the desert. As words. "You can trust the cook. And they reached the car Bob said, to tell Ann-Ann at Mendoza's. But Radeliffe's surprise, "You drive," no doctor-remember, no doctor. You know why." Then again his face Mechanically Ted took the wheel while his mind raced back to the paled. Consciousness had left him, and in even less time they were in unexpected tragedy of that past

Ted pulled a chair to the bedside. There was nothing to do but waithour. Once more he seemed to hear those two hurried, spiteful shots in and hope. Slowly the minutes of the darkness, and saw the look of midnight ticked by, and the early fear and horror graven on the face hours of morning. Ever his eyes of the Mexican. And for the first turned to the still form that breathtime it came to him how desperate ed so slowly beneath the covers. More than once, like some physical in her lap, her face tense and drawn a game was being played almost chill it came over him how utterly "El Coyote must have surround- alone was this man whose hand had for silence. He looked in, and, seeed the camp," Ted said at last. "The been raised against the entrenched ing no change in the white, drawn bandits must have seen us pass. And scheme of things. This man, he face among the pillows, motioned they were waiting for him outside found himself thinking, had doomed the girl to enter. "I'll be out here himself to the lone fight He could if you need me," he told her. Bob stirred uneasily. Ted fest the turn nowhere. He could rely on She nodded gratefully, "I want to weight of the man's body against no one. This man who held the be a little while with him alone." his own shoulder and saw Bob's border in terror this last outpost, reainst the domination of the strong.

eating, would prepare an effer- program is being arranged for basket social will be held to raise vescing draught and swallow it. Community club Saturday night. funds to pay for recent altera-

For a time they drove on through | now lay helpless, suffering-perhaps terious bandit, avenges every outrange perpetrated by Morales. The ranchers await their unknown protector's word to revolt. Morales, arms and raised him. The face was rambing in a low monotone. Once with the aid of the U. S. Cavalry dead-white, but in a minute the gray Ted laid his hand on the man's hot

"Your master," he whispered, "is wounded. No one must know. I The old woman crossed herself.

Coyote" is responsible. At Men- upon a stranger, Ted gazed down up the steps to Bob's room and had doza's, a notorious resort, Bob leaves at this man who sat so quietly be- replaced the blanket thrown on the Coyote" and Ann his spy. She is brain. El Coyotel The man all the touched him. "Mother of God how deeply in love with him. As autumn border was seeking, the killer with hot he is! Get help quickly, schor. But Ted was already gone.

Mendoza's was at its height. Even from far off the blaze of lights drew up he heard a roar of applause Very gently Ted started the car, from within and the tinkle of many in the road, and the man groaned changing lights, a girl was singing. Ted drove more cautiously, slowing Ted walked quietly to the nearest

"Where will I find Ann Reed?" The man nodded to the patio. "It only of the beating of his own contrast with the veiled sadness of tentive faces in a spell.

fingers, he cut away the coat and tempest of bravos and applause blood-stained shirt. The wound was shook the long, low room. She no longer bleeding. The heart still smiled and had turned toward the white, and with a little beckoning gesture she hurried down the hall. On the stairs she turned toward "He is wounded. He wants you."

"Badly wounded?"

"Badly." She choked back a sob. "Wait at the door. I won't change, I'll take some things along." Within a minute she had returned, the car, leaving behind them a bitterly distracted Mendoza, who tore his black hair and called down curses on all undependable cente-

Throughout that ride the girl sal quite still, her hands folded tightly At Bob's door Ted raised his hand

The door closed silently.

Mortgages --- Investments --- Insurance

ROBERTS, Jan. 20 -A fine first time. At close of meeting a

Oregon Pulp & Paper Company Securities

Report of the above concern indicates a choice position occupied by their Bonds and Preferred Stock in respect to an investor's opportunity to profit. If you cannot call, the coupon below will bring you full information.

MAIL COUPON Please send me information pertaining to investment opportunity in Bonds and Preferred Stock of Oregon Pulp & Paper Company.

Hawkins & Roberts, Inc. Second Floor, Oregon Bldg., Salem

INDEPENDENCE, Jan. 20 -The Independence Woman's club has chosen the play "The Intimate Strangers" by Booth Tarkington to be given in the training school auditorium February 19. Members of the play cast are Mrs. J. S. Robbie, Mrs. Maurice Butler, Mrs. R. M. Walker, Mrs. W. D. Wiley, A. E. Horton, J. H.

Hart, J. Foster and A. H. Dixon. Mrs. Homer Dixon, member of the high school English department, will direct the play. She will be assisted by Mrs. A. H. Dixon. Mrs. A. L. Thomas, the club treasurer, will be the ticket manager, and the club will take

A study course in the textbook, them that they regarded him with "Christ of the Classroom" was at 7:39 o'clock couraged, as a matter of safety. | night at the manse of the Calvary Presbyterian church.

BIRTH REPORTED

Practice will begin this week.

he Willamette river, in the pres- to still have his scalp, and his (Continued tomorrow.)

assuming to do it casually, by GERVAIS, Jan. 20.—A daugh-shooting birds in flight. He would ter was born Monday to Mr. and also light his pipe with his lens, Mrs. John Schafer of the Parkers-