Huskies Come Back and Tie Up Series in Overtime Game

Washington Ties it up With 8 Seconds Left, Wins In Extra Period

CORVALLIS, Ore., Jan. 23-(AP)-University of Washington basketball players evened the series with Oregon State college here tonight, winning an overtime game, 32 to 27. Oregon State won last night, 30 to 14.

Eight seconds before the gun ended the regular playing time, Fuller, Washington forward, scored the field goal that tied up the game at 26 all and forced it into the overtime period.

Oregon State was leading 17 to 13 at the half, after having gained and lost the lead five times and tying the score twice. The lead changed hands four times in the second half and the score was tled two times.

Jack Hanover, Washington forward, gathered a cripple shot in the first minute of play to open the scoring. Everett Davis, Orange guard, tied the count on the next play and from then on the two teams battled each other almost to a standstill. Washington Shifts

Washington started with a complete change of lineup in the second half. Fuller went to center in place of Lee. Lee went to forward with Swygard and Captain Cairney was moved from forward to guard with Ned Nelson, who was sent in for Ostling in the closing minutes of the first half.

Lineup 2nd Half

The Huskies were fighting hard and four minutes of the half were gone before either team scored. Then Davis tallied for Oregon State but Washington came right back to cut down the lead and eventually to go in front, only to be headed again.

To tie the game only eight seconds before the end, Fuller intercepted a pass, dribbled half the length of the floor, shot and missed, but rushed in and took the ball on the rebound and popped it into the basket. The lineups and summary:

Just how can this northern division Coast conference basketball race be on the level?

Or, for that matter, most any other basketball games. For in- the final bout of the wrestling Dodgers, confirmed details of the Webfeet and Oregon drubbed the Florsheims, Willamette beat the 145 pound performers in the lost to Dallas.

After our discourse on "upsets" a few weeks ago, we don't dare call them that. We'll have to limit our observation to this -that the "variability' of athletic performance" which we discussed at that time, is just a little more flexible in basketball than in most other sports.

Gardner Knapp came in yesterday and thanked us for sounding out, or being the receptacle for, was heralded as the ugliest man Plus Insurance public sentiment on the broadcasting of basketball games. At the Young Billy Edwards in his wressame time he said he had reached about the same conclusions that

> Knapp explained the broadcast last week was just an experiment to see what could be done with the public address system at basketball games, and there was no definite decision beforehand to use it at the state tournament. Now, however, he is convinced that there is a field for its use, as we suggested, in giving the lineups, heralding substitutes as they enter the game, announcing the score and other information, but not for a description of the game.

He further explained that the hookup in the Willamette gym last Monday night was also an experiment and a makeshift which was far from perfect, and that partly accounted for the unnecessary loudness of the speakers.

Pete Metropoulos (we hope we have the spelling right this time) is at present listed as second best in the world's welterweight ranks and will hold that standing when he meets Ernie Arthur here Tuesday night; but he has a chance to be the champion the next night, for he's billed to meet Robin Reed at that time in Portland with the belt at stake.
