Self Defense Also Appears As Claim in Effort to Free Accused Girl

The defense paraded a series of witnesses rapidly to the chair. They testified Mrs. Judd's left hand was bandaged the morning after the slaying, supporting her story that Miss Samuelson shot at her during an argument. One told of hearing what "thought were shots" and screams from the murder apartment several hours after the state charges the women were killed.

Although laying foundation for self-defense, and creation of doubt Mrs. Judd was in fact the slayer, Schenck and Lewkowitz were frank in informing the court they would attempt to show Mrs. Judd "to have been beyond the law of capital punishment" as an insane person "if she committed the act."

Montgomery Winn, defense attorney, announced immediately he would file a motion tomorrow to quash the indictment on the ground that coercion had been used to make the grand jury return the formal accusation.

Kahahawai was lured from the judicial building January 3, abducted and slain. The lynching climaxed a succession of crimes which had stirred the community.

Those indicted with Mrs. Fortescue are Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and E. J. Lord and Albert C. Jones, enlisted navy men. Kahahawai was one of five men awaiting retrial on charges of attacking Mrs. Massie, wife of the lieutenant and daughter of Mrs. Fortescue.

In this home he died. His widow, the son and Mrs. James R. Offield, only daughter, were with him.

Despite all his wealth, Wrigley had a simple philosophy and outlook. He once said:

"What I have accomplished has been done because the work has kept me happy. And, I've enjoyed every moment of the battle. I'm not much more successful than the average person. I have more money, but I've only three suits of clothes, a place to sleep, three square meals a day and a bath tub. Maybe it's a little better bath tub."

"This Reckless Age," the feature picture at Warner Bros. Elsinore theatre is Paramount's filmation of Lewis Beach's stage success "The Goose Hangs High." It is a sentimental comedy drama of parents who have dedicated their lives to supplying every want of their children, who in turn, following the "jazz" trend of this reckless age, give slight consideration to the grueling self-denial of their parents.

Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Percy Shannon, Richard Bennett, Charlie Farrell, co-starred with Madge Evans, in "Heartbreak," a thrilling Fox drama of romance at Warner Bros. Capitol.

Briefly the drama deals with the romance of a young American diplomat, Charles Farrell, and a beautiful Portuguese countess, Madge Evans, who meet and fall in love during America's neutrality. Only the certainty of America's being drawn into the world war, then raging, prevents an announcement of marriage.

With the declaration of war comes man and intense conflicts which keep interest high and the play finishes with a thrilling climax.

Others featured in the play are Hardie Albright, Paul Cavanaugh, John Arledge, Claude King, John St. Polis, and Capt. Albert Conti.

TOKYO, Jan. 27—(Wednesday)—(AP)—A Rengo news agency dispatch from Harbin, Manchuria, said fighting broke out today between troops of Ting Chao, former commander of Chinese eastern railway guards, and Kirin provincial forces.

Hostilities between the Kirin troops, numbering 7,000, and Ting Chao's men, estimated at 6,000, broke out at the edge of the Chinese quarter of Harbin, the dispatch said.

A bitter street battle in which 45 Chinese were killed and in which Ting Chao's troops were injured was reported from Harbin yesterday.

This outbreak shared interest with an order from the navy office sending 13 additional warships from the Sasebo base to Shanghai in preparation for possible trouble in connection with the increasingly grave situation there.

The supreme military and naval council drew up a tentative plan of action at Shanghai which included provision for sending an other squadron of destroyers in case of necessity.

Eleven vessels are at anchor off Shanghai in the Wangpoo river. The ship dispatched from Sasebo, bringing the total to 24, are expected to arrive Thursday. They carry a landing party of from 700 to 900 men, it was reported.

SMITH VS. NELSON CASE NEARS JURY

The case of E. G. Smith vs. Ralph R. and Harry A. Nelson of Nelson Bros. meat company, tried Tuesday afternoon in justice court, will go to the jury this morning, arguments having been completed before adjournment.

Considerable interest was evident, as the case was a retrial, the first jury failing to agree.

Smith, a minor, turned back to Nelson Bros. three cows which he bought from them on contract and attempted to break the contract on ground that he was a minor. He claimed at time of turning them back that something was wrong with one of the cows, but there was no claim of misrepresentation.

Defendants alleged the three cows were in poor condition when returned, and argued that their value had decreased from a collective $235 to $20 apiece.

BAKER OPPOSED TO ENTRY INTO LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—(AP)—Opposition to a League of Nations plank in the 1932 democratic platform came unexpectedly from Newton D. Baker today in a statement which also voiced his belief in eventual participation in the league by the United States.

The declaration of Baker, secretary of war in the cabinet of Woodrow Wilson, staunch league advocate, and a presidential possibility himself, was the focal point in a day crowded with political developments.

While Mr. Baker was preparing his statement and sailing away with his wife for a brief vacation in Mexico City, friends of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt were hearing with gratification of a statement by Josephus Daniels, who was Mr. Wilson's secretary of the navy.

SALVADOR UPRISING COSTS MANY LIVES

SAN SALVADOR, Jan. 26—(AP)—Salvador's so-called communist uprising had taken an uncounted number of lives today, the government indicated, but a British request for the landing of British marines brought reassurances of public safety.

(Unconfirmed private dispatches received in New York said several thousand persons had been killed during the last few days).

David Rodgers, British charge d'affaires, appealed to provisional president Maximiliano Martinez for permission to land the marines to protect British interests. The president replied that he was well able to take care of the lives and property of both natives and foreigners.

Eleven supposed communists were executed after entering a military barracks in the interior and severe casualties were reported in fighting at various places, but the number of killed and wounded was undetermined.

MOUNTIES PURSUE SHOOTING TRAPPER

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 26

Through the bleak darkness of the tree-studded Arctic northwest, Albert Johnson is fleeing tonight from the reach of Royal Canadian mounted police, who have sworn to capture the sullen-faced sharpshooting trapper of Rat river.

A mountie posse returned today to Aklavik, 150 miles inside the Arctic circle, weary from musing the 80 miles that separates the police post from Johnson's fortress cabin, and reported the crafty "mad hermit" had disappeared.

It was the third police squad to visit the lone trapper's dugout shack beside the Rat river since December 31 and the first that was not greeted by a hail of bullets. Johnson severely wounded Constable A. W. King when the officer tried to question him with regard to disturbed Indian trap lines.

When an eight-man posse tried to capture him two weeks after he had shot King, Johnson kept them at a distance by revolver fire from small loopholes in the walls of his cabin. He emerged victorious on that occasion after a 15-hour battle in which the mounties used dynamite to blow the roof off his snowed-in shack and shattered his front door with explosives.

 FOUND in the back of any old cook-book, in the "Useful Compendium of Household Hints."

"To test muslin for 'filling'—rub a small section vigorously between the forefingers, and note any starchy substance that breaks out of the fibers.

"To test for color-fastness—before buying wash goods of any kind it is safest to obtain small samples of all patterns and soak in clear water.

"To detect cotton in an 'all-wool' fabric — pull the threads apart and apply a lighted match," etc., etc.

How funny they were—these old suspicious-of-everything shopping tests! Grandmother knew them all by heart, and descended on Mr. Biggs, the linen draper, with defiance in her eye. Her little, moistened forefinger shot suspiciously under every proffered length of sheeting or dish-towel. She took nobody's word for anything!

But how differently you approach a yard-goods purchase in any store today. A name on the selvage . . . a label on the end of the bolt . . . a guarantee-tag that also suggests a method of washing. These are your safety-signals in buying. To the questions "Will it wash?", "Is this pure wool?" or "pure silk?", the saleswoman has only to remind you of the trade name of the fabric. When she mentions a name familiar to you through advertising, your doubts are dispelled.

Yes . . . we still look before we leap, but today that means READ BEFORE YOU SHOP!
