CONTRACT BRIDGE
"The Official System"
As Adopted by Leading Authorities
By E. V. SHEPARD

Business Doubles

Wise doubles are as great point gainers as thoughtless doubles are point losers. Promptness to double for penalties quickly put the brakes upon reckless overcalls. Double any game bid upon probable ability to defeat it by one trick; unless fulfillment of an undoubled contract means game do not double unless able to probably defeat the contract by more than one trick; doubling out an adversary is one of the things that partner finds hard to forgive. Another thing that greatly disturbs a partner is doubling any contract that you can defeat for greater gain than from going game, provided you can also double any shift for similar gains, without first supporting your partner's make. Maximum scores are the goal, whether those scores are made through the collection of penalties or through winning games, slams and rubbers.

Never shift your partner's make merely because he has been doubled, only shift when either you would have done so or could have reasonably done so had he not been doubled. Sometimes your only chance for game lies in having your contract doubled, both you and your partner will feel disturbed in case you shift him from a doubled contract that would mean game into an undoubled contract that fails to go game.

Two situations require your continuance of bidding over partner's business double. The first sound reason for overcalling such a double is a reasonable certainty that your goal of game, overtricks or slam will score more points than will result from letting the double stand for a penalty. The second reason for overcalling your partner's business double is the conviction that opponents will fulfill their doubled contract because your partner expects you to win one or more defensive tricks that you do not hold. The following hand illustrates this situation.

♠ K-7-4-3 ♠ 5-2
♥ K-Q-J-10-2 ♥ 9-8-6-5-3-2
♦ K-Q-J-9-7 ♦ A-10-8
♣ A-K-8-5 ♣ A-7
♣ A-10-8-4 ♣ 6-4-3

Z's 1-Spade was jumped to 3-Hearts by A; Y bid a spade game; B went 5-Hearts, which Z doubled. Y knew that Z must expect to win at least one spade trick that could not be taken. Y went 5-Spades, which was doubled and made because A led a heart, giving Y one discard of a diamond. Z guessed right on clubs and lost only one trick there. An opening diamond lead would have defeated the hand.

ELITE IN SOUTH SHOW SUMMER STYLES

While fur coats and galoshes constitute the costume of the moment in the frigid North, the winter colony in the sunny South is sporting itself in raincoat that we associate with June, July and August. This is the season when fashion history is made, for what is being worn amid the palms today will be all the vogue in northern climes next Summer. Here are some of society's smartest, pictured at Palm Beach, Fla., garbed in the styles of the minute. Left is Mrs. John Barry Ryan, daughter of Otto H. Kahn, international financier, in a simple but distinctive street dress of printed silk. Mrs. Frederick Johnson (second from left), prominent New York society matron, is shown wearing a neat linen frock with a chic little jacquette. Second from right is Mrs. Harrison Williams, of New York, called society's best-dressed woman, in a voluminous striped jersey-sweater. Note the rakishly tied scarf. Extreme right is Mrs. Baldwin Brown, New York, who favors this close-knit woolen costume for motoring. Mrs. Brown is carrying the latest thing in pocketbooks. All favor two-color shoes.

CURRICULUM SLASH TO BE CONSIDERED

Dr. E. E. Lindsay, secretary of the state board of higher education, has arranged a series of meetings with the faculty of the state university, Oregon State college, and state normal schools, for the purpose of considering elimination of duplicate courses in the several educational institutions.

The duplications were said to affect courses in physical education, education and business science, architecture and allied arts, music and pure science.

Reduction of the curricula also will be considered by the faculty. Recommendations will be made in accordance with suggestions contained in the survey of the institutions completed nearly a year ago.

Mrs. Forge has extended building in merchandising women's ready-to-wear articles while Mrs. Utter is experienced in needlework. Mrs. Forge will handle the designing end of the business. The proprietors said yesterday that they felt the experience the firm offered, together with prevailing low prices for their services, made it possible to secure considerable trade for such a business in Salem.
