

Indians Stage Great Rally but Salem High Wins 36-35

THRILLS MARK TWO CONTESTS

Chemawa Prevails 16 to 2 In Final Quarter; B Game is Likewise

CHEMAWA, Jan. 26—(Special)—Thrills galore marked two basketball games between Salem high and Chemawa Indian school basketball teams here tonight, with the Indians rallying spiritedly to cut down almost hopeless leads in both games but each time failing. Salem won the A game 36 to 35 and the B contest 32 to 27. Perhaps it was "stage fright" at the thought of meeting the "big town" boys that caused Chemawa to get behind in both games. At any rate in the A contest Salem took a 15 to 7 lead in the first quarter, increased it to 22-16 at half time and the B contest 22-19. Perhaps it was "stage fright" at the thought of meeting the "big town" boys that caused Chemawa to get behind in both games. At any rate in the A contest Salem took a 15 to 7 lead in the first quarter, increased it to 22-16 at half time and the B contest 22-19.

Then the Redskins went on the warpath and while holding Salem to one field goal in the final period, scored 16 for themselves and were just one point to the bad when the gun faded it. Burrell with 15 points for Salem was the leading scorer, but he was given a close rub by Vivette of Chemawa, notwithstanding the latter's partial incapacitation due to a recent inoculation against disease which made it necessary for him to rest. The bench part of the game, Dogeagie also was in poor condition following loss of some teeth, but he went back in and did some of the scoring in that wild rally. Chemawa outscored Salem on field goals but Salem converted six points on free throws to the Indians' three.

In the B game the Indians were behind 19 to 8 at half time and 27 to 16 at the end of the third quarter, then scored 11 points to Salem's five in the final period. ## 'King Midas' Of Baseball Snuffed Out

CHICAGO, Jan. 26—(AP)—Baseball's "King Midas" is dead. When death overtook William Wrigley, at Phoenix, Ariz., today, he remained for the great national pastime a man whose name was synonymous with the ancient mythical king turned everything to gold. It robbed the world of sports of one of its most powerful figures. It was Wrigley who took over the Chicago Cubs as a weak losing baseball club, and converted them into one of the biggest money earners in history, establishing a record for attendance in 1929 and reaping a bounteous harvest. It was Wrigley who led the movement to instill the spirit of big business in the game and make it one of the nation's largest industries. He tossed an immense fortune, estimated at $6,000,000 into baseball not as a business venture but as a personal hobby and always insisted he never drew a nickel of the club's profits. He became a bulwark in the baseball world. Wrigley's entry into baseball was caused by the jests of his friends. While traveling about selling gum, he often heard his friends jest over the fact that a city of Chicago's size didn't own its own national league ball club. It was then owned by Charles Tatt of Cincinnati.

JAP MAT KING TO INVADE

Take a peek into the dressing-room of Musashiyama, the champion wrestler of all Japan. The mighty man of muscle is shown having his hair combed and plaited just before he defended his title recently. Musashiyama has signified his intention of invading the United States as a professional boxer. One wonders what the reaction of American fight fans would be on seeing the husky matman in the squared circle with his crowning glory all dressed up like a Christmas tree.

Matt Sleeps on Mat While Nightmare Finish Leaves Wrestling Win Uncertain

The Arthur-Metropoulos wrestling match at the armory Tuesday night ended with Referee Matt Matheny knocked out, first Arthur on top, then Metropoulos on top. Matheny assisted in his feet by "Ever-ready Officer Putnam." Matheny counting Arthur out, Matheny being assisted from the ring while still groggy, the crowd militant and booing and finally Arthur and Metropoulos mixing in the ring without a referee.

After each grappler had taken one fall Ernie Arthur and Pete Metropoulos were each trying to end the bout as soon as possible. Arthur put himself in position for the backward body slam from the ropes.

While Ernie clutched the ropes in the corner with both hands, Pete pulled and tugged at his body, trying to break him free. Matheny was beside the two trying to loosen Arthur's hold on the ropes when the Canuck let go and lunged backwards with Matheny landing on the bottom of the heap, senseless.

Arthur landed on the top of the pile and hastily flattened Pete's shoulders to the mat, holding them there for at least six counts. Arthur then looked around and said, "What's the matter Matt?" and went to help Matheny. Just as he was assisting the arbiter to his feet, Pete jumped on Arthur's back and spilled him.

Matheny sank to the floor again but was helped to his feet by Officer Putnam and proceeded to count Arthur down and award the match, after which he again returned to an unconscious condition and was assisted from the ring.

The crowd boomed its disapproval of the outcome as all had been witness to the fact that Arthur had the bout won, but no referee to award it. Arthur then made a lunge at Pete to finish matters in the ring, but volunteers of the crowd separated the two, the gong sounded and the crowd dispersed.

Metropoulos took the first fall in 15 minutes with a self strangle hold and Arthur took the second in five minutes with a toe hold. Plain hard wrestling with no stalling or grandstanding featured the entire bout.

Following the bout Arthur told Metropoulos he was sorry for losing his temper. Matt Matheny stated that he thought for a time a beam had dropped from the ceiling and hit him. Metropoulos said that he "looked around, but could not see the referee."

Young Billy Edwards took one fall from Art O'Reilly in the preliminary bout with a series of headlocks in 16 minutes.

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 26—(AP)—The University of Washington climbed to third place in the northern division of the Pacific Coast Basketball conference by defeating the University of Oregon, 33 to 23, here tonight. Washington made a clean sweep of the two-game series, routing the Webfoots, 44 to 32, last night.

Tennis Squabble Looms

SID WOOD—STORMY PETREL OF AMERICAN TENNIS—DOES HE MERIT A PLACE ON THE DAVIS CUP SQUAD?

ELLSWORTH VINES—HOW WILL THE LATEST U.S. SENSATION FAIR IN HIS FIRST DAVIS CUP COMPETITION?

Wood was not to be considered for the 1932 team. Recently George Martin Lett, Jr., theoretically seconded Mr. Brady's motion for the muscling out of Mr. Wood from the select international group by announcing, "I'm going in for singles." George declared he believed he could equal or possibly better Ellsworth Vines, the National champion, at the singles game by zealous application. Where this left Wood, with Francis X. Shields and John Van Eyn and several others to be considered, is outside looking in. Yet as knowing a critic as Vincent Richards recently declared that Sid's possession of what he called "the tennis touch" makes the New York boy the obvious mainstay of the 1932 Davis Cup team. Furthermore the affable Vinnie added that he expected Champion Vines to prove a big disappointment in his first European invasion. "It is always that way the first time," Richards explained. "Climate conditions are different and the atmosphere affects the ball so that it is an art to hit with terrific speed." The national meeting convenes on Saturday, Feb. 6, and the question of Wood's fitness will be then decided. But you can depend on it that no matter how the bosses of amateur tennis rank the Davis Cup team a howl will go up. Every follower of the net game has his own precise notion of just how every player should be ranked and when the officials rule otherwise the fan is loud in his lament. Incidentally Vinnie Richards thinks that Fred Perry and Buddy Austin of the English team have a great chance to carry off the treasured Davis Cup from sunny France this year.

NON-SKID SURFACE ON ROADS PLANNED

As the result of discussions between county court members and Roadmaster Johnson, plans which should be of interest to all motorists have been made for roughening the slippery surfaces of some of the county roads to provide a non-skid surface. In a number of cases the road top has been worn smooth and glassy by constant traffic.

According to plans this work will go forward next summer during the hotweather. No work is planned for paving any county roads next summer and this will mean a good opportunity for going ahead with the surface roughening. Under favorable conditions the work should go ahead at the rate of about a mile a day.

The plan as discussed is to choose the extremely hot days when the black top surface soft and yielding. At this time screenings of the right size will be carried over the road by trucks and laid at the necessary sections. A roller will follow and bury the screenings sufficiently far into the glassy surface to hold them in place which will insure a non-skid top. For the first season the roads which are in the worst shape will be treated and this is expected to be followed with more applications during the coming summer seasons.

Roadmaster Johnson states that these slick top surfaces have been a constant menace to traffic as the advantage of brakes on such surfaces during the rainy season is almost negligible, and the new application is expected to lessen the hazards materially.

SCOUT EXECUTIVES INVENT NEW GAME

A new diversion for boys, with the baseball motif, has been devised and tested by D. P. West, Cascade area Boy Scout executive and W. L. Hayward, northwest regional executive. Scouts and their fathers attending the parents' meeting of Silverton troop 23 on Monday night tried out the game and were enthusiastic over it.

Like the old hopscotch, the new game is laid out in rectangular form. This is divided into 14 sections, each labelled as an "out", strike, foul, base-hit or home run. The players stand 10 feet away and pitch a coin or other metal circle at the rectangle, seeking to land it in the most advantageous segment.

First, second and third bases are located beside the rectangle and occupied as the player makes a base. Runs and innings occur in the regular fashion. West and Hayward worked out details of the game last Sunday afternoon in an effort to provide some satisfactory sort of entertainment for scouts at their troop meetings.

Muel Estate's First Appraisal Ordered Changed

New appraisers named are Manzanita H. Pendall, Besse M. Elorson and Mildred Judson. The notes are secured by first mortgage on 488 acres of land 13 miles out from Spokane, Wash.
