CHURCH SCHOOL TO INSTRUCT LEADERS

Jason Lee Annual Meeting Held; Classes Open To Other Groups

Plans for a six-weeks leaders' training course for beginners, primary and junior class teachers and workers, were formulated at the annual meeting of the Jason Lee church school held Tuesday night at the church.

Miss Dulcinea Brown of Portland, supervisor of week-day school religious education, was the main speaker at the meeting, and will also conduct one of the leadership training classes, to be held at Jason Lee church, each Tuesday night from 7:15 to 8:00 o'clock and beginning next Tuesday.

The church extends an invitation for all beginners, primary and junior instructors in other churches in the city to enjoy the benefits of these classes.

Peace Study Class Is Also Offered

Miss Brown's Tuesday night classes will be followed by a peace study class from 8 to 9 o'clock conducted by a local teacher.

Thursday nights, beginning next week, the pastor, Rev. Hugh B. Foutke Jr., will conduct a class in adolescent psychology for all who are interested. This will be followed by the regular prayer meeting.

The group Tuesday night authorized appointment of a committee to set up standards for the school. Announcement was also made that two rooms have been fitted up in the third story of the building, these club rooms to be occupied for the first time Sunday. These classes are taught by Mrs. Gordon Black and Luther Cook.

Mason; assistant secretary, Miss Leulia Kaighan; word service secretary, Ed Olson; supply secretary, Miss Ellen Curran; enrollment secretary, Paul Dueber; temperance secretary, Mrs. Necla Buck.

Poultry and Egg Market Started

By M. E. Tingley

M. E. Tingley, who has been in the produce business about Salem for some time past, has opened the Capitol City Poultry and Egg company at 1945 Fairgrounds road, which is the corner of Summer street. He will operate a wholesale market, buying from farmers and selling in smaller lots to markets, restaurants and stores.

No retail business will be conducted, said Tingley, who plans to develop the wholesale trade by strict attention to quality and prompt delivery.

Enrollment For 4-H Work Gains

Total enrollment in 4-H clubs in the county for the school year to date is 1340, Wayne D. Harding, club leader, announced yesterday. Harding expects the man; beginners, Mrs. Marie Putnam; home department, Mrs. J. W. DeLapp and Mrs. E. Collins; acting superintendent cradle department, Mrs. Edna Lively.

year's mark to exceed that of 1931-1932 when 1405 boys and girls enrolled in club work in this county. As yet few of the livestock clubs have been formed and these are expected to bring up the total enrollment. Harding is now making plans for the annual 4-H club exhibit which is to be held in Salem this spring.

Pigs Like Warm Water
DES MOINES, Iowa—(AP)—Tests at Iowa State college show that the fall pig will gain about 17 per cent more profit for his owner if he has plenty of warm water to drink in the winter.

Ham & Eggs, too, of course

We read in a news item the other day stating that what the people of this country need most is optimism—
THAT MAY BE WHAT'S LACKING

But according to what we hear at the street corner is that plenty of Ham and— would suit a lotta folks pretty well. Optimism probably is all right But Ham and Eggs we know won't hurt any one unless, of course, you happen to be one that can't get them—

If you don't mind our calling your attention to such a personal thing as savin' money and at the same time living good (at least so far as food is concerned) just take a peek around at all the low prices on most anything in the food line you may wish displayed and waiting for you here at the Market.

Busick's AT THE Market NOT A CHAIN STORE

Oregon Milk

Not only do you help the Oregon Dairymen when you buy Oregon Milk, while that in itself is very commendable, but the fact that you are getting one of the highest grades of milk makes it worthy of your consideration. The price is so low some may think the quality is not the best, but a visit to the Market with a few minutes spent in comparing prices of the hundreds of products displayed will convince every one that while the price is low for this milk, it is not lower than hundreds of other items regularly priced at this, the Northwest's fastest growing store if—you'll pardon the bragging—
