

PORTABLE KITCHEN HERE FOR SCHOOL

Statesman-Safeway Event
To Open on Wednesday
At 2 P. M., Armory

A complete kitchen that can be carried around in a trunk arrived in Salem yesterday. It is the property of Miss Helen Elizabeth Brown, home economist who will conduct The Statesman Safeway Stores cooking school which opens at the armory on February 24 and continues the afternoons of February 25 and 26.

This kitchen, an exact duplicate of the Safeway Homemakers' bureau test-kitchen except for the mechanical refrigerator, range and large pieces of furniture, contains all the equipment necessary for the correct preparation of any recipe.

Homemakers attending the three day cooking school will notice that the kitchen equipment is colorful. Success in cooking depends upon the spirit of the kitchen, declares Miss Helen Elizabeth Brown. Women cook better and enjoy household tasks if they work in cheerful surroundings and so strongly do Mrs. Julia Lee Wright, national director of the Safeway Homemakers' bureau, and her assistants believe that the bureau's test kitchen is carried out in cherry red and cream according to Miss Brown.

The first equipment ordered for the test kitchen was a red tea kettle, acquired only after a long and diligent search. To go with this bright kettle are creamy walls, built-in fixtures of leaf green and bright checked curtains in which red predominates.

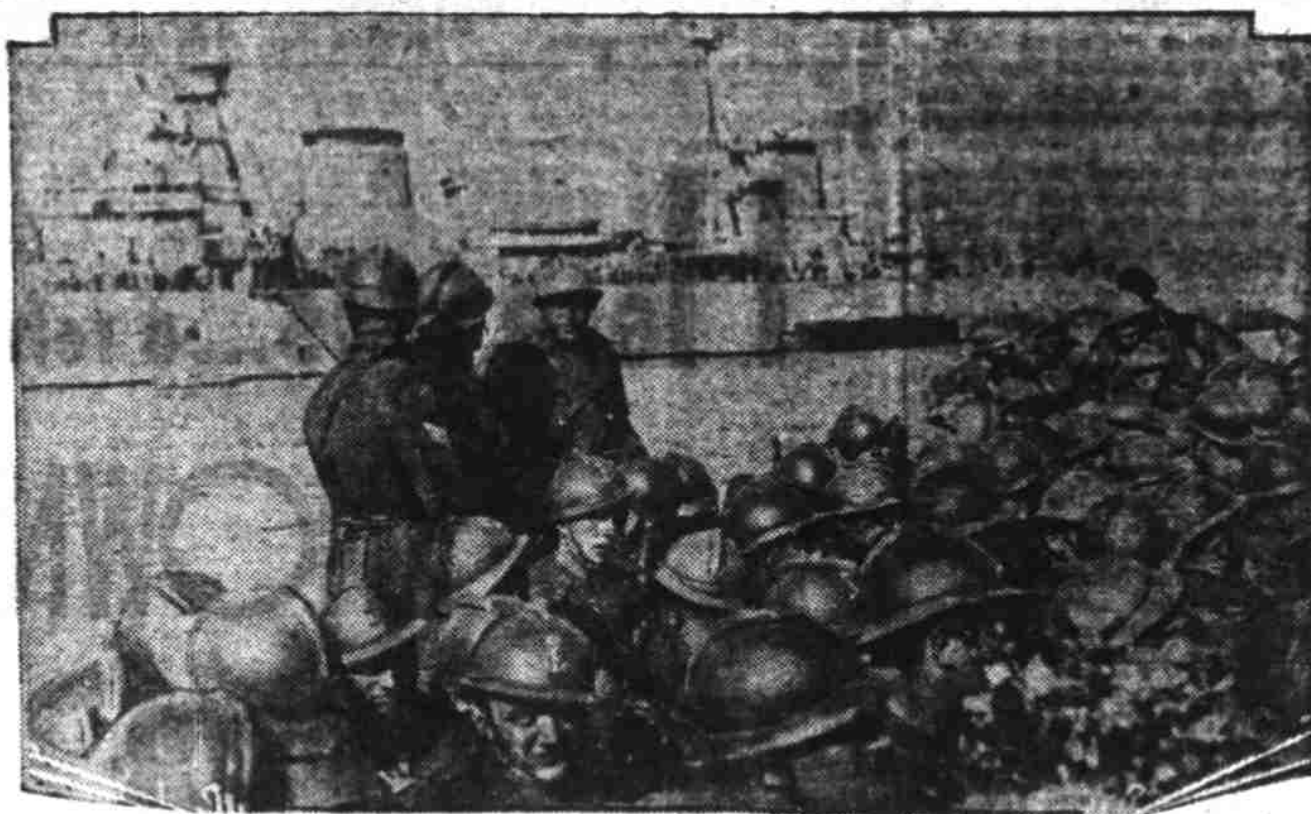

With Miss Brown will be Miss Amelia Sanson of Oakdale who will join in putting on the program of the cooking school. The two ladies have been specially trained for their work. To enable all in the audience to hear, loud speakers will be installed by Salem Radio Service, 643 Ferry street. The school will start at two o'clock each afternoon and run until four.

MRS. WALL HONORED

JEFFERSON—Mrs. Evelyn I. Wall was the inspiration for a birthday dinner recently at her country home south east of Jefferson, when her daughter, Miss Margaret Wall entertained in her honor.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Wall, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Looney, Miss Ruby Looney, Gilbert Looney and Margaret Wall. Later Mrs. Wall was surprised when Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Richardson and Mrs. W. W. Warner arrived with a beautiful birthday cake and tea cream to wish her many more happy birthdays.

WARRIORS OF IL DUCE FOR SHANGHAI

With huge concentrations of Japanese and Chinese troops in the vicinity of the International Settlement at Shanghai increasing the danger to neutral nationals, the great Powers are taking steps to protect the lives and property of their respective nationals by augmenting the armed forces that now guard the settlement. Photo shows a force of Italian marines preparing to embark for Shanghai on the 10,000-ton cruiser Trento, at Gaeta, Italy, a fortified seaport about 40 miles northwest of Naples. These men will cooperate with United States and British forces who are now protecting the foreign section of the city against invasion by either factions of the belligerent Orientals.

INDEPENDENCE MEN TOSS HATS IN RING

INDEPENDENCE, Feb. 22—Three citizens of Independence have tossed their hats into the political ring.

Thursday, J. G. McIntosh filed his petition with the county clerk as a candidate for county clerk on the republican ticket. Mr. McIntosh has been a resident of this city since 1909. He served several years as superintendent of the Independence schools; was engaged in the mercantile business here for eight years; has been active in the real estate business; has served four years as bookkeeper for the Spaulding Logging company located in Independence and at present is the justice of peace, having been elected following an appointment to fill a vacancy in the position.

Glen C. Smith has announced his candidacy for county treasurer on the democratic ticket. Mr. Smith was the assistant cashier of the Farmers' State bank, having served in that capacity from the organization of the bank until it closed its doors about a year ago. He is the secretary of the Independence Chamber of Commerce and is an active member of the local American Legion post.

Harrison H. Brandt has filed as a candidate for county commission on the republican ticket. Mr. Brandt is a prominent farmer residing in the Highland district south of Independence.

It is expected that other Independence residents will file petitions for nominations to county offices, but as yet they have not officially declared their candidacy.

MRS. E. B. HURD DIES AT HOSPITAL

LIBERTY, Feb. 22—Mrs. E. B. Hurd, who had been ill for several days with blood poisoning, died at about 5 o'clock Saturday night, just after having been taken to a hospital. She leaves a husband and two small children.

In the county spelling test given recently each grade is supposed to show a given percentage of gain for each grade over the percentage of last year's test. In the school here last year the fourth grade (now the fifth) scored highest in the county, and it was therefore practically impossible to better the points this year. All other grades made more than the required improvement.

How the school stands this year in the county average has not yet been announced.

The latest addition to the "fit" list are Mrs. Kate Halder and Ila Kranger.

The cold and influenza epidemic has seriously curtailed school attendance this month. Heretofore 95 per cent or better was the record per month. This year and most of last year's term an attendance certificate was received each month from the county superintendent's office.

ARTISANS TO VISIT LODGE AT PORTLAND

WOODBURN, Feb. 22—Several students from Woodburn who are attending universities and colleges spent the weekend at home.

Plans were made Thursday night at a meeting of the Woodburn assembly of United Artisans that the local assembly go to Portland Thursday night, March 3, to visit the Portland East 600 assembly. The local assembly has been host to the Portland assembly several times.

The Woodburn schools were empty Monday afternoon, honoring the bicentennial of George Washington's birthday. After the program, school was dismissed. Mrs. Helen M. Guiss, who conducts a home making class for women at the high school every Monday announced that there would be no class on Washington's birthday.

John Kallak, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Kallak of Woodburn, was re-elected president of his senior class recently. John is major in English, education and languages at the Forest Grove university.

"Satisfactory plus" is the rating officially bestowed upon the Woodburn howitzer company unit of the Oregon national guard, after a federal inspection of the guard company Friday night by Colonel Alton of Portland.

WALK OVER HILLS

VALSETZ, February 22—Mrs. Chauncey Ferguson and father John C. March, of Fall City, walked over the mountain road several days ago to visit Mrs. Mary Stetler.

STUDENTS AT ZENA 7 FUTURE FARMERS HONOR WASHINGTON GIVEN INITIATION

ZENA, Feb. 22—Joshua Willis, county school superintendent paid his regular February visit to Folk county schools last week. Thursday Mr. Willis visited the Zena school and gave an interesting talk on the various ways in which Washington's birthday is to be celebrated throughout the nation during the rest of the year. Joshua Willis showed an interesting collection of original drawings, among them being an excellent likeness of Lincoln as well as a reproduction of the famous painting "Blue Boy."

An excellent Washington program, consisting of appropriate readings, stories and drills, was given by pupils of the Zena school, under the direction of their teacher, Miss Lillian Reynolds Monday morning, school being dismissed for the day at 10:30.

The program opened with flag salute; patriotic drill by Chester Merrick and Raymond Stephens; flag drill by second grade pupils; story, "George Washington" by Fred Nichols; group of stories about Washington's life by Frank Nichols; reading, "Another Washington," Dale Worthington; story, "Abraham Lincoln," Lillian Kendall; story, "Lincoln," Chester Merrick; story, "George Washington," Sylvia Wiedeman; reading, "If She Had Known," Jack McKenzie.

At 10 o'clock the first verse of "America" was sung while all stood at attention for one minute after which the last verse was sung and the program resumed; reading, "Washington's Army," Jessie Worthington; story, "Life of Washington," Jane Worthington, tribute to Washington by Paul Worthington.

VISITOR CONTACTS JOBS FOR INDIANS

CHEMAMA, Feb. 22—George P. Lavatta of the interior department, who has been at Chemama the past several days in the interests of Indian employment, expects to leave for Portland the early part of the week to continue this program. Mr. Lavatta is a graduate of the Carlisle Indian school in Pennsylvania and began his career as a laborer in the shops of the Union Pacific railroad, gradually winning promotions in this company until his outstanding work came to the attention of the present Indian administration.

Since then he has been working in the interests of finding employment for people of his own race and has been meeting with considerable success even during the present economic conditions.

L. L. Vosburgh is in charge of the band at the Chemama school for the past two years, was taken to the Veterans hospital in Portland Friday, suffering from pneumonia which has developed from influenza. He was accompanied to Portland by Mrs. Vosburgh and the local school physician, Dr. Sisco. The last report received from the Portland hospital is to the effect that Mr. Vosburgh's conditions remains unchanged.

One evening last week the local girls' sextet together with A. S. Melowidoff and Mrs. D. E. Kiehl have put on a program consisting of all Indian music at the Mount Tabor Presbyterian church in Portland. The girls were accompanied by their director Miss Alice Judd and Miss Gertrude Eakin, local pianist, mellophone.

The members of this sextet are Alice Slater, Marie LaFrance, Melba Arnoux, Alice Bachman, Dora LaFrance and Bertha Peratrovich.

PARISH MEMBERS HONOR PRESIDENT

WOODBURN, Feb. 22—A large crowd filled the St. Luke's community hall here Sunday afternoon, when a special Washington bicentennial program was presented in the hall by members of the parish. The main speaker, was Father Alcun, head of the college at Mount Angel. He gave a glowing tribute to George Washington, also telling about several incidents in his eventful life.

The program was as follows: opening chorus and tribute to Washington, by the junior pupils; hatchet drill, by junior boys; song "Down in Old Virginia," by the primary pupils; flag drill, by junior boys; a short stunt, "When My Grandmother Was Young," by the junior girls; recitation, by senior boys; vocal solos, "I'll Take You Back Again, Kathleen," by Miss Helen Knight of Hubbard, accompanied at the piano by Miss Margaret Becker; recitation, by Oliver McClure; patriotic presentation of various scenes important in United States history, including the second continental congress in action, the signing of the Declaration of Independence, careful stitches, and the making of our country's flag, all given by the senior girls. Following the patriotic pageant the senior girls gave a Boston tea party scene and danced the minuet. The program was ended by all those taking part in the program singing "Mount Vernon Bells."

HOLD HIGH SCORES
HUBBARD, Feb. 22—Mrs. Augusta Riener and Willis Yoder won first prizes and Mrs. Susie Moore and Elmer Stauffer won second prizes at the third party of the series given by the Knights of Pythias at the Pythian hall Saturday night. Ella Stauffer, Sadie Scholl, and Susie Moore had charge of the refreshments. The next party will be Saturday, March 5.

ter Future Farmers of America by a group of 25 members of the Corvallis chapter F. F. of A. and their instructor, Prof. O. K. Beals, Thursday night.

The new members are Sam Hanna, George Gentemann, Delbert Haener, John Dickinson, Richard McKee, Ross Oberson and Earl Gwinn.

The emblem of the F. F. of A. is the owl. The local chapter honored a large specimen for the Thursday night occasion from Rollie Bidgood, a youth, whose hobby is taxidermy.

At the close of the initiation a basketball game was played between the home boys and the visitors. The score was 21 to 10 in favor of Independence.

The arrangements for the affair were supervised by Prof. Howard Bennett, Smith-Hughes instructor of the Independence high school.
