PROMINENT LOCAL PHYSICIAN CALLED

Dr. Robert T. Boals Victim Of Stroke; Funeral to Be Held Saturday

Dr. Robert T. Boals, 55, Salem physician and surgeon for the past four years and widely known in western Oregon, died shortly after midnight Wednesday at the family home, 1135 North Capitol. His death comes as a shock to his friends and to those to whom he ministered here, for before Sunday he was apparently in excellent health.

Dr. Boals suffered a paralytic stroke Sunday, although that morning he had assisted in a major operation. He became unconscious immediately, and remained so until the end. His two sons were summoned home from college, and were with him at the end.

Dr. Boals opened offices in the First National bank building here in July, 1927, coming here from Tillamook, where he had practiced for 22 years and where he was active in both business and civic upbuilding. He was readily accepted here, both by medical fraternity and the public.

He received his early education in Portland, then attended the Oregon Normal school, later studying medicine at the University of California and the University of Oregon medical schools. He served his internship at the Multnomah county and St. Vincent's hospitals, Portland.

Further advancing his knowledge in his chosen field, he took post graduate courses in New York in 1912, and returned to medical centers there for study again in 1927, prior to coming here.

While practicing in Tillamook, he served as mayor of the city for a period, and it was during his administration that water was brought from the hills and the modern fire engine installed.

Under the Occurrences and Gossip at the center of Oregon's state government

TONIGHT should be a big night in the history of Salem business. The big spring opening will take place and the largest crowd is anticipated because of the prizes held out to seven of the thousands who will be pushed into the giant contest in front of the First National Bank is indication enough.

Last night a cool wind, and a heavy rain the night before, felt anything but like a spring opening time, but the weather had its bright spots and a good day is expected. Otherwise, folks, put on your winter gaiters while you gaze longingly at the spring styles and spring goods in the many decorated windows.

May 2 was a long time ago, but police officials, state and county and city did not quit, and at last the murder of the Silverton officer is nearing solution, with two of the three youths who are alleged to have committed the crime ten months ago behind the bars. The way of the law is sometimes slow, but usually sure.

A great piece of detective work was just accomplished by Oregon state's police superintendent, Mr. Pray. Several days ago he missed his cigar holder. He traced the holder for a day or longer and finally located it at Randall's cigar stand.

He was master of the Masonic lodge there for three terms and a civic leader during the stress of World war days. He conducted the Boals hospital there. Member of Three Lodges, Kiwanian.

Dr. Boals was a member of the Masonic, I. O. O. F. and Elks clubs both in Tillamook and Salem, a member of the Tri-county Medical Society and vice-president of the Physicians and Surgeons association in Salem.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. R. T. Boals, a son, Robert, Jr., of the University of Washington, and Harlan, attending the University of Oregon at Eugene; and one brother, Mark Boals of St. Helens.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at Rigdon's mortuary, with interment at Belcrest. Officiating will be Dr. Grover C. Birtchet of the Presbyterian church here, who will be assisted by Rev. W. G. Lienkaemper of the Reformed church here and a neighbor of Dr. Boals in Tillamook.

The Masonic lodge and Medical society will take part in the final rites, and music will be the tribute of the Saem Kiwanis club. It is requested that members of the Tri-County Medical association of Marion, Polk and Yamhill counties should attend the funeral services in a body.

BEAUTY OF SALEM LAUDED BY VINING

Large Crowd Attends Public Relations Banquet Given By Business Women

Salem is the most beautiful capital city in the United States according to the opinion of Irving Vining of Ashland, for years an active member of the state chamber of commerce and a member of the state game commission, who addressed the public relations banquet meeting of the business and professional women Thursday night at the Marion hotel, Mr. Vining was introduced by Miss Alice Phillips.

Mr. Vining eulogized the beauty of Oregon and asked his audience what California would have done had she had the natural beauties of Oregon with which to start work. The speaker assured his audience that were Crater Lake 10,000 miles away every effort would be made to view its grandeur. But, with it at the doorstep of every Oregon citizen, he said, "Have you seen Crater Lake? For if you have heaven will hold no greater grandeur than you have already seen."

Sam Simpson and his "Beautiful Willamette" were brought to the attention of his audience by Mr. Vining who quoted at length and left the impression that Simpson was a prophet without honor in his own country.

Covers were placed for 108 guests and members of the Business and Professional Women's club. The banquet was a part of the international "week" set apart by the clubs to create a feeling of greater cooperation and friendliness among service organizations of men and women.

Miss Marie Dimick, president of the club, presided and introduced musical numbers by Dalbert Jepsen, violinist, accompanied by Emory Hobson, and Mrs. S. W. Starr, vocalist, accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Dalton.

Miss Dimick welcomed the guests and introduced the special guests of the evening, presidents of the Zonta club, Encinitas club, and the Ecclesia club, all service organizations for women.

Other distinguished guests in addition to the speaker, Mr. Vining, were Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hoss, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Holman, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McKay and Mrs. W. Carlton Smith. A large number of special guests were introduced by individual hostesses.

Miss Dimick in her address of welcome pointed out that over 1000 Business and Professional Women's clubs are in existence in the United States and Alaska, and that the slogan for these groups is "we give" with service as their gift. This is the fifth annual ob-
