TOURNEY HOOPERS ARRIVING IN CITY

night, with the day's program climaxed at the close by Salem's first appearance, against Marshfield.

Half of teams are here by midnight.

Early Tuesday afternoon keen-eyed youngsters wearing black block letters on their sweaters began to appear on Salem streets, and strictly according to custom, the teams from farthest away "checked in" first, Baker beating Burns to the tape by 10 minutes. Burns, a little closer than Baker in direct mileage, traveled probably farther than any team previously has ever come to compete in a state tournament, but those boys have been coached by a man whose name is well known to sport fans on this side of the Cascades—Vic Wetzel—and they know their basketball.

By midnight more than half of the tournament teams were in the city. Baker and Burns being followed closely by Athena, Medford, Astoria and Marshfield. Others were arriving late at night. Silverton, Corvallis, University high and the Portland teams were not expected until this morning.

The tournament in this city is being conducted under an entirely new plan. In addition to the fact that there are 16 instead of 12 teams, the schedule is so arranged that for the first time, no team plays more than one game a day. Furthermore, it is a state tournament, the ranking of the eight highest teams at the close of the tournament. The bracket explaining this system appears on page 3.

OLD CLUES TRACED IN LINDBERGH CASE

Gleason, Mrs. Duchek and two others planned to kidnap the Lindbergh boy months ago, that Mrs. Duchek was to take care of the baby after he had been abducted, but that he (Fitzgerald) was arrested and jailed before the plan materialized.

He was quoted as saying one "contact" had been made with Betty.

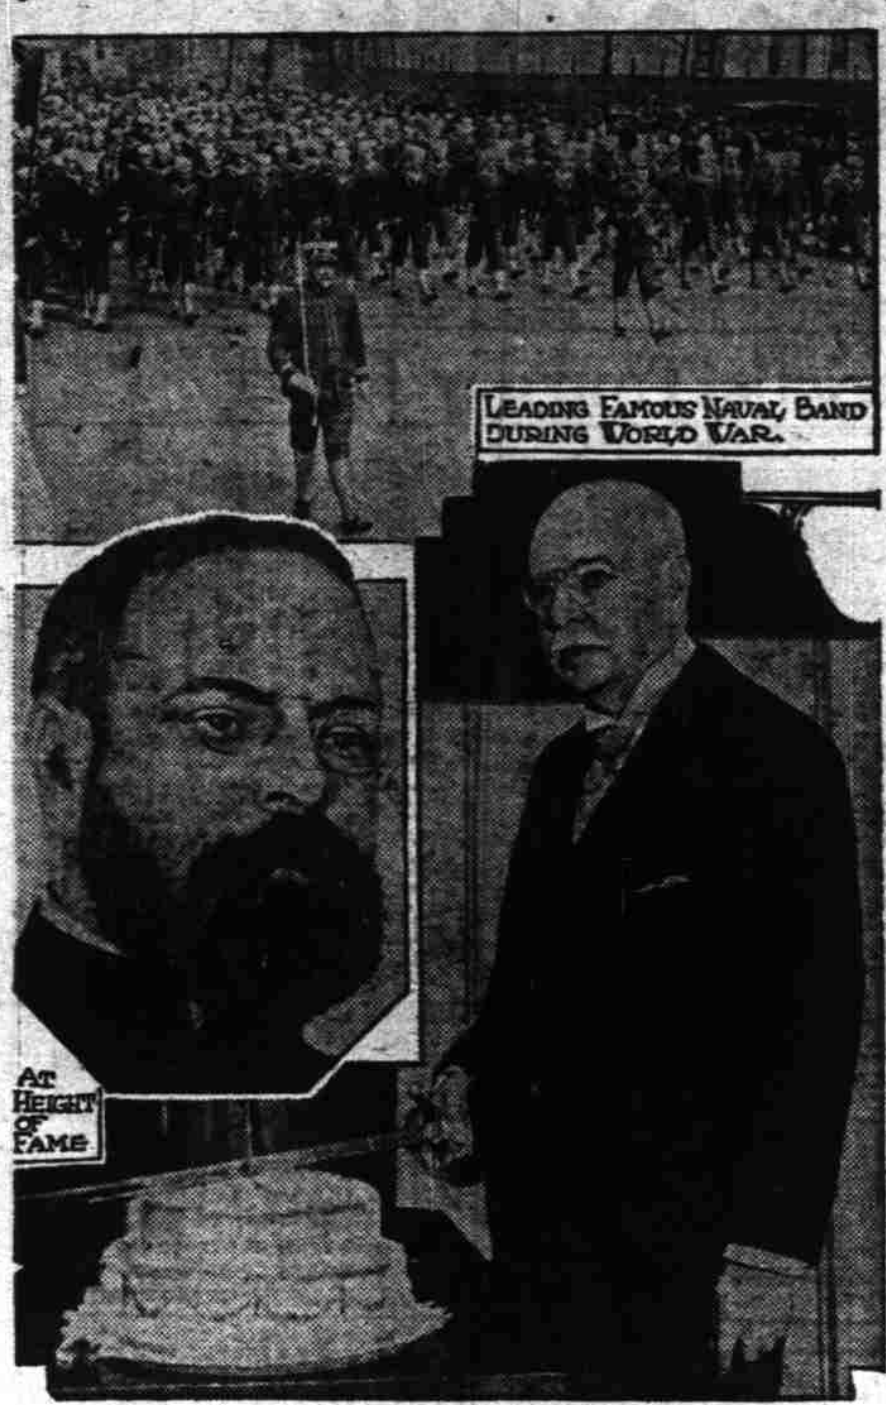

Mrs. Duchek was released, but Gleason still was held late tonight.

In his last statement of the night from the Lindbergh home Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf said he had received only an informal report on that phase of the investigation.

In response to a question he said police are investigating a story of Mr. and Mrs. C. Leandro Lightfoot of Highland Park, N. J., that their two servants took a 60-mile drive in the family car the night of the kidnaping and disappeared the next day.

"MARCH KING" IS MOURNED

LEADING FAMOUS MARINE BAND DURING WORLD WAR.

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA ON HIS 77TH BIRTHDAY

The recent death of John Philip Sousa, justly called "America's March King," is mourned by not only millions of his own countrymen who had thrilled to the stirring strains of his many musical creations, but also by countless hosts of admirers in every corner of the globe. Sousa's music played American armies to war and welcomed them home in triumph. Strangely enough, the great composer's early ambition was to be a baker. In his native Washington, where his father was a member of the U. S. Marine Band, young John Philip got his fill of that ambition and incidentally of pie. He was apprenticed to the Marine Band when he was 14, but left it three years later to play a violin in the orchestra of Jacques Offenbach, famous German composer of "Tales of Hoffmann," when that musician visited the United States in 1877. When he was 25, Sousa started on his 12 years as leader of the Marine Band and at that point began composing the martial music that made his name a byword. He was one of the most prolific of composers, his works including more than 100 marches, topped by the peerless "Stars and Stripes Forever," 10 operas, many songs and suites and "The Last Crusade," perhaps his most pretentious work, for orchestra, organ and choir. Sousa was decorated by many governments and societies and few Americans were better known outside their own country. He died in his 78th year.

NEW HELMETS FOR FIREMEN RECEIVED

Battle-scarred from numberless fiery conflicts, a dozen helmets which have been used by Salem firemen since the days of the hand-drawn pumps soon will go into discard. Awaiting ownership identification letters, a dozen of the new light-weight fibre helmets were unpacked at the central fire station this week.

The new helmets, shape a cross between a trench helmet and a sou'wester, have as their chief advantage, the fact that they will stay on the fireman's head, a feat not known to the old ones. They are equipped with chin strap.

Lack of funds forestalled purchase of the new helmets for all firemen. At present there will be two white ones, for the Chief Harry Hutton and his assistant, William Iwan; seven red ones for the captains. The three extras, bought at this time, are black, for the non-officers.

Firemen in days gone by did make use of the old-time helmets, and saved themselves a many a bumped head. But the old things come off so easily, according to the "boys," that of late they've been left hanging on their hooks on the fire trucks.

CHRISTENSEN SAYS HE'LL QUIT RACKET

Still Operation Blamed on Unemployed Status; Penalty Light

"You'll never see me handling the stuff again," Henry Christensen told Justice of the Peace Miller Hayden yesterday after he had been brought into court on charge of possession of a still. He was arrested yesterday afternoon at home near West Station by A. F. Mariott, federal officer, and Mike Hogan, state officer.

Officers told Judge Hayden Christensen made no pretense of concealing the 45-gallon still, and even helped them pour out the mash. Mariott characterized his attitude as the finest he had encountered in any arrest he has made.

On basis of the man's evident sincerity, the fact that he was out of work, contributed when he could to support of a sick relative and that he had a wife and child to support, Judge Hayden levied the lightest sentence he has imposed in a still case. Christensen was given 30 days in the county jail and $150 fine. The fine was remitted and defendant put on six months probation.

It was Judge Hayden's pronouncement that breaking of the prohibition would bring dire results that caused Christensen to declare he'd never be guilty of the offense again.

Christensen said he cut wood when he was able, but that he was not able to haul out the wood, which he cut on lease, because of road conditions. He started the Munier, Stanley Smith and Barbara Weeks. The picture was directed by Seymour Felix.

- Friday—Walter Huston in "Law and Order".
- The Hollywood
- Today—Lawrence Tibbett in "Cuban Love Song".
- Friday—George Bancroft in "Rich Man's Folly".

Besides its peppy dialogue and its ludicrous situations, several musical novelty numbers are introduced as a part of the entertainment in the club house scenes of "Stepping Sisters", at the Capitol today. "Look, Here Comes a Rainbow" and "My World Begins and Ends With You" are two of these tunes.

"Stepping Sisters", depicting the adventures in society of three former burlesque queens, is brought to the screen by a cast that includes such favorites as Louise Dresser, Minna Gombell, Jobyna Howland, William O'Leary Sr., Howard Phillips, Ferdinand Munier, Stanley Smith and Barbara Weeks. The picture was directed by Seymour Felix.

The Hollywood is entertaining its audience today with "Cuban Love Song", the feature picture which gave Lawrence Tibbett another boost toward fame and fortune.

It is a story of romance and pleasure with just enough bitter to heighten the romance. Lawrence Tibbett, Ernest Torrence, and Jimmy Durante are three marines who take life's pleasure where ever they find it. In the city of Havana romance comes to Tibbett and a real love, although it is a forbidden one. Lulu Vales is the inspiration. Events follow this affair in rapid and often amusing manner.

Advance reports say that in "Sob Sister" James Dunn gives a performance exceeding his vivid and realistic portrayal in "Bad Girl." He plays the part of a newspaper reporter, opposite Linda Watkins, who makes her screen debut in the title role. Alfred Santell directed. This picture will be the Grand's feature today.

MUSICAL PROGRAM PROVES PLEASING

By OLIVE M. DOAK

A program of merit and interest was presented as a joint offering of the Salem Madrigal club and the Salem Civic Male chorus Tuesday night under the direction of Prof. E. W. Hobson at the First Christian church. A large audience crowded the church, and gave warm reception to the two singing groups in their first concert of the year.

The male chorus showed itself to be particularly well balanced and presented its numbers in a smooth, artistic and individual style. The bass section is especially rich and adds the excellent balance needed previously by the chorus.

The chorus was organized primarily as a singing group to appear in concert whenever a civic demand arose for such voice work and it is apparently ready now for any call.

The Madrigal club has added numbers and changed its personnel to a considerable extent this year. Its work Tuesday night showed excellent understanding and sincerity of purpose, together with a comprehensive response to the baton of Prof. Hobson.

Mrs. Kenneth Rich gave splendid support as accompanist. Miss Lois Plummer accompanied the first number for the program. As special features of the program, brilliant numbers were given by Emory Stuart Hobson at the piano, and Dalbert Jensen, violinist. Both are very promising, youthful musicians of Salem.

DRY CLEANING NEW LAUNDRY ACTIVITY

Establishment of a dry cleaning plant in connection with the Salem Laundry was announced yesterday by E. L. Wiedner. The plant occupies a small section of the laundry at 263 South High street, and will be known as the Band Box dry cleaning unit. In charge will be Harvey Peterson, who has had about eight years in the dry cleaning business, part of it here in Salem.

The equipment, something entirely new to Salem, is so constituted that there is no danger from fire or explosion. The process, the last word in dry cleaning, will permit delivery of an article in as short a period as 30 minutes, in rush cases.

The process in use at the Band Box leaves the garment absolutely odorless.

Demand, caused by the increasing use of silks, rayons and celanese in dresses, household furnishings, shirts and other articles of apparel, has caused installation of the plant.

Mr. Wiedner is a veteran laundryman, having spent 41 years in the field, 15 of which have been in Salem.
