

Sanford Record Unique; Thrice Chosen on All-State Five

N'LEAN PICKED QUINT CAPTAIN

Coaches, Newsmen Also put Burrell, Bergstrom and Scheel on Team

ALL-STATE QUINT
Clifford McLean, Benson, forward.
Robert Bergstrom, Astoria, forward.
James Burrell, Salem, center.
Glen Sanford, Salem, guard.
Maurice Schell, Medford, guard.

SECOND TEAM
Walter Palmberg, Astoria, forward.
Charles Patterson, Benson, forward.
Chester Kibbe, Nehalem, center.
Morris Heller, Benson, guard.
Edward Makela, Astoria, guard.

HONORABLE MENTION
Forwards—McLean, Marshfield; Harrington, Medford; Kelly, Salem.
Centers—Woldt, Benson; York, Baker; Wagner, Corvallis.
Guards—Adams, Nehalem; Sachtler, Salem; B. Courtney, Benson; Merryman, Corvallis.

The honor of being the first man ever selected on the all-state tournament team for three successive years was Saturday by Glen Sanford, Salem high guard, when coaches, officials and newspapermen made their annual selections at the luncheon at which Roy S. Keene, general manager of the tournament, was host.

Burrell, Salem high center, was also chosen on the all-state team along with McLean, captain stepping forward, who is selected by virtue of receiving the highest number of votes; Robert Bergstrom, tall Astoria forward; and Maurice Schell, Medford's red headed guard.

This all-star collection if actually brought together would undoubtedly outscore almost any aggregation that could be brought against it, but there were some coaches present at the luncheon who had it figured out that the next team if pitted against the first, probably would win—especially if the members were told they constituted the second team. This opinion was based on the air-tight defense the second team could muster, as contrasted to the all-around ability represented in the first team. Whether it is correct or not, this belief reveals the great difficulty experienced in selecting five players out of the 128 entered in the tournament, as the best five.

Sanford and McLean are the two repeaters from last year's all-star team. Palmberg, chosen last year, was beaten out by his playing mate Bergstrom, by an extremely small margin. Burrell and Scheel were playing in a state tournament for the first time this year. When the selections were made, Burrell, the high-point man of the tournament, while Scheel was named largely for his "pinch hitting" as a scorer in two hard fought games.

Though chosen for their individual merit, there is no question but that the all-state players could be welded into a tremendously effective team. All are fast enough to fit into a flashing fast-breaking offense and all are good shots from either close in or back of the foul line. If the fast break should be checked, McLean, Bergstrom, Sanford and Scheel could all blaze away from a distance so effectively that an opposing defense would necessarily be drawn out and permit set plays, in which Burrell would be an outstanding factor, to function effectively.

All of these men are fighters, cool under fire, and while an aggressive offense might be their best defense, the team would by no means be weak in protecting its own goal, especially since Bergstrom and McLean, though named as forwards, might just as logically have been chosen as guards. McLean's assignment on the Benson quintet was similar to Sanford's on the Salem team, though the speedy Indian was designated a forward and Bergstrom played as a forward and Astoria almost as much as forward and also lined up at center occasionally.

In the balloting for first team selections, McLean lacked five votes of being unanimous choice with 30. Sanford received 25, Burrell 22, Bergstrom 18 and Scheel 15. On the second team balloting Palmberg polled 23, Makela 27, Helser 21, Kibbe 17 and Patterson 16. McLean of Marshfield was three votes behind Patterson for second team forward.

STRIKES and SPARES
Holmen Grocery won three points from Shrock Indians in Statesman league bowling last week and Pacific Telephone swept its series with Day and Niles Ladies to score four points. Bill Lefflich scored a 624 high series and 243 single game.

Burrell High Man With 51; Nehalem Scores 160 Points; McClean Second High Man

Burrell of Salem was the high point man in the state tournament which closed Saturday night with 51 points, and Nehalem was the high scoring team with 160, just barely surpassing Salem which scored 157.

Burrell was followed closely by McClean of Marshfield with 49 points. Adams of Nehalem with 47, Kibbe also of Nehalem with 42, Schell of Medford with 41 and Bergstrom of Astoria with 37.

Following Nehalem and Salem in team scoring Medford was third with 134 points, Marshfield fourth with 123, Astoria fifth with 119, Benson sixth with 118 and Corvallis seventh with 115.

The complete record follows:
Salem (157); Bore 25, Kelly 18, Burrell 51, Sanford 23, Sachtler 10, Brownell 3, Perrine 5.
Astoria (129); Palmberg 27, Bergstrom 17, Orwick 6, Mackey 17, Leo 1.
Patterson High for Benson (119); Patterson 25, McLean 20, Woldt 24, Helser 24, Weichmann 5, F. Courtney 12, Braddock 2, H. Courtney 7.
Baker (113); Schell 25, Patterson 17, Wagner 6, Merryman 20, Torgerson 23, Moe 8, Klamath Falls (52); Estes 15, Sheets 4, Allen 13, Knieval 9.

CURT COMMENTS

ALL HONOR TO THE FLYING FINNS. They had the stuff when it was needed—trotted out some "hot shot" in the final game nobody suspected they possessed—they're the champions and don't let anybody tell you any alibis.

But the Fishermen are champions by only three points' margin over the boys of Salem high, and Salem high has license to be as proud, even though not as jubilant, as if it had won.

And all honor to Glen Sanford, Oregon's only three-all-state player and adjudged by men who have reason to know, to be the most valuable player to his team in any in the tournament, and the best sportsman. We have heard game officials say Sanford was never known to protest a ruling on the floor. The rest is known to every fan who has followed his playing for three years. A tremendous fighter, always a clean player, a modest winner, a good loser.

We don't want to embarrass the boys, and fear we shall, but cannot refrain from saying that if any youngster in Salem will pattern his behavior after Glen Sanford's, he can't miss.

Sanford is through playing for Salem high, and so are Bone and Sachtler—three great basketball players who have made history in state tournaments for three years. Every one of the three has given his very best every minute, throughout those three years of fighting. We know them better than they think they do, for they all had their faults when they began.

PEAR PICKERS BEAT NEHALEM

Ten Points Rolled up in Quint-off Before Other Quint Can Get Started

Coach Ray Burgher's strong rallying team from Medford did not have to bring into play its great comeback power Saturday morning while defeating Nehalem 48 to 29, but went to the guns the minute the game started and gained 10 points before the Tillamook county lads scored their first field goal. This brought Medford fourth place in the tournament.

Marshfield came from behind to defeat University high of Eugene 24 to 23 in a game typical to this 13th annual tournament, thereby winning fifth place.

"Red" School was again the high scorer for Medford and "Red" McLean was high scorer for Marshfield, a triumph for fiery blonds.

The Medford center, Wilton White came to the front in the final contest and scored 19 points. Nehalem was decidedly off form, seeming to be at a loss against the tall opponents and also missing a number of open shots.

The Marshfield game was a real thriller with each team scrapping to take one last win before starting home. McLean scored 19 points for the winners, but it was Milosovich's field goal with less than a minute to play which brought the final lead.

Several University high shots looped the hoop, but would not go through.

Salem High Long Favorite In the Selection of All-Star Teams, Shows Years' Rolls

A glimpse into state high school tournament records reveals not only that Glen Sanford, smooth Salem guard, is the first three year all-state man, but also shows that Salem high leads the field in places won on all-state teams with 14 out of 15 or almost 23 percent, all-state positions since the tournaments started.

Medford high comes in for second place with nine all-state positions and Astoria is third with eight. There have been several men selected twice and consequently counted twice for their schools.

Eugene high is in fourth place with six selections, but counting the three for University high, Eugene may well lay claim to be a great basketball talent producing town.

Portland has many stars. Five different Portland schools have contrived together to gain 13 all-state positions, though for the last three years Portland has been represented by two teams while never more than one at a time has come from Eugene or elsewhere.

Portland's all-state positions have been gained as follows: Lincoln three, Franklin three, Washington three, Benson two and Commerce two.

PLANT MAKES DOUBLE MATCH

Jones to Meet Bond; Reed is Booked Against Newcomer; Hakenschmidt

The double main event wrestling match at the Salem armory last Tuesday night brought out such a big crowd and gave so much of a show for the money that Matchmaker Harry Plant has arranged another which is just as good or better for the coming Tuesday night's show.

Henry Jones, the old fox from Provo, Utah, will again meet Jimmy Bond of Boston and Robin Reed will meet a newcomer to Salem, young Hakenschmidt. Hakenschmidt is a son of the great heavyweight wrestler Hakenschmidt.

He is reported to be a fast clean wrestler. Hakenschmidt has been wrestling in Portland and Seattle and is one of the toughest grapplers to strike this section of the county in even this unusually good wrestling year.

Salem Outdrives Big Cities Here Matchmaker Harry Plant likes to strike in the big cities or anywhere. The abundance of top-notch grapplers in this section can be accounted for by the fact that Robin Reed of Keosaupe still holds the world's welterweight wrestling championship.

Jimmy Bond is the most popular wrestler who has appeared here this season and the crowd will be pulling for him to win over Henry Jones who for all his ability is not particularly popular with the crowd.

Robin Reed has some staunch supporters here and always will have them, but he has lost a few recently due to tactics he is now using promiscuously. However, he gives a great show and with all that speed turned to punishment inflicting, he splits his opponents in unique manners many times during the bouts.

As before, the toss of a coin will decide which pair will appear in the first match. Each bout will last one and one half hours or go to the best two out of three falls winner.

Staters Win Farcical Mix From U. of O.

A much-needed laugh and diversion was offered tournament fans Saturday afternoon when the Oregon State college coaches came from behind in the last few minutes of play to win 66 to 49 from the University of Oregon coaches.

The coaches seemed to know all the dirty tricks in the book, but before "Frankenstein" Max Allen soon calmed them down. Not, however, before some choice son-nenbers, flying wristlocks and other holds had been employed, particularly a flying tackle from the rear by Coach "Stats" Gill of Oregon State.

Gene Eberhart sank a long shot to start the scoring and Oregon soon led, 16 to 1. Oregon State then started clicking and Coach Ray Burgher of Medford was the man here of the common people, though he was proselytized from University of Idaho.

"Stats" Fouls "Spec" Coach "Spec" Fouls, whose alma mater is Oregon State, played for the winners and might have been high scorer except that his team-mate, "Stats" Gill fouled him while shooting. Keene wanted to shoot a foul, but "Frankenstein" was master of the situation and would not permit this.

"Bad Boy" Dave Wright of Lincoln high played for the Oregon five and committed six fouls. He was finally retired from the game and on his way to the showers washed the corner of the court, took the ball away from "Spec" Keene and shot a basket which was variously applauded and booed by the hilarious crowd.

The real hero of the game was Coach Ray Burgher of Medford who scored 26 points for the Statesmen. Coach Keene with a striped jersey scored 13 points when he went in and helped the rally which took Oregon.
