Exempted Completely From French Embargo due to San Jose Scale

In completely exempting boxed Pacific coast apples from the fruit embargo against San Jose scale France has paid a high compliment to the care that Oregon orchardists and those of neighboring states have given their apples in the past, believes Dr. Don C. Mote, ologist of the Oregon experiment station. With this example of the practical value of disease control programs, growers can afford to be sure that this reputation is maintained in the future, he says. In response to many inquiries as to the latest recommendations on San Jose scale control, Dr. Mote says that one good dormant spray a year of either lime sulphur or oil is ordinarily sufficient, but that if that spray hasn't yet been applied promptness will be necessary to insure getting it on before the bud scales begin to separate and bring danger of spray injury. Any time before the buds show green is safe, he says.

Recommended strength of limesulphur is 12 gallons of the stock liquid solution, 32 degrees Baume, to 100 gallons of water. One good application, thoroughly applied to every twig, serves as a general winter cleanup spray.

If an oil emulsion spray is used a strength of four gallons of miscible oil is considered safer than the other spray oil, known as the quick breaking type, says Dr. Mote. As oils vary greatly in character it is recommended that the miscible oil used be between 50 and 70 in sulfination test and from 100 to 120 in viscosity.

PRUNE MARKET IN UNHOPEFUL PLIGHT

CORVALLIS, March 21-(AP) -Serious disruption of foreign trade is conspiring with heavy storage holdings and the low prices of California dried prunes and of competitive dried fruits along the Facific coast, to cause Pacific northwest prune growers many anxious hours.

This is the conclusion of experts in the O. S. C. extension service and of the U.S. D. A. bureau of agricultural economics.

A review issued this week stated that the dried prune industry of Oregon and other Pacific northwest states is facing a serious problem in marketing the remaining stock advantageously.

Mid-March prices on all grades of Italian prunes at northwest markets were down during the week from 1 to 2 cents a pound compared with the Dec. 1 price. The greatest activity in the Oregon prune market has been in Douglas county where a limited volume of date prunes were sold at prices slightly below Italians and petites. The northwest price ranges to growers on Italian prunes at the mid-month were: 35-40s, 21/2-2%c; 40-45s, 2-2%c; 45-50s, 1%-

Higher Quotations at Liverpool Assist Wheat Bulge

CHICAGO, March 21-(AP)-Despite lively selling on price advances, the grain markets developed robust strength today, stimulated by new North American wheat export business totaling 1,000,000 bushels.

Unexpectedly higher wheat quotations at Liverpool, together with word that France had increased her wheat import quota to 35 per cent from 30 per cent had a bullish effect. There were also substantial curtailments shown in the United States wheat visible supply and in the amount of wheat afloat for Europe. Wheat closed firm at the day's top level, 1 to 1 5-8 cents above Saturday's finish, corn 1-2 to 7-8 up, oats 1-2 to 5-8 advanced. Today's closing quotations:

Counting Dummy Tricks.

Perhaps it is tedious counting trick values of each hand held, but you soon acquire ability to approximate playing values at a glance. After that faculty is possessed players need count values carefully only when seeking high contracts, or when making close decisions between further bidding and trying to collect penalties.

Dummy employs the same honor values as those given yesterday for the declarer. Both partners count real playing values, which are alike whether playing no-trumps or a suit declaration. Until 1925 all of us followed the custom of or a suit declaration. Until 1925 all of us followed the custom of undervaluing honors held by the declarer and overvaluing those held by dummy, as compensation. Excellent results were obtainable that way, but two tables of values had to be learned. Also in some cases these over an under valuations failed to compensate perfectly, where one hand held an undue share of playing tricks. Players who follow the older method need not change if they are satisfied with results obtained, even if the later method is more even if the later method is more logical and precise, to say nothing of being more simple.

Trump honors held by d clarer and dummy possess identical values. Low trumps held by them only differ in value, because they serve different purposes.
