

TRAINING SCHOOL POLICY OUTLINED

Removal of Privileges now Punishment Method is Word of Laughlin

In a speech which held the close attention of Rotarians Sam Laughlin, superintendent of the boys' training school at Woodburn told, in an informal manner, what the school does and the methods used in handling boys. Contrasting the old methods of stern discipline and the new methods of training and guidance and limiting privileges rather than corporal punishment, Laughlin expressed the view that the new methods accomplished better results than the old. "We are not running a sub-sister institution, however," he declared. "We are not coddling the boys."

The staff consists of 24 employees, not all full-time however. There are 87 boys at present. Those of the staff responsible for management of the cottages are on duty or subject to call the full 24 hours of the day. Various shops provide employment and furnish the boys with clothing, shoes, etc. The day starts at 4 a. m. when some of the boys get up to do barn work. At 5 p. m. the boys must be back in their cottage homes. Over 600 boys are out on parole.

A class in sociology of the state university recently studied the boys and their report was that 85 percent were normal, 30 percent borderline or under, and 15 percent morons.

Boys do not come from the cities so much as from the rural areas. Of the last 50 received 36 were from rural districts and 14 from urban. The reason is that the city has more facilities for caring for juveniles without sending them to the training school.

Kaylor Estate Is Distributed

Distribution of the $24,504 estate of the late Estelle Kaylor was ordered here yesterday in probate court. Anna Kaylor Conklin, principal heir, receives $14,916, largely investments in stocks and bonds. To two nieces of the deceased woman go bequests of $4794 each, the funds being in Liberty bonds which the deceased shortly before her death directed Anna Conklin to give the nieces. Cash receipts during the period of administration were $3986 and outgo $2785.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

"The Official System" as Adopted by Leading Authorities By E. V. SHEPARD

Using Eyes and Wits.

Expert play requires the best possible use of both eyes and wits, as the hand below shows. Z made an opening bid of 1-Heart. A jumped to 3-No Trumps. Y led the 10 of hearts; B covered; Z played his Q. How should A play, and what can he make against any further defense by Y-Z?

I happened to be the player marked A. The dealer's opening bid of 1-Heart plainly marked him with holding both the missing K-Q of hearts and the K-Q of spades. I held one certain stop to each of those two suits; also I must win three club tricks and at least four diamond tricks—more probably five diamond tricks. Nine certain tricks in my own hand made it obligatory to close bidding with 3-No Trumps.

When the opening lead of Y's 10 of hearts brought down dummy's J and Z's Q, my 9 became another certain stop, provided I played my A. I did this. Then I began leading winning diamonds. I noted the fall of Z's 9 on the first diamond trick. Even if Z held no more, Z's partner could not possess more than four diamonds, insuring five tricks in that suit—one trick above my contract.

Another lead of diamonds captured Z's 10, leaving the 8 in dummy a card of entry that would en-

SALEM MEN VOTED FINE ENTERTAINERS

AUBURN, March 23.—The Auburn community club met at the schoolhouse Friday with one of the largest crowds ever present. A fine program had been arranged by George Baumgartner. Dr. L. E. Barrick's male quartet of Salem was the hit of the evening. The Salem chamber of commerce furnished three speakers who gave short talks. Mr. Rupert and C. E. Wilson of Salem and Lloyd A. Lee of this community were the speakers. Homer Liesy

BISHOP LOWE WILL BE SPEAKER HERE

Maudy Thursday Observed By First and Jason Lee Churches

Maudy Thursday, one of the high points of religious interest in Holy Week, will be observed by the First Methodist and Jason Lee Methodist churches in a union service at the Jason Lee church, Winter and Jefferson streets. Holy communion will be administered between 7:15 and 8 p. m. in an impressive candle-light service. Special music will be furnished by Mrs. Francis DeHarport, piano, and Alexander Meloridoff, violin.

At 8 o'clock, Bishop Titus Lowe, resident bishop of the Portland area of Methodism during the past four years, will preach. Bishop Lowe has had unusual opportunity to contact the worldwide activity of Christianity by reason of a service early in his ministry as a missionary in India, serving as corresponding secretary of the board of foreign missions controlling all the missionary enterprise of the church, and having served four years as bishop of the Singapore Area in the Malay Straits Settlement. His sermon Thursday night will be in the nature of a Holy Week message.

It often happens that a no-trump maker benefits by opponents doing the thing expected and for which he is prepared. This is not in the least meant as a hint that Y should have made an opening lead from his own long suit, instead of opening with the top card of his partner's suit. It just happened that cards lay perfectly for the declarer with an opening heart lead, while any other opening lead would have saved points for the defenders.

Place For Five In Typing Class Now Announced

Room exists in the Salem Opportunity school typing class for five more pupils, Miss Gertrude Anderson, director, announced yesterday. The class this semester has 45 students enrolled. It is proving one of the popular services of the Opportunity school.

This is the third year Salem has had such a class. It meets each Tuesday and Thursday from 3:15 to 4:15 o'clock at the senior high school under supervision of Miss Elizabeth Hoger. It is given for boys and girls not attending the regular schools and especially for those now in offices who wish to improve themselves.

Enrollment information may be had by calling Miss Anderson, 5719.

Wrestling will start at 2 p. m. in the central Y. building in Portland, and will continue until late that night.

Lost Boys and Men Who Go to Rescue Have Experiences

JEFFERSON, March 23.—The recent flood brought considerable apprehension to families in the Dever community Saturday when two young boys were discovered missing after one of the boys was known to have gone out in a boat. The boys were Roy, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jole Woodridge, and Carl Hofer, a neighbor.

After several searching parties went out, and had found that the boys had been seen at the Jacobs home that afternoon, Mrs. Woodridge heard calls for help. Robert and Stanley Hofer responded with their boat and after strenuous work succeeded in getting to the boys about 8 o'clock that night. Robert and Stanley had to wade through a 1 ft water waist high to carry out the "lost" boys, who had attempted to bring their boat home through the timber.

HIGH SCHOOL TOPS ALL IN ATTENDANCE

Despite inroads made by influenza, Salem high school maintained top standing among all Salem public schools in point of attendance, the report for the month ending March 18 shows. Its average attendance of 97.4 per cent was approached only by Highland and Lincoln grade schools, with per centages of 96.9 and 96.4, respectively. This was the first time during this school year that the high school average fell below 98 per cent.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT AT DALLAS OPENS 3RD

DALLAS, March 23.—Plans for the 1932 tennis tournament have been completed by the Dallas Tennis association. The Dallas Tennis club has challenged the Dallas city team and a match will be played between the two teams early in May.

The city tournament will begin Sunday, April 3 and is open to all players living within the corporate limits of the city of Dallas, attending the Dallas city schools, or who have made Dallas their trading center for at least six months before registering for the tournament. A fee of 25 cents will be charged for registration to help pay the expenses of the tournament. March 28 has been set as the final day for registration.

Trophies will be awarded in the men's and women's singles and in the junior boys' and girls' singles for children under 15 years of age. The trophies in the men's and women's singles must be won three consecutive years for permanent possession but in the junior division only two consecutive wins are necessary. The men's and women's trophies will be donated by Guy Brothers Hardware and Craven's Paint and Hardware stores. A trophy committee has been given the power to buy trophies for the junior division.

A city team will be selected by permitting a player who has been defeated once to challenge any other defeated player until only six men remain with one defeat or less. These six players will compose the city team with rankings determined by challenge.

Anderson Trial Review Sought In Court Here

A writ of review of the court proceedings involving John E. Anderson last week in Silverton, was ordered yesterday by Judge L. H. McMahan after counsel for Anderson had requested such action Monday. George Hubbs, city recorder at Silverton, has been given 10 days in which to report the proceedings to the circuit court. Anderson, in his petition for a writ of review, states that he was not given a fair trial in Silverton. He says he was not permitted to get the attorney of his choice and was taken before Hubbs without being informed why he was arrested.

Avers Billboard Contract Signed Under Influence

Because the salesman gave him a drink of liquor, Fred Kist didn't know what he was doing when he signed an advertising contract for billboard space. Later when he "came to" Kist charges he tried to get a release from the contract but met with no success. He made these statements yesterday in an answer filed to a recent suit brought by A. Martinson. The contract was made March 27, 1931, and called for use of Foster and Kleiser billboards.
