'IMMORTALITY' IS THEME OF STOVER

"One's capacity for life itself will determine an abundant and desirable immortality which is to come," said Rev. H. C. Stover yesterday noon in speaking to members of Lions club on the subject, "A Desirable Immortality." All service clubs were requested this week to have addresses on Easter themes.

"Immortality is attained through an evolution," he continued. "Each man has possibilities in him of immortality. But only those who have this capacity will have a desirable immortality. A desirable immortality is to my view of future life what an annuity is to old age. It is according to what you invest. 'If we have capacity in life to lay by personality for a desirable immortality, it will be so. When death comes to us, it releases our own personalities and they go to their own company."

Imagery of golden harps and streets, Jasper walls and gates of pearl are obviously so untrue, undesirable and unjust," declared Rev. Stover, "that the practical man says, 'if this be immortality, let's eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow we die.'"

Under the Dome...

ALL is quiet under the capitol dome. All members of the state board of control are out of town or out of the state, and business is carried on smoothly without a rift. But watch your step, appointees and state employees, the eyes of some who are paid for that purpose are with you and will deposit your every move in the treasury.

Governor Meier is in California for a visit with his two daughters and grandchildren of whom he thinks the world. He will return to Salem next Monday afternoon on his way back from the south. During his absence Willard L. Marks of Albany is governor, for the fourth time, but it is doubted he will be here this week.

Marks was in Salem the fore part of the week and imparted the information he was a bachelor for the time. Mrs. Marks, the delightful wife of the senate president, is ill with diphtheria and Willard is kept from home. The present governor however informed she was not seriously ill.

The state board of control held a meeting in Portland the other day, but no action worthy of reproduction was accomplished. Hal E. Hoss, although in the city, did not attend the meeting which was called in the governor's office. The board again deferred action on the gas contracts which could become very embarrassing to the board.

Rufus C. Holman said he would be back in Salem next Monday. He remained in Portland after the board meeting, as he said he had a fight with the county court. Holman added he didn't have enough to fight about at Salem so had to pick on the county. He appeared to be doing very well, however, at the board of control meeting.

The sixth report of the Literary Digest poll on prohibition shows that 14,000 people in Oregon mailed in ballots to the magazine. The vote was 4628 for prohibition and 9978 against, or a two to one vote for the west. This is just the reverse of the congressmen in the house recently on the question. Oregon was two to one dry.

For once we lost out in the matter of getting free cigars. Failure to attend the fire the other night may account for it. It was reported on good authority that the Stanfield previously was defeated by the Brynes people passed out many

Occurrences and Gossip at the center of Oregon's state government

William Walsh, formerly of the Willamette law school, has been in Salem several days the last week. Bill is now district attorney of Coos county and recently filed for reelection. So far Bill has no competition, and word from Marshfield indicates Bill need not worry about being re-elected. He has made many friends.

Marion county ranks 24th in the list in Oregon in the matter of tax reduction, and is in the average class with a cut in 1932 of 14.49 percent under 1931. All counties show a reduction ranging from 4 to 30 per cent. The average for the state for property tax reduction is 14.4 per cent. This means the counties have added to the state tax curtailment.

Polk county in this district rates high in the list or third, with a cut of 28.63 per cent. Linn, another neighbor is 14th with a cut of 15.28 per cent. The state tax commission considers the retrenchment the greatest reported by any state in the union. The total savings on property taxes this year is 7,248,429.

The only tax consuming bodies which report an increase in property taxation are the county, exclusive of schools and roads, the fire patrol and reforestation. The tax for state purposes of course shows the greatest saving, followed by market roads, elementary and high schools and irrigation and drainage districts.

The tax commission in making this report commented that the retrenchment was the greatest in the history of Oregon. The sum for government use from property taxes has thus been cut from $50,222,605 to a total of $42,979,176, and judging from political slogans this will be cut even more in the near future.

Stanfield May Toss Hat Soon

Reports were received at the state department Thursday that Robert N. Stanfield had decided to enter the republican primary campaign for United States senator. Stanfield previously was defeated by the Brynes people passed out many

ARREST CALBREATH, FATAL CRASH CASE

E. L. Calbreath, 19, Stayton youth, was arrested yesterday and haled into justice court here on charge of reckless driving as outgrowth of automobile crash last Friday which proved fatal to Zelma Palmer, Aumsville girl who attended Stayton high school.

Calbreath pleaded not guilty to the charge and bail was set at $3000, which he did not raise and so is in the county jail. Fred Williams was appointed as attorney for the youth. Preliminary hearing date was not set.

Complaint against Calbreath was sworn to by mother of Zelma Palmer, Mrs. Anna M. Palmer of Aumsville, and mentions that defendant drove the car in reckless and heedless manner, and that in so doing the car plunged from the highway into a ditch, which in turn caused one of the passengers to suffer injuries which resulted in her death.

The tragic accident happened last Friday afternoon when Zelma missed the school bus and accepted a ride home in the car driven by young Calbreath, and accompanied by three other young people.

By Frederick Stelwer, incumbent. Friends of Stanfield indicated that his declaration would be filed here within the next few days.

Monday Listed As Holiday But It Really Isn't

The public school calendar shows next Monday as a holiday

but in this case the figures are untruthful. Although scheduled last fall as a holiday, Monday will be a school day as usual. Superintendent George Hug announced yesterday.

Contrary to schedule and previous custom, Washington's birthday this year was made a full holiday. For this reason Monday will not be so.
