

Leo Lomski to Make Bow as Matman Here Next Tuesday

JACK KREUGER TO FACE JONES

Heavier man Brought in to Meet Uncrowned Champ Of Welterweights

Since Henry Jones has cleaned up on all the welterweight grapplers in this section just as fast as they could be thrown at him, Matchmaker Harry Plant is bringing in Jack Kreuger, a 160 pound muscle mauler from Seattle to meet the uncrowned champion, as Jones would term himself.

That match will be officially the main event, but there are strong indications that another announcement made by the matchmaker Thursday relative to next Tuesday night's show will cause more buzzing among the fans. It is that Leo Lomski, the "Aberdeen Assassin," the fastest wrestler will also appear on the coming card, meeting Toby Christensen of Tacoma in a 45-minute match.

These two wrestled a draw at Vancouver, Wash., Wednesday night. A lot of fans will want to see Lomski in action because of his fictitious fame, and will be trying to figure his chances as a grappler. It is reported that he is lighting fast.

Jones Says Scales Were Not Honest
Jones was the first man to defeat Robin Reed after Reed won the world's welterweight wrestling championship and championship belt. The wily old fox treated Reed to a highly unpleasant night in Portland and emerged with two of the three falls, only to lose the belt by being one pound overweight at ringside.

Jones believes that he was the victim of injustice for he declared last Tuesday night when in Salem that he weighed in at the gymnasium the afternoon before his bout with Reed at only 143 pounds.

After weighing in he ate only two eggs and a piece of toast and drank no liquid whatsoever, according to his story, and then was weighed in at 146 pounds at ringside. He didn't think much of the scales used and plainly stated that they could not possibly be right.

Also Has Been "Other" Champion
It will probably be a long time before Jones gets another crack at Reed—he had to dog him a long time to get one match, he states. Jones has also defeated Jack Reynolds who holds an other world's championship belt in the welterweight division, but couldn't get the belt either.

Jones declares that he is willing to wrestle either Reed or Reynolds and if he doesn't win would give all his cut to charity.

But while Jones is waiting for another crack at Reed, he is not wasting his time and is turning to heavier men for real competition. Roughhouse Billy Coggins of Tacoma outweighed Jones five pounds in last Tuesday night's match, but lost two straight falls to him.

Jack Kreuger will be at least 10 pounds heavier than Jones and will not be so easily flipped back and forth as the lighter opponents have been.

Buster Crabbe And Kojac Set World Records

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 31 (AP)—Clarence "Buster" Crabbe of the Los Angeles A. C. pushed to a new world's record in the 300-yard medley swim tonight at the Yale pool to capture his second national senior A. U. championship.

A second world record fell before George Kojac of the New York A. C., who lowered his own mark of 1 minute 38 seconds in the 150-yard backstroke by three fifths of a second.

The west coast star, who won the 1500-meter championship yesterday, shaved two-fifths of a second off the old time to set a new mark of 3 minutes 36 2-5 seconds.

Phils Change Tactics

By HARDIN BURNLEY

WITH the opening day but a few weeks away, all good managers are profuse with statements to the effect that their teams have been "strengthened, improved and will surely finish the league race in the first division." Of course, there are only four first division places in each baseball league, with sixteen teams battling for the coveted eight spots. Eight teams must naturally finish worse than fourth, but we have yet to hear a manager predict that his team will wind up in the second division.

New Manager Bert Shotton, of the Philadelphia National League, is no exception to the rule. Perhaps Manager Shotton has good reason to be optimistic, for he has improved the Phils. In addition, Shotton is a game fighter and is the keen judge of playing material. Kamorrs are flying about the Quaker town that unless Shotton makes good the prediction about a place in the first division this will be his last season as manager of the Phils.

CURT COMMENTS

There's a perfectly good football coaching vacancy down at Eugene, and students and alumni all over the northwest are breaking into a sweat for fear their own mentor is going to be lured away. Up at Spokane appears a rumor that Mike Pacarovich of Gonzaga is being considered—or else Slip Madigan of St. Mary's will go to Oregon and Pacarovich to St. Mary's.

There has even been talk here in Salem that Spec Keene might be moved down to Eugene, but we're not sure about it because it might give them the idea.

Any way you look at it, Spears' trunk packing act is going to create one or two attractive jobs. But we have a feeling the colleges with the "big shot" coaches may rest easy.

With good pitching, Shotton believes that his team can make the grade. And with the following staff he may get it. The Phillies pitching department will include Ray Benge, Big Jim Elliott, Dudley Ed Holly, Phil Collins, Nichols, Ace Elliott, Bolen, Adams, Fallenstein and Milligan.

"Foggy Phil" Collins, star right-hander of the outfit, is showing splendid form in pre-season games and seems destined to have another good season. And in addition, Manager Shotton will have that big gun of outfielders, Chuck Klein, doing his stuff again.

University of Washington is having its troubles also.

The athletic budget presumably will be turned over to President Spencer and the idea seems to be to get away from high pressure subsidizing and such. Oregon State while it is losing no coaches, is practically in the same boat as the University of Oregon, and the gleeful shouts of the deprecators of sport may prove to be not premature.

Senior Edition of Clarion to Appear

Off the press today will come the annual senior edition of the Clarion, Salem high school newspaper. Editor Margaret Magee has been assisted by the following staff: Esther Gibbard and William Dyer, assistant editors; Alice Speck and Jim Beall, news editors; Phyllis Hauge and Jermyne Upton, society editors; Hanna Eymann and Laura Goris, feature editors; Ann Fitzpatrick and Daisy Varley, exchange editors; Bob Utter and Clinton Vincent, sport editors.

Wrong Business Named in Story

Instead of the Marinello beauty shop, The Statesman yesterday should have named Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Scott, who tomorrow will be the Elits shop. The agent selling the Scotts their tickets was misinformed. The Scotts will retain their ownership of the Elits.

LETTERS GIVEN AT SALEM HIGH

Nine get Basketball Award And Wrestlers Figure In Presentation

Letters for basketball and wrestling, medals for the Hill Military academy relay and pins for debating all were awarded at a lively Salem high school assembly for seniors and sophomores yesterday afternoon. In all the awards totaled 25.

Coach "Holly" Huntington presented major sport letters to the following members of the basketball team which placed second in the state tournament: Third award—Glenn Sanford, John Bone and Mark Sachtler; first award—James Burrell, Melvin Engle, John Perrine, John Kelly, Phil Brownell and Harry Mosher.

The wrestling awards, a small "G" bearing a "W," were made possible by the passing of an amendment to the student constitution last month. Coach Shannon "Pat" Hogue distributed these emblems to the following: Arthur and Don Sugai, Tatero Yada, Aaron Anderson, Robert Ostlund, Paul Tennant, Robert Duncan, Chester Fisher, George Terusaki and Ted Walberg.

For placing second in the military academy medley relay, the following boys, with their event listed, received silver medals: Dave Shepard, mile; Frank Cross, half-mile; Royce Walters, quarter-mile; and Bill Dyer, 230-yard sprint. Track Coach Vernon Gilmore made the presentations.

Six students, including but one girl, earned the debate pins: Robert Read, Waldo Mills, Charles West, Frances Parks, Lawrence Morley and Francis Barnes. Coach Hogue did the awarding.

Bat Work is Stressed by Parrish Nine

Coach Harold Hawk is giving his Parrish junior high baseball players a lot of hitting practice and is going to continue stressing hitting and let the players learn most of their fielding by themselves.

PAYMENT IS MADE UPON STATE BONDS

Rufus C. Holman, state treasurer, yesterday transferred by telegraph to the Chase National Bank in New York City $2,668,982.46, with which to pay $337,500 in principal of Oregon state highway bonds, $674,867.22 in semi-annual interest on $29,491,750.00 of state highway bonds, $500,000 of principal of Oregon veterans' state aid bonds and $556,616.25 of interest on such bonds. The principal of and interest on the bonds will be due on April 1.

Fuhrer, Doughton FILE DECLARATION

"Consistent economy in city government; fair and just municipal legislation," is the slogan of Walter Fuhrer, local attorney who yesterday filed announcement of his candidacy for the second ward position on the council to be vacated by Hal D. Patton. His statement was as follows:

"TOY BULLDOG'S" FIGHTING MITE

Though only a few days old this toy, according to his dad, is already on his way to great honors in the fictitious world. Mickey Walker, known to fisticiana as the "Toy Bulldog," is the proud father. Mickey and his wife are shown fondly contemplating the new championship contender. Baby Walker is named James J. after New York's popular mayor. The ring has had a J. J. Corbett, a J. J. Jeffries, a J. J. Tunney; so why not a J. J. Walker?

Successor to Spears May Be Selected Tonight; He Has Big Banquet Coming

EUGENE, Ore., March 31 (AP)—No progress was apparent today in the business of selecting a successor to Dr. Clarence W. Spears who has resigned as University of Oregon football coach to accept a similar position at the University of Wisconsin.

Although almost every prominent coach in the country has been mentioned in campus and downtown gossip as a possible successor, no authoritative information was made public. It seemed the general opinion on the campus, however, that either William J. Reinhart or Prince G. Callison, at present members of the coaching staff, would be advanced to the post vacated by Dr. Spears.

D'ARCY LOSES OUT IN CONTRACT CASE

Judge P. H. D'Arcy will not be able to break a 10-year lease executed with Simon Director on the former's North Liberty street store building, Judge George D. Bagley of Hillsboro determined in a written opinion filed yesterday with the county clerk here.

POLICE SCHOOL HAS WIDE RECOGNITION

The police school conducted at Willamette university in 1930 and 1931 gained wide recognition, not only in the United States, but also in foreign countries, Dean Roy R. Hewitt of the law school told members of the Lions club yesterday. When the dean was in Japan last summer, the Japanese police were highly interested in learning from him details of the school's program.

CAN TONY STOP THE FARGO EXPRESS?

Billy Petrolle's knockout of Tony Cannoneri in New York brings the "Fargo Express" in line for a title match with Lightweight Champion Tony Cannoneri and the boys will probably meet early this summer. The battle between Petrolle and Battalino will be remembered for many a day, being as desperately sensational and bloody a fight as has ever been seen at Madison Square Garden. Old-timers recalled the Wolcott-Nelson classic of the good old days. And it is not at all unlikely that Billy will enter the ring a favorite over the title-holder. He won a ten-round decision over Tony in Chicago in 1930 before Cannoneri became lightweight king. Petrolle, retired a few years back as "washed up," has fought his way back to within a step of the throne, and the fans who saw him in K. O. Battalino are willing to concede him the seat. In Cannoneri, Billy will meet a foeman worthy of his steel.

HIGH GRIDDERS SHOW PROMISE

Businesslike Attack Marks Work of Veterans in First Scrimmage

A steam roller-line and a businesslike backfield showed up in the first spring football scrimmage held on Clinger field Thursday afternoon as Coach Hollis Huntington put his men through several plays with a defensive team parked in their pathway.

From tackle to tackle the team is heavier and shows promise of being stronger than last year. However Jim Reed and "Hank" Cross will be missed at the flank positions.

STEELE CASE NOW BEFORE M'MAHAN

If an officer must arrest a man before he knows for certainty the man is guilty of misdemeanor, can evidence found after the arrest be used as the cause for taking the man a prisoner?

This question is now before Judge L. H. McMahan in the case of the State vs. C. M. Steele who was arrested March 23 near the Southern Pacific station for carrying a concealed weapon. The state claims the arrest proper and its contention was upheld in justice court.

CAUSES OF CRIME LISTED BY HEWITT

Four causes of crime were listed by Dean Roy R. Hewitt, of Willamette college of law, in addressing the Lions club yesterday noon on the subject, "What shall we do about Law Enforcement?" He held that crimes, particularly homicides, have been far more numerous in American than in English cities.

PERSONALITY IS STRESSED, TALK BY B. E. SISSON

"Personalities are the biggest thing we bump up against," said B. E. Sisson, manager of the Miller Mercantile company's store here, in addressing the Fraternal club at The Spa last night. "What people like in meeting clerks and professional men is that they just be human."

"We have just as much right in our places of business to be enthusiastic about our goods and services as we have in our homes about our possessions," Mr. Sisson continued. "The thing we ought to do as business men is to give a little bit more than is expected of us."
